CHAIR FACTORY FOR KINGSTON

The prosperity wave is coming Kingston-ward. It is learned that tentative plans are being made for the establishing of a chair factory in this city in a short time. The promoters of the concern are now in town making plans for the location of the factory, in which will be employed at least 25 men. Most of these will be skilled workmen who will bring their families and make their homes in the city.

The company has been in operation for a number of years in another part of the state and the reason for the removal to Kingston is that there has been a change of ownership. The present owners have been attracted to this city by the excellent shipping facilities which it offers.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Friday evening the girls' basketball team held a dance in the school gymnasium for the purpose of augmenting their funds, and although they charged only 15 cents the dance was an all around success. Many of the students and almost an equal number of other young people enjoyed the cheerful strains of music played by Mr. Miller. Several of the teachers were kind enough to chaperone the sixty odd young people, and the only regret of the evening was that the music stopped, in accordance with law at the respectable hour of 11.

In less than two weeks the high school will know whether or not it can lay claims to supremacy in debating as well as athletics. As on the eighteenth of this month a team made up of George Greene, William Winston, and Sherman Hasbrouck with Charles Sibley as alternate, and Alfred Schmid as manager will wend their way to the Bridge City to argue the question of trusts with a trio from there. Last year, Kingston ably defeated this same school in this city. It is said that Poughkeepsie has a strong team this year, and the Kingston boys have been working steadily for over two months that they may bring back another victory. To further enable these fellows to win, the other members of the squad have given up considerable time in preparing a trial debate so that the home boys may get an idea of what they are likely to encounter on the 18th. The debating club is this year widening its field of activity in that it is trying to get a debate with either Albany or Schenectady. Negotiations have not yet been completed for this debate, and when they are a team will be chosen from the debating squad to undertake this, the hardest encounter of the season.

It is only a few days to one of the greatest social gatherings in the school year, for on the eleventh the Seniors will give their ball. When with an augmented orchestra, and amid unusual decorations the assembled hosts will make merry until an early hour in the morning of Lincoln's birthday. Although it is generally agreed among the fellows to do away with the full dress, this will no doubt be the most formal and brilliant gathering yet held in the high school gym.

Many of the students stayed in school this afternoon to enjoy the public rehearsal of the symphony concert.

MOVIES OPEN AT Y. M. C. A.

Six Reels Shown Before City Federation Saturday Evening.

Motion pictures at the Y. M. C. A. had their premiere Saturday evening in the auditorium for the benefit of the members and guests of the Federated Women's Clubs of the city following their chicken pie supper. The apparatus, although newly installed, worked without a hitch and two splendid reels, Carmen and Enoch Arden, were very much appreciated.

Some of the bachelor members of the Y. M. C. A. learned of the benefits of the organization in an educational film. A couple of comics filled in the program to six reels.

This afternoon and evening Henrietta Crossman in "The Supreme Test," is the feature. The evening performances are at 7:15 and 9 o'clock.

Because of the union evangelistic services, the program for Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings will not begin until 9 o'clock.

New Case of Scarlet Fever.

The scarlet fever and diphtheria epidemic in this city is increasing instead of decreasing and new cases are being reported at the rate of at least one daily. Every effort to prevent the spread of the diseases is being made by Health Officer Frank A. Johnston and the co-operation of all residents is urged to assist in preventing the spread of the epidemic. Two new cases of scarlet fever reported are Norma Niles of No. 20 Smith avenue, and Henry Uhl of No. 177 Hunter street. The report that John Kemble of No. 45 Lafayette avenue had scarlet fever was an error made in filling out the report slip by the attending physician. The boy has diphtheria. His brother, William, is also ill with diphtheria.

MANY TURNED AWAY FROM BIG REVIVAL

(Official Report.)

The attendance at the union revival service held in the St. James M. E. Church Sunday evening, reached the twenty-five hundred mark, making it necessary for not only many to stand, but to turn people away. In spite of the rain, the huge auditorium was filled at 7 o'clock. This shows that all appreciate the great benefit derived from "the awakened sense of responsibility and need of leading Christian lives."

Dr. Leeper presided, naming Mr. Seeley to read the Scripture lesson found in the tenth chapter of the Book of Mark, starting with the seventeenth verse. During the service many uplifting hymns were sung, and with W. W. Fredenburgh as pianist, and Mr. Tullar commanding attention of all, the true artistic beauty of all the songs were brought out.

The Rev. George M. Cranston preached the sermon of the evening, using a text found in the Book of St. John, 60th to the 69th verses inclusive. The speaker placed before his hearers the advisability of adapting our notions with the ways of God. Said Mr. Cranston: "There are times in our life of tremendous disappointment, and they always seem to come when every fibre tingles with expectancy. I know some of you have come to this service and have been disappointed; the workers perhaps have been disappointed. You came here with a prenotion of how you were going to get Christianity into your souls. I do not wonder that you have not got the message, if that is the notion with which you came. The reason that a good many of you are not Christians is that you cannot make Jesus Christ conform to your notion of this world. You want Him to run in together with your world. Change your views, and say with St. Peter tonight, 'Thou alone hast the words of eternity.'"

Taking up the thought expressed by the sermon, Mr. Tullar said: "There are just two words which I would like you to repeat with me. 'Jesus only.' Change them around, 'only Jesus.' What would happen in Kingston if these two words should become master of our hearts and minds? Clouds over our heads and storms could not make any effect on our lives, if we could remember 'Jesus only.' What would your morrow be, if it started with 'Jesus only?' How could you live in Kingston without Jesus? If you do not want to live with Him, if you do not want to go to business with Him, how would you like to spend eternity with Him?"

Notices.

There will be no service this evening, but the services will again open on Tuesday evening and continue up until Friday evening, passing over Saturday and opening again on Sunday evening.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and lasting until 4 o'clock, there will be held in the Fair Street Reformed Church meetings for everybody, at which Mr. Tullar will take up the study of the Bible. Bring with you a Bible, a note book and a neighbor.

Friday afternoon we have another women's prayer meeting to be held in the First Reformed Church at 4 o'clock. All are invited.

Tullar Speaks to the Men.

Fifteen hundred men assembled in the Kingston Opera House Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear Mr. Tullar speak on "Soul Poison." With Mr. Tullar leading the singing, and W. W. Fredenburgh at the piano, the immense congregation of men opened their hearts to song. There was one delegation present, the Knights of the Cross, of which Mr. McLane acted as speaker. After the Scripture lesson from Ezekiel eighteenth chapter, read by the Rev. Mr. Cole, came the important feature of the meeting, the part the men of Kingston had been waiting all week for. The fifteen hundred men present heard Mr. Tullar's characteristic eloquence, full of force and energy, and felt his stimulating influence to do the right. The speaker's text was found in Ezekiel eighteenth chapter, twentieth verse, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "Sin," said Mr. Tullar, "is the soul poison, and we may be kept from it if we use 'horse sense,' that is 'stable thinking.' Habit is the persistent repetition of acts, physical, mental and moral. No matter how much thought and ability a young man may have, failure is sure to follow bad habits. While correct habits depend largely upon self-discipline, and often on self-denial, bad habits, like pernicious weeds, spring up unaided and untrained to choke out the plants of virtue. It is a growth so rapid that its evil effects may not be perceptible until the roots have sapped every desirable plant about it. No sane youth ever started out with the resolve to be a thief, a tramp, or a drunkard. Yet it is the slightest deviation from honesty that makes the first. It is the first neglect of a duty that makes the second. And it is the first intoxicating glass that makes the third. All these are soul poisons, and may be avoided if you apply 'safety first.'"

Women and Girls at St. James's.

Sunday afternoon over seven hundred women and girls attended a very helpful service at the St. James M. E. Church. The Rev. A. K. Fuller, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Seeley of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and after a solo, "God Take My All," rendered with that exquisite finish by Miss Paulding, Dr. Fuller spoke, taking as his text the twenty-fourth chapter of Genesis, the forty-ninth verse, "And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me; and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand or to the left." "These words," said Dr. Fuller, "occurred in an old love story. The greatest love story ever written is this book of God, and the author of it is God, Himself. And as Christians we are to make this love story tell upon the heart. We cannot deal kindly and truly with Jesus Christ unless we believe His testimony, which he has given concerning Himself. He says that he is possessed of all power, that He, Himself, has come, the Saviour of the world to do God's will. That he has come to draw us away from evil—to redeem us soul and spirit. What does it mean to accept the offer that Jesus gives? It means to become His bride. That you shall be absolutely His."

Young People's Meeting.

At four o'clock in the afternoon four hundred young people welcomed Dr. Leeper, pastor of the church in which the meeting was held, and Dr. Baragwanath of the St. James M. E. Church. Those presest represented the Young People's Christian Endeavor Societies of Kingston and near vicinity. Albert Deyo had charge of the meeting, during which Miss Molyneaux sang "Coming Home," and at the request of the director of the meeting, the several spokesmen of the delegations present arose and gave very helpful talks concerning the work their society is doing. Dr. Baragwanath addressed those present, telling of the endeavor meeting as the place where the young folks hear and learn to interpret God's message in their own way. And then spreading it abroad. How some like the easy way of personal effort, some the harder way, which means "cross bearing." But in cross bearing there may be found a joy, and besides we have a chance to make the world better through its own people.

The speaker talked for thirty minutes, and the fact that his words proved encouraging was shown by the appreciative audience.

GROUP OF WORKERS IN UNION EVANGELICAL REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Clergymen, Committee Chairmen, Committeemen and prominent workers who have united to make a success of the evangelical campaign now in progress in St. James's M. E. Church.

The pastors are: Rev. F. B. Seeley, Fair Street Reformed; Rev. George M. Cranston, Clinton Avenue M. E.; Rev. A. S. Cole, Albany Avenue Baptist; Rev. T. H. Baragwanath, St. James M. E. (Rev. Dr. Leeper was out of town at the time picture was taken.)

Committee chairmen: W. S. Eltinge, proxy for E. G. Adams, prayer meetings; Herbert Carl, finance; Rev. Seeley, general arrangements; W. W. Fredenburgh, music; Dr. E. K. Lee, publicity; Crawford Styles, ushers; S. D. Gibson, workers; Tullar and Meredith, musical leaders.

TAKE CARE OF PETS.

If Kept Off the Streets They Will Be Safe.

Kingston, Feb. 5, 1916.

Mr. Editor,
Dear Sir:—

Your paragraph in this evening's issue regarding "Careless Motorman," is, I think, unjust.

I do not know of any motorman on the Colonial car line who delights in running his car over a dog or any other animal.

If owners of dogs, and those who think so much of their "pets" would only keep them where they ought to be, then there would be fewer of these hysterical outbursts.

Frequently passengers are jostled and jolted together on the cars through the motorman suddenly applying the "brakes" so as to save some wandering "cur," and not to mention those dogs which delight to chase any kind of vehicle.

I remain,
Yours truly,
A DOG-LOVER.

Monotony of life in Monroe led Mrs. Harold Rogers to leave her husband and with a girl friend, Alice Van Den Hoff, try the gayer life in Paterson, N. J., last Tuesday. The husband located both young women in that city and the police arrested a waiter, Mind Canty, as one of the two men against whom serious charges may be preferred. Both girls in the case are 16 years of age.

Escaped a Jail Sentence.

Hugh Freehill, the Montgomery hotel keeper convicted of Sunday selling, was let off with a fine of $150 Saturday by County Judge A. H. F. Seeger in Newburgh.

BASKETBALL GAMES IN Y.M.C.A. LEAGUES

Three fast games of basketball were played at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. St. John's Church defeated the Rondout Presbyterian Church by a score of 21 to 17. The uptown players were Relyea, Kelly, Harris, Hagenlocker, Carpenter and Burgmann, while the Presbyterians were LeFever, Stevens, Rowland, Miller and Lezatte. The Clinton Avenue M. E. Church players defeated the Holy Grail by a score of 32 to 13. The Methodists were Van Aken, Smith, Craig, Brown and Davis while the Grail players were Shultis, Gregory, Rowland, Voight and Fredericks. In the third game the Employed Boys defeated Student B by a score of 34 to 18. The employed boys were McArdle, McCann, Carpenter, McHugh, Rhymer, Bilyou, while Student B were Huestis, Fowler, Diamond, Schoonmaker and Vignes.

The last games in the Student B league were played on Saturday and resuted as follows:

Lemons, 7; Cherries, 17.
Apples, 37; Pears, 25.
Peaches, 21; Lemons, 4.

The standing in the league follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cherries	15	5	.750
Peaches	15	5	.750
Apples	10	10	.500
Pears	8	12	.400
Oranges	7	13	.350
Lemons	6	14	.300

It will be seen by this table that the Cherries and Peaches tied for first place and a series of three games has been arranged to be played off for the championship. The first game will be played on Tuesday afternoon.

The result of Student C games follows:

Colonials, 30; Young Americans, 5.
Crescents, 6; Elks, 7.
Young Americans, 5; Eagles, 23.

PLANS FOR HOBBY SHOW.

Several Boys Have Already Entered Exhibits for Novel Event.

Considerable interest is being aroused over the big Boys' Hobby Show and minstrel performance to be given at the Y. M. C. A. on February 22 and 23, and a number of entries for the hobby show have already been received. Any boy in the city whether a member of the association or not can enter his hobby and every boy is urged to get busy and enter before it is too late.

The hobby show will be given in the gymnasium and one of the features will be the Indian reservation in charge of Red Fox James, a full blooded Indian. The minstrel show will be given in the auditorium.

Those who have entered in the hobby show are Robert Adams, Atlee Ritch, Jerry Yale, Harold Griffin, W. J. Haerfels, Monroe Kniskern, Clarence Schoonmaker, Frank McConnell, Francis Boss, Douglas Brown, Harry Connelly, Irving Barth, Edward Cockran and George Meeker.

Catskill to Play Holy Cross.

What seems to be the talk of the town is the game of basketball to be played Wednesday night, between Holy Cross team and the Arrow Five independent team of Catskill, amateur champions of Greene county. With the fast rate the local team is now traveling, the upriver boys will have to step some to win. Nine straight victories have been taken by the Holy Cross and they are endeavoring to take it the tenth. The Catskill five are also considered a fast team having many victories to their credit. Dancing will follow the game as usual with good music.

ELLENVILLE FOLKS HONOR CUNNINGHAM

Dinner at the Wayside Inn on Saturday Evening in Honor of New Judge of the Court of Claims.

A tribute to Judge William D. Cunningham of Ellenville and in celebration of his recent appointment as judge of the court of claims took the form of a complimentary dinner in his honor at Wayside Inn, Ellenville, Saturday night, the dinner being given by more than one hundred of the business and professional men of Ellenville.

To the eloquent eulogy given him by Toastmaster John R. DeVany, Judge Cunningham replied with deep feeling ,and for whatever success in life he had attained he gave the credit to the loyalty of his townsmen who had answered all objections with the statement—"He's from home."

One hundred and twenty men, including guests, sat at the banquet board. Preceding the banquet a reception in Judge Cunningham's honor was held in the large reception hall of the Inn, where a roaring log fire in the huge fireplace portended the cheer and warmth which were to follow in the banquet hall when the speakers of the evening loosed the cheer and warmth of their emotions toward the guest of honor, and bespoke the wealth of good feeling and fellowship which prevailed with everyone.

The dinner was served at nine o'clock and the cooking and service were such as they should be for a banquet. Bottles of sparkling Sun Ray, also a product of Ellenville, appropriately occupied a place of honor at the banquet table. The speaking began at 11:30 o'clock and chairs were provided for a number of ladies of Ellenville whose presence at the earlier part of the banquet was necessarily omitted by its stag character.

John R. DeVany, the well known lawyer, acted as toastmaster, and in a forceful and eloquent manner paid tribute to Judge Cunningham and his achievements. Step by step he traced Judge Cunningham's activities from the day of his birth in that village; speaking of his school days, his struggle for further education and his self-sacrifice in securing it at Cornell University; his early days as a teacher in the Rondout Valley—a vocation followed by many of America's successful men in their youth; his early experience in New York after admission to the bar; his return to Ellenville and his successes since.

Mr. DeVany laid particular stress on Judge Cunningham's career in the assembly, where the fairness which has characterized his later life became marked, and his natural brilliancy scintillated to the delight and admiration not only of his townsmen but of strangers. His career as district attorney followed, with its multitude of perplexing problems, and without exception the district attorney's office has been impartial, fair and fearless in every case presented to it. A marked characteristic during Judge Cunningham's entire term had been the fairness and conscientious effort devoted to every case, and to the judge's credit he would herald far and wide the fact that when Judge Cunningham had been convinced of the innocence of a defendant, his action had been in accordance with that belief, and when sincerely convinced of the guilt of anyone, prosecution had followed regardless of personal consequences, and not once had he ever been swayed by prejudice or outside influence, no matter how powerful it might be.

Toastmaster DeVany also spoke of the result of such a course of action, which had been Judge Cunningham's selection as his party's candidate for comptroller, when his vote had far exceeded that of any other candidate on the state ticket, and his recognition afterward which has resulted in his being named by the state convention as candidate for secretary of state. Now, had come further honor, in his selection by the governor of the state as a member of the tribunal before which every citizen having a claim against the state might present that claim, with full assurance that if his cause was just he would be justly compensated, and a tribunal besides in which the people of the state might rest with the knowledge that their interests were also amply protected.

To accomplish these things there had been an incentive which must have been most powerful, and everyone who knew Judge Cunningham was aware what that incentive was. The incentive was the mother, whose tender love toward her son always had been manifested and fully reciprocated, and the wife, whose affection could be equalled only by that of the mother. With them the entire population of Ellenville and the town of Wawarsing rejoiced in the pride which must justly be theirs, and as an evidence of their appreciation of what he had accomplished, and in honor of his well deserved appointment as judge of the court of claims, the citizens of the community in which he had spent his life, irrespective of creed or political affiliation, tendered him this banquet.

As an orator, Mr. DeVany stands foremost among the speakers of the county, and his address, delivered with great impressiveness, was applauded to the echo.

Judge Cunningham's Response.

Judge Cunningham was visibly affected by the enthusiastic outbursts with which the toastmaster's address had been received, and gave evidence of deep feeling in his response.

Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen, Friends:

One of the cruelest limitations which nature has imposed upon us is the disparity between human emotions and our capacity to express them. The human heart is boundless in its sorrows, its hopes, its fears and its joys, but the limitations of the spoken word are such as to leave us at times helpless and baffled in our expressions of them. Even the tongue of a Webster or a Phillips has failed at times to voice the stirring sentiments of patriotism to which American hearts have been fired. The pen of a Dickens has failed to describe adequately the depths of the sorrows of men and no poet has lived who could adequately convey by words the love of mother for child. And so, my friends, I stand here tonight, afflicted as others have been; utterly unable to voice the sentiment of pride and gratitude which well up from the depths of my heart as I gaze upon this presence and in the faces of you who have been so good to me. The recollection of this night and of the charitable good fellowship which has inspired it will live with me to the end. I trust that your imagination may permit you to gain some conception of my appreciation.

I am frank to say to you that when I first learned of the plan for this gathering, conscious of my unworthiness for any such attention, I was obsessed by doubt and tortured by fear. It seemed to me that you might have had in mind the Germanic proverb: "A good lawyer is an evil neighbor," and that much of the irresistible spontaneity which was evident was but an outburst of exuberant joy and hope in the thought that if my appointment to the court of claims had no other effect, it would mean at least one less lawyer in town.

Understand me, I have no sympathy with such a base and harsh conception of our self sacrificing and wholly altruistic profession. I am conscious, in fact I admit that lawyers are the most wronged of the human family. It has been their lot in all times and among all races to have their pure motives and their noble purposes misunderstood and misjudged, with the result that in the literature of the nations and of all peoples have grown up expressions most uncomplimentary to us. The ancient English bard wrote: "The lawyer with a face demure hangs him who steals your pelf," because the good man endures no robber, but himself. We find the Danes attributing to the Devil as he seated himself between two lawyers, the remark: "Virtue is now in the middle." And the French say: "Until Hell is full no lawyer will be saved." This last proverb accounts for the presence here tonight of the reverend gentlemen who are with us. Assured of a goodly attendance of lawyers they are here, inspired either by the knowledge that the Inferno has reached the limit of population or because they have the courage to contest the truth of the French proverb. Something of the same state of mind is evident in our own community and a recent incident which happened here and which came to my attention had not a little to do with my determination that it was safer to change occupations for a while. A fellow who had recently been arrested and was under indictment, a few weeks ago drifted into Ellenville from back in the country in search of a lawyer and as he walked up from the railway station he met a resident of this town and spoke to him and said to him: "Look here friend, are you well acquainted in this town?," to which the Ellenville resident replied "Sure," and the arrested one inquired, "Well, say, I am in trouble, have you got any criminal lawyers here," and the local citizen thought for a few minutes and finally said: "We are prety sure we have, but we haven't been able to prove it on them yet."

It is with a great deal of regret that I laid down my work as district attorney. For eight years the experience was most attractive and interesting. The cases almost invariably teemed with human interest, motives and sorrows and humors: I have in my mind one which District Attorney Traver and myself tried about a year ago. The jury were out all night and when they came into court the following morning the clerk of the court in his usual manner said to the jury, "How say you gentlemen of the jury, do you find the prisoner guilty or not guilty?" The foreman of the jury said to the judge, "Your honor, we do." The judge replied, "You do what?" The foreman said, "We find him guilty or not guilty." The judge replied, "How on earth did you do that. You can't render such a verdict as that. What do you mean by it," and the foreman answered: "Well six of us found him guilty and the other six found him not guilty so we thought we would let it go at that."

The court of claims to which I have had the honor of being named, has had a stormy career. It has been created and destroyed, and recreated. Yet it is one of the most important courts of the state and its jurisdiction and business has now become tremendous. It is the only court in the state where the citizens may sue the state and actions now awaiting trial aggregate many millions of dollars. I regard it as a great distinction to see here tonight one of the oldest members of that court, Judge Beebe, who served eighteen years on its bench and is today held by many in fondest recollections and esteem. I look forward to the experience in its work with keenest pleasure. Already I have had some amusing experiences. I had before me as a witness two weeks ago a colored man. When I asked him his name he said "Hallowed Hopkins." I said "what's that?" and he replied "Hallowed Hopkins." I said "Where on earth di you get that name, Hallowed?"

Because of the union evangelistic services, the program for Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings will not begin until 9 o'clock.

New Case of Scarlet Fever.

The scarlet fever and diphtheria epidemic in this city is increasing instead of decreasing and new cases are being reported at the rate of at least one daily. Every effort to prevent the spread of the diseases is being made by Health Officer Frank A. Johnston and the co-operation of all residents is urged to assist in preventing the spread of the epidemic. Two new cases of scarlet fever reported are Norma Niles of No. 29 Smith avenue, and Henry Uhl of No. 177 Hunter street. The report that John Kemble of No. 45 Lafayette avenue had scarlet fever was an error made in filling out the report slip by the attending physician. The boy has diphtheria. His brother, William, is also ill with diphtheria.

MANY TURNED AWAY FROM BIG REVIVAL

(Official Report.)

The attendance at the union revival service held in the St. James M. E. Church Sunday evening, reached the twenty-five hundred mark, making it necessary for not only many to stand, but to turn people away. In spite of the rain, the huge auditorium was filled at 7 o'clock. This shows that all appreciate the great benefit derived from "the awakened sense of responsibility and need of leading Christian lives."

Dr. Leeper presided, naming Mr. Seeley to read the Scripture lesson found in the tenth chapter of the Book of Mark, starting with the seventeenth verse. During the service many uplifting hymns were sung, and with W. W. Fredenburgh as pianist, and Mr. Tullar commanding attention of all, the true artistic beauty of all the songs were brought out.

The Rev. George M. Cranston preached the sermon of the evening, using a text found in the Book of St. John, 60th to the 69th verses inclusive. The speaker placed before his hearers the advisability of adapting our notions with the ways of God. Said Mr. Cranston: "There are times in our life of tremendous disappointment, and they always seem to come when every fibre tingles with expectancy. I know some of you have come to this service and have been disappointed; the workers perhaps have been disappointed. You came here with a prenotion of how you were going to get Christianity into your souls. I do not wonder that you have not got the message, if that is the notion with which you came. The reason that a good many of you are not Christians is that you cannot make Jesus Christ conform to your notion of this world. You want Him to run in together with your world. Change your views, and say with St. Peter tonight, 'Thou alone hast the words of eternity.'"

Taking up the thought expressed by the sermon, Mr. Tullar said: "There are just two words which I would like you to repeat with me. 'Jesus only.' Change them around, Kingston if these two words should become master of our hearts and minds? Clouds over our heads and storms could not make any effect on our lives, if we could remember 'Jesus only.' What would your morrow be, if it started with 'Jesus only?' How could you live in Kingston without Jesus? If you do not want to live with Him, if you do not want to go to business with Him, how would you like to spend eternity with Him?"

Notices.

There will be no service this evening, but the services will again open on Tuesday evening and continue up until Friday evening, passing over Saturday and opening again on Sunday evening.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and lasting until 4 o'clock, there will be held in the Fair Street Reformed Church meetings for everybody, at which Mr. Tullar will take up the study of the Bible. Bring with you a Bible, a note book and a neighbor.

Friday afternoon we have another women's prayer meeting to be held in the First Reformed Church at 4 o'clock. All are invited.

Tullar Speaks to the Men.

Fifteen hundred men assembled in the Kingston Opera House Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear Mr. Tullar speak on "Soul Poison." With Mr. Tullar leading the singing, and W. W. Fredenburgh at the piano, the immense congregation of men opened their hearts to song. There was one delegation present, the Knights of the Cross, of which Mr. McLane acted as speaker. After the Scripture lesson from Ezekiel eighteenth chapter, read by the Rev. Mr. Cole, came the important feature of the meeting, the part the men of Kingston had been waiting all week for. The fifteen hundred men present heard Mr. Tullar's characteristic eloquence, full of force and energy, and felt his stimulating influence to do the right. The speaker's text was found in Ezekiel eighteenth chapter, twentieth verse. "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "Sin," said Mr. Tullar, "is the soul poison, and we may be kept from it if we use 'horse sense,' that is 'stable thinking.' Habit is the persistent repetition of acts, physical, mental and moral. No matter how much thought and ability a young man may have, failure is sure to follow bad habits. While correct habits depend largely upon self-discipline, and often on self-denial, bad habits, like pernicious weeds, spring up unaided and untrained to choke out the plants of virtue." It is a growth so rapid that its evil effects may not be perceptible until the roots have sapped every desirable plant about it. No sane youth ever started out with the resolve to be a thief, a tramp, or a drunkard. Yet it is the slightest deviation from honesty that makes the first. It is the first neglect of a duty that makes the second. And it is the first intoxicating glass that makes the third. All these are soul poisons, and may be avoided if you apply 'safety first.'"

Women and Girls at St. James's.

Sunday afternoon over seven hundred women and girls attended a very helpful service at the St. James M. E. Church. The Rev. A. K. Fuller, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Seeley of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and after a solo, "God Take My All," rendered with that exquisite finish by Miss Paulding, Dr. Fuller spoke, taking as his text the twenty-fourth chapter of Genesis, the forty-ninth verse, "And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me; and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand or to the left." "These words," said Dr. Fuller, "occurred in an old love story. The greatest love story ever written is this book of God, and the author of it is God, Himself. And as Christians we are to make this love story tell upon the heart. We cannot deal kindly and truly with Jesus Christ unless we believe His testimony, which he has given concerning Himself. He says that he is possessed of all power, that He, Himself, has come, the Saviour of the world to do God's will. That he has come to draw us away from evil—to redeem us soul and spirit. What does it mean to accept the offer that Jesus gives? It means to become His bride. That you shall be absolutely His."

Young People's Meeting.

At four o'clock in the afternoon four hundred young people welcomed Dr. Leeper, pastor of the church in which the meeting was held, and Dr. Baragwanath of the St. James M. E. Church. Those present represented the Young People's Christian Endeavor Societies of Kingston and near vicinity. Albert Deyo had charge of the meeting, during which Miss Molyneaux sang "Coming Home," and at the request of the director of the meeting, the several spokesmen of the delegations present arose and gave very helpful talks concerning the work their society is doing. Dr. Baragwanath addressed those present, telling of the endeavor meeting as the place where the young folks hear and learn to interpret God's message in their own way. And then spreading it abroad. How some like the easy way of personal effort, some the harder way, which means "cross bearing." But in cross bearing there may be found a joy, and besides we have a chance to make the world better through its own people.

The speaker talked for thirty minutes, and the fact that his words proved encouraging was shown by the appreciative audience.

TAKE CARE OF PETS.

If Kept Off the Streets They Will Be Safe.

Kingston, Feb. 5, 1916.

Mr. Editor,

Dear Sir:—

Your paragraph in this evening's issue regarding "Careless Motorman," is, I think, unjust.

I do not know of any motorman on the Colonial car line who delights in running his car over a dog or any other animal.

If owners of dogs, and those who think so much of their "pets" would only keep them where they ought to be, then there would be fewer of these hysterical outbursts.

Frequently passengers are jostled and jolted together on the cars through the motorman suddenly applying the "brakes" so as to save some wandering "cur," and not to mention those dogs which delight to chase any kind of vehicle.

I remain,

Yours truly,

A DOG-LOVER.

Monotony of life in Monroe led Mrs. Harold Rogers to leave her husband and with a girl friend, Alice Van Den Hoff, try the gayer life in Paterson, N. J., last Tuesday. The husband located both young women in that city and the police arrested a waiter, Mind Canty, as one of the two men against whom serious charges may be preferred. Both girls in the case are 18 years of age.

Escaped a Jail Sentence.

Hugh Freehill, the Montgomery hotel keeper convicted of Sunday selling, was let off with a fine of $150 Saturday by County Judge A. H. F. Seeger in Newburgh.

Committee chairmen: W. S. Ellinge, proxy for E. G. Adams, prayer meetings; Herbert Carl, finance; Rev. Seeley, general arrangements; W. W. Fredenburgh, music; Dr. E. K. Lee, publicity; Crawford Styles, ushers; S. D. Gibson, workers; Tullar and Meredith, musical leaders.

BASKETBALL GAMES IN Y.M.C.A. LEAGUES

Three fast games of basketball were played at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. St. John's Church defeated the Rondout Presbyterian Church by a score of 21 to 17. The uptown players were Relyea, Kelly, Harris, Hagenlocker, Carpenter and Burgmann, while the Presbyterians were LeFever, Stevens, Rowland, Miller and Lezatte. The Clinton Avenue M. E. Church players defeated the Holy Grail by a score of 32 to 13. The Methodists were Van Aken, Smith, Craig, Brown and Davis while the Grail players were Shultis, Gregory, Rowland, Voight and Fredericks. In the third game the Employed Boys defeated Student B by a score of 34 to 18. The employed boys were McArdle, McCann, Carpenter, McHugh, Rhymer, Eilyou, while Student B were Huestis, Fowler, Diamond, Schoonmaker and Vignes.

The last games in the Student B league were played on Saturday and resulted as follows:

Lemons, 7; Cherries, 17.

Apples, 37; Pears, 25.

Peaches, 21; Lemons, 4.

The standing in the league follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cherries	15	5	.750
Peaches	15	5	.750
Apples	10	10	.500
Pears	8	12	.400
Oranges	7	13	.350
Lemons	6	14	.300

It will be seen by this table that the Cherries and Peaches tied for first place and a series of three games has been arranged to be played off for the championship. The first game will be played on Tuesday afternoon.

The result of Student C games follows:

Colonials, 30; Young Americans, 5.

Crescents, 6; Elks, 7.

Young Americans, 5; Eagles, 23.

PLANS FOR HOBBY SHOW.

Several Boys Have Already Entered Exhibits for Novel Event.

Considerable interest is being aroused over the big Boys' Hobby Show and minstrel performance to be given at the Y. M. C. A. on February 22 and 23, and a number of entries for the hobby show have already been received. Any boy in the city whether a member of the association or not can enter his hobby and every boy is urged to get busy and enter before it is too late.

The hobby show will be given in the gymnasium and one of the features will be the Indian reservation in charge of Red Fox James, a full blooded Indian. The minstrel show will be given in the auditorium.

Those who have entered in the hobby show are Robert Adams, Atlee Ritch, Jerry Yale, Harold Griffin, W. J. Haerfels, Monroe Kniskern, Clarence Schoonmaker, Frank McConnell, Francis Boss, Douglas Brown, Harry Connelly, Irving Barth, Edward Cockran and George Meeker.

Catskill to Play Holy Cross.

What seems to be the talk of the town is the game of basketball to be played Wednesday night, between Holy Cross team and the Arrow Five independent team of Catskill, amateur champions of Greene county. With the fast rate the local team is now traveling, the upriver boys will have to step some to win. Nine straight victories have been taken by the Holy Cross and they are endeavoring to take it the tenth. The Catskill five are also considered a fast team having many victories to their credit. Dancing will follow the game as usual with good music.

ELLENVILLE FOLKS HONOR CUNNINGHAM

Dinner at the Wayside Inn on Saturday Evening in Honor of New Judge of the Court of Claims.

A tribute to Judge William D. Cunningham of Ellenville and in celebration of his recent appointment as judge of the court of claims took the form of a complimentary dinner in his honor at Wayside Inn, Ellenville, Saturday night, the dinner being given by more than one hundred of the business and professional men of Ellenville.

To the eloquent eulogy given him by Toastmaster John R. DeVany, Judge Cunningham replied with deep feeling, and for whatever success in life he had attained he gave the credit to the loyalty of his townsmen who had answered all objections with the statement—"He's from home."

One hundred and twenty men, including guests, sat at the banquet board. Preceding the banquet a reception in Judge Cunningham's honor was held in the large reception hall of the Inn, where a roaring log fire in the huge fireplace portended the cheer and warmth which were to follow in the banquet hall when the speakers of the evening loosed the cheer and warmth of their emotions toward the guest of honor, and bespoke the wealth of good feeling and fellowship which prevailed with everyone.

The dinner was served at nine o'clock and the cooking and service were such as they should be for a banquet. Bottles of sparkling Sun Ray, also a product of Ellenville, appropriately occupied a place of honor at the banquet table. The speaking began at 11:30 o'clock and chairs were provided for a number of ladies of Ellenville whose presence at the earlier part of the banquet was necessarily omitted by its stag character.

John R. DeVany, the well known lawyer, acted as toastmaster, and in a forceful and eloquent manner paid tribute to Judge Cunningham and his achievements. Step by step he traced Judge Cunningham's activities from the day of his birth in that village; speaking of his school days, his struggle for further education and his self-sacrifice in securing it at Cornell University; his early days as a teacher in the Rondout Valley—a vocation followed by many of America's successful men in their youth; his early experience in New York after admission to the bar; his return to Ellenville and his successes since.

Mr. DeVany laid particular stress on Judge Cunningham's career in the assembly, where the fairness which has characterized his later life became marked, and his natural brilliancy scintillated to the delight and admiration not only of his townsmen but of strangers. His career as district attorney followed, with its multitude of perplexing problems, and without exception the district attorney's office has been impartial, fair and fearless in every case presented to it. A marked characteristic during Judge Cunningham's entire term had been the fairness and conscientious effort devoted to every case, and to the judge's credit he would herald far and wide the fact that when Judge Cunningham had been convinced of the innocence of a defendant, his action had been in accordance with that belief, and when sincerely convinced of the guilt of anyone, prosecution had followed regardless of personal consequences, and not once had he ever been swayed by prejudice or outside influence, no matter how powerful it might be.

Toastmaster DeVany also spoke of the result of such a course of action, which had been Judge Cunningham's selection as his party's candidate for comptroller, when his vote had far exceeded that of any other candidate on the state ticket, and his recognition afterward which has resulted in his being named by the state convention as candidate for secretary of state. Now, had come further honor, in his selection by the governor of the state as a member of the tribunal before which every citizen having a claim against the state might present that claim, with full assurance that if his cause was just he would be justly compensated, and a tribunal besides in which the people of the state might rest with the knowledge that their interests were also amply protected.

To accomplish these things there had been an incentive which must have been most powerful, and everyone who knew Judge Cunningham was aware what that incentive was. The incentive was the mother, whose tender love toward her son always had been manifested and fully reciprocated, and the wife, whose affection could be equalled only by that of the mother. With them the entire population of Ellenville and the town of Wawarsing rejoiced in the pride which must justly be theirs, and as an evidence of their appreciation of what he had accomplished, and in honor of his well deserved appointment as judge of the court of claims, the citizens of the community in which he had spent his life, irrespective of creed or political affiliation, tendered him this banquet.

As an orator, Mr. DeVany stands foremost among the speakers of the county, and his address, delivered with great impressiveness, was applauded to the echo.

Judge Cunningham's Response.

Judge Cunningham was visibly affected by the enthusiastic outbursts with which the toastmaster's address had been received, and gave evidence of deep feeling in his response.

Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen, Friends:

One of the cruelest limitations which nature has imposed upon us is the disparity between human emotions and our capacity to express them. The human heart is boundless in its sorrows, its hopes, its fears and its joys, but the limitations of the spoken word are such as to leave us at times helpless and baffled in our expressions of them. Even the tongue of a Webster or a Phillips has failed at times to voice the stirring sentiments of patriotism to which American hearts have been fired. The pen of a Dickens has failed to describe adequately the depths of the sorrows of men and no poet has lived who could adequately convey by words the love of mother for child. And so, my friends, I stand here tonight, afflicted as others have been; utterly unable to voice the sentiment of pride and gratitude which well up from the depths of my heart as I gaze upon this presence and in the faces of you who have been so good to me. The recollection of this night and of the charitable good fellowship which has inspired it will live with me to the end. I trust that your imagination may permit you to gain some conception of my appreciation.

I am frank to say to you that when I first learned of the plan for this gathering, conscious of my unworthiness for any such attention, I was obsessed by doubt and tortured by fear. It seemed to me that you might have had in mind the Germanic proverb: "A good lawyer is an evil neighbor," and that much of the irresistible spontaneity which was evident was but an outburst of exuberant joy and hope in the thought that if my appointment to the court of claims had no other effect, it would mean at least one less lawyer in town.

Understand me, I have no sympathy with such a base and harsh conception of our self sacrificing and wholly altruistic profession. I am conscious, in fact I admit that lawyers are the most wronged of the human family. It has been their lot in all times and among all races to have their pure motives and their noble purposes misunderstood and misjudged, with the result that in the literature of the nations and of all peoples have grown up expressions most uncomplimentary to us. The ancient English bard wrote: "The lawyer with a face demure hangs him who steals your pelf," because the good man endures no robber, but himself. We find the Danes attributing to the Devil as he seated himself between two lawyers, the remark: "Virtue is now in the middle." And the French say: "Until Hell is full no lawyer will be saved." This last proverb accounts for the presence here tonight of the reverend gentlemen who are with us. Assured of a goodly attendance of lawyers they are here, inspired either by the knowledge that the Inferno has reached the limit of population or because they have the courage to contest the truth of the French proverb. Something of the same state of mind is evident in our own community and a recent incident which happened here and which came to my attention had not a little to do with my determination that it was safer to change occupations for a while. A fellow who had recently been arrested and was under indictment, a few weeks ago drifted into Ellenville from back in the country in search of a lawyer and as he walked up from the railway station he met a resident of this town and spoke to him and said to him: "Look here friend, are you well acquainted in this town?," to which the Ellenville resident replied "Sure," and the arrested one inquired, "Well, say, I am in trouble, have you got any criminal lawyers here," and the local citizen thought for a few minutes and finally said: "We are prety sure we have, but we haven't been able to prove it on them yet."

It is with a great deal of regret that I laid down my work as district attorney. For eight years the experience was most attractive and interesting. The cases almost invariably teemed with human interest, motives and sorrows and humors: I have in my mind one which District Attorney Traver and myself tried about a year ago. The jury were out all night and when they came into court the following morning the clerk of the court in his usual manner said to the jury, "How say you gentlemen of the jury, do you find the prisoner guilty or not guilty?" The foreman of the jury said to the judge, "Your honor, we do." The judge replied, "You do what?" The foreman said, "We find him guilty or not guilty." The judge replied, "How on earth did you do that. You can't render such a verdict as that. What do you mean by it," and the foreman answered: "Well six of us found him guilty and the other six found him not guilty so we thought we would let it go at that."

The court of claims to which I have had the honor of being named, has had a stormy career. It has been created and destroyed, and recreated. Yet it is one of the most important courts of the state and its jurisdiction and business has now become tremendous. It is the only court in the state where the citizens may sue the state and actions now awaiting trial aggregate many millions of dollars. I regard it as a great distinction to see here tonight one of the oldest members of that court, Judge Beebe, who served eighteen years on its bench and is today held by many in fondest recollections and esteem. I look forward to the experience in its work with keenest pleasure. Already I have had some amusing experiences. I had before me as a witness two weeks ago a colored man. When I asked him his name he said "Hallowed Hopkins." I said "what's that?" and he replied "Hallowed Hopkins." I said "Where on earth di you get that name, Hallowed?"

FRUIT GROWERS TO GATHER AT CORNELL

A meeting of the fruit growers of the state will be held at Ithaca February 7 to 12, during the ninth annual farmers' week at Cornell, according to an announcement issued by the college of agriculture. A program of lectures and demonstrations, it is said, will meet the needs of the specialist in fruit growing as well as others interested in this phase of agriculture. It will include material on insects and plant diseases from Cornell authorities and from those of the Geneva Experiment Station.

Subjects include: Varieties of bush fruits and their culture; tillage, sod mulch and cover crops for the orchard; varieties of strawberries and their culture; fruit insects; renewal of the neglected orchard; pollination in the orchard; practical instruction in budding and grafting; blight, dusting, thinning, fertilizers, marketing, etc.

An exhibit will also be held throughout the week showing the principal fruits of this and other states, and a collection, illustrating good and poor types of nursery trees is to be included. In addition, an opportunity for individual instruction in budding and grafting will be given.

The fruit growers will be urged to talk over their problems with the members of the department of pomology and to make its offices their headquarters during the week. It is promised that the work will interest those who plan to renovate an old orchard, to plant a new orchard or to develop the home fruit garden.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1507—An Attractive Model for Home or Business Wear.

Simple becoming lines mark this stylish design. It is good for taffeta, dotted or figured voile, checked or novelty suiting, serge, gingham, chambray, linen or percale. For a morning dress, linen or gingham would be very serviceable. For business wear, serge, taffeta or voile would be suitable. The waist is cut low and outlined with shaped revers that form a rolled collar over the back. The chemisette has a standing collar which may be omitted. The sleeve is close fitting below the elbow and finished with a smart pointed cuff in wrist length. In short length a turn back cuff forms a neat finishing. The skirt has plaited fulness in back and front, which may be stitched in tuck effect. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 7¼ yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3½ yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

SYMPOSIUM OF SOUPS.

On a stay-at-home night try Spanish onion soup.

Spanish Onion Soup.—Chop fine five onions and fry brown in butter, adding a teaspoonful of sugar. When brown pour over eight cupfuls of hot beef stock. Add a bayleaf, half a dozen pepper corns, and a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Simmer 15 minutes, strain and serve with diced fried bred.

Puree of Carrots.—Fry brown in butter one cupful of carrots, cut in dice. Add enough beef stock to cover and simmer until soft. Add six cupfuls of stock, bring to a boil, and add the yolks of two eggs, beaten, with two tablespoonfuls of cream.

Dutch Soup.—Cook together a carrot and an onion in boiling salted water. Rub through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and add a teaspoonful of sugar. Add five cupfuls of beef stock, reheat and serve.

Split Pea Soup.—Soak over night four cupfuls of split peas in cold water to cover, adding a pinch of soda. Drain and add to eight cupfuls of beef stock. Add a head of celery, a sliced carrot and an onion chopped fine. Season with salt, pepper and curry powder. Strain through a coarse sieve into a tureen, rubbing the pulp through the sieve. Serve with croutons (diced fried bread).

Savory Rice Soup.—Add a cupful of cold boiled rice to four cupfuls of beef stock. Simmer until the rice is very soft, then rub through a fine sieve and return to the fire. Season to taste, thicken with the yolks of two eggs, beaten with half a cupful of cream.

Tomato Soup.—Cook two quarts of tomatoes with two onions, two carrots and a half cupful of chopped raw ham. Add two quarts of veal stock, strain, season and reheat. Thicken with one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, cooked together; blend with a little of the stock and add; bring to a boil, season with salt, butter, pepper and a bit of sugar; serve with croutons.

Veal stock thickened with a little cooked sago and enriched with beaten eggs makes a most delicious and nourishing soup.

SPILLWAY.

Spillway, Feb. 5.—A few of the favored friends of George Hoyt, formerly of West Hurley, are the proud recipients of fresh cocoanuts as they are found at Palm Beach, Florida, where Mr. Hoyt is now working.

Edward Chase is now working at Ashokan.

he Misses May and Julia Allen are both ill with the grip.

Mrs. A. Smedes spent Sunday with her sister at Ashokan.

Harry Cook and William Brenckner have bith lost a horse during the past week.

A number of young people from this place attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joyce at West Hurley on Tuesday evening.

True.

A headlight on an automobile is of little use if there is a light head at the steering gear.—Richmond Times-Dispatch

Painless Extractions

During the year 1915 the Cady Dental Offices in Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown performed over ten thousand extractions. These operations were painless. Local Anaesthetics were used in the majority of cases but nitrous-oxide gas in a few. This wonderful record should make a deep impression on those who have teeth which require extraction and desire to have the operation done painlessly.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

County of Ulster, ss.:

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Ulster county court of the state of New York, to me directed and delivered, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of Ella L. Johnston, I have seized and taken all the right, title and interest of said defendant in and to the following described property, to wit: All that tract or parcel of land, situate in the village and town of Gardiner, Ulster county, New York, described as follows: Bounded on the north by North street; on the east by the lot of John Lyons; on the south by lands of Elizabeth D. Elting and on the west by lot of John S. Rosecrans, being designated as lots numbers 8 and 9 in block No. 9 on map made by Abram LeFevre, surveyor for Charles Reynolds, general assignee of Floyd S. McKinstry and filed in the Ulster county clerk's office April 29th, 1897, and numbered 304. This parcel of land is sold subject to the lease of Millard Elmendorf which will expire April 1, 1907. Which I shall expose to sale as the law directs, on the 28th day of February, 1916, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the Ulster county court house in the city of Kingston, N. Y.

Dated this 17th day of January, 1916.

ULSTER PARK.

Ulster Park, Feb. 7.—The Misses Alice and Beth DeVall of Napanoch are spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. C. Van Oostenbrugge. Mrs. Van Oostenbrugge is suffering from an attack of pleurisy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wells and Victoria Lust of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eckert.

Miss Julia Churchwell has gone to visit her aunt, who is ill at Napanoch.

Mrs. Sidney Terpening is visiting her son, E. Terpening, of Kingston.

Mrs. P. Whittaker and daughter, Mildred, of Kingston spent Sunday with Mrs. I. D. Churchwell.

The leader of the Christian Endeavor next Sunday night will be Mrs. H. V. Story. Topic, "The Consecration of Influence," Heb. 10; 19-25.

The prayer meeting will be held at the home of H. V. Story Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noble of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Eckert.

L. Hermance and two children, Dorothy and Lewis, of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday at his farm here.

Mrs. E. Schryver of Kingston spent the week end with her son, W. Schryver, of this place.

Made Slight Mistake.

This may be old enough to raise whiskers, but a newspaper friend relates it as a recent happening. A teacher in one of the New York schools instructed her class of boys to write an essay on "judicious." One youngster, a Jewish lad, raised his hand first. The teacher instructed him to read his essay on judicious. "On our holidays," he began, "we have mazotos and other Jew dishes."

Farmer's Debt to the Silo.

The Wall Street Journal calls the period between 1910 and 1920 the "era of the silo" in American agriculture, adding: "The silo is the fortress by which the American farm restores and develops the fertility of the farm acres to pristine productiveness."

Gift's Greatest Grace.

The greatest grace of a gift, perhaps, is that it anticipates and admits of no return.—Longfellow.

FRUIT GROWERS TO GATHER AT CORNELL

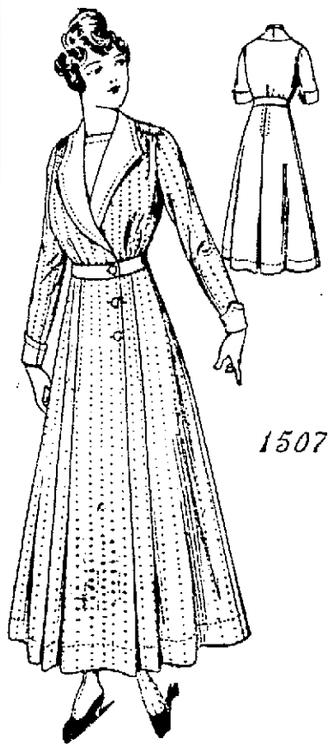
A meeting of the fruit growers of the state will be held at Ithaca February 7 to 12, during the ninth annual farmers' week at Cornell, according to an announcement issued by the college of agriculture. A program of lectures and demonstrations, it is said, will meet the needs of the specialist in fruit growing as well as others interested in this phase of agriculture. It will include material on insects and plant diseases from Cornell authorities and from those of the Geneva Experiment Station.

Subjects include: Varieties of bush fruits and their culture; tillage, sod mulch and cover crops for the orchard; varieties of strawberries and their culture; fruit insects; renewal of the neglected orchard; pollination in the orchard; practical instruction in budding and grafting; blight, dusting, thinning, fertilizers, marketing, etc.

An exhibit will also be held throughout the week showing the principal fruits of this and other states, and a collection, illustrating good and poor types of nursery trees is to be included. In addition, an opportunity for individual instruction in budding and grafting will be given.

The fruit growers will be urged to talk over their problems with the members of the department of pomology and to make its offices their headquarters during the week. It is promised that the work will interest those who plan to renovate an old orchard, to plant a new orchard or to develop the home fruit garden.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.



1507—An Attractive Model for Home or Business Wear.

Simple becoming lines mark this stylish design. It is good for taffeta, dotted or figured voile, checked or novelty suiting, serge, gingham, chambray, linen or percale. For a morning dress, linen or gingham would be very serviceable. For business wear, serge, taffeta or voile would be suitable. The waist is cut low and outlined with shaped revers that form a rolled collar over the back. The chemisette has a standing collar which may be omitted. The sleeve is close fitting below the elbow and finished with a smart pointed cuff in wrist length. In short length a turn back cuff forms a neat finishing. The skirt has plaited fulness in back and front, which may be stitched in tuck effect. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 7¾ yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3½ yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1916 large Spring and Summer Catalogue, containing over 400 designs of Ladies' Misses' and Children's Patterns, as well as the latest Embroidery Designs, also a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, giving valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

SYMPOSIUM OF SOUPS.

On a stay-at-home night try Spanish onion soup.

Spanish Onion Soup.—Chop fine five onions and fry brown in butter, adding a teaspoonful of sugar. When brown pour over eight cupfuls of hot beef stock. Add a bayleaf, half a dozen pepper corns, and a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Simmer 15 minutes, strain and serve with diced fried bred.

Puree of Carrots.—Fry brown in butter one cupful of carrots, cut in dice. Add enough beef stock to cover and simmer until soft. Add six cupfuls of stock, bring to a boil, and add the yolks of two eggs, beaten, with two tablespoonfuls of cream.

Dutch Soup.—Cook together a carrot and an onion in boiling salted water. Rub through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and add a teaspoonful of sugar. Add five cupfuls of beef stock, reheat and serve.

Split Pea Soup.—Soak over night four cupfuls of split peas in cold water to cover, adding a pinch of soda. Drain and add to eight cupfuls of beef stock. Add a head of celery, a sliced carrot and an onion chopped fine. Season with salt, pepper and curry powder. Strain through a coarse sieve into a tureen, rubbing the pulp through the sieve. Serve with croutons (diced fried bread).

Savory Rice Soup.—Add a cupful of cold boiled rice to four cupfuls of beef stock. Simmer until the rice is very soft, then rub through a fine sieve and return to the fire. Season to taste, thicken with the yolks of two eggs, beaten with half a cupful of cream.

Tomato Soup.—Cook two quarts of tomatoes with two onions, two carrots and a half cupful of chopped raw ham. Add two quarts of veal stock, strain, season and reheat. Thicken with one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, cooked together; blend with a little of the stock and add; bring to a boil, season with salt, butter, pepper and a bit of sugar; serve with croutons.

Veal stock thickened with a little cooked sago and enriched with beaten eggs makes a most delicious and nourishing soup.

SPILLWAY.

Spillway, Feb. 5.—A few of the favored friends of George Hoyt, formerly of West Hurley, are the proud recipients of fresh cocoanuts as they are found at Palm Beach, Florida, where Mr. Hoyt is now working.

Edward Chase is now working at Ashokan.

The Misses May and Julia Allen are both ill with the grip.

Mrs. A. Smedes spent Sunday with her sister at Ashokan.

Harry Cook and William Brenckner have both lost a horse during the past week.

Painless Extractions

During the year 1915 the Cady Dental Offices in Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown performed over ten thousand extractions. These operations were painless. Local Anaesthetics were used in the majority of cases but nitrous-oxide gas in a few. This wonderful record should make a deep impression on those who have teeth which require extraction and desire to have the operation done painlessly.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 7, 1916.

There has been such a long series of howls about the so-called "hayseed control" of New York City, coupled with demands for "genuine home rule," that the public mind is hardly prepared for the report of the Brown Legislative Committee, which points out the fact that all the mandatory legislation fixing the salaries of the teachers, firemen, police and other employes of the metropolis has been passed by the votes of New York City legislators. The Committee in its majority report recommends a referendum to the voters of the big town for the purpose of determining whether they want to run their own affairs or not. The Democratic minority of the Committee does not oppose the proposition. Evidently, there is a strong belief that the people of New York are, on the whole, better satisfied with upstate control than they think they would be with home rule. We are not sure that a referendum in Kingston would not result in favor of retaining State control over our entire charter. Sometimes our municipal Government finds itself hampered, but if it were made too easy to remove restrictions we might be sorry.

A situation embarrassing to President Wilson's retiring disposition has arisen in Ohio, where it is now likely that the chief executive must declare himself as an out-and-out candidate in order to have a place on the official primary ballot of his party. A ruling by the Ohio Secretary of State holds that all would-be delegates to the Democratic national convention must first name their first and second choice for the presidential nomination. Unless the presidential candidates, so named, file acceptance before February 15th, the names of such delegates will be barred from the primary ballot. The effect of this ruling is to force the President into the open with his candidacy, a contingency which he has held to be incompatible with the dignity of the place. Every person who reads and thinks knows the President is most anxious for renomination. But the directness of the direct primary in Ohio is such as to prevent its coming to him, apparently unsought, from the hands of the Democratic national convention.

Neither pacifist nor preparedness advocate can interpose sound objection to the children's campaign to start a fund for a battleship with dime contributions. Naturally, brethren in the first-named camp will hold up their hands at the prospect of innocent children calling into being another death-dealing dreadnought. On the other hand, the dime subscription idea may tend to popularize the battleship, which is to be named the America, and show conclusively the genuine sentiment of the country for a greater navy. A belief in American institutions and traditions has its inevitable corrollary in a belief in a greater navy for their protection.

Not only was Captain Harrison of the captured steamship Appam a good sailor who protected the lives of innocent passengers by surrendering his ship to a German raider, but he also appears to have been a "good mixer." This is no snap judgment, but literal, being borne out by the captain's own story of how each night of his sixteen days' captivity, he mixed a cocktail in his own cabin for Lieutenant Berg, who seemed to like the drink. We will pass up the ingredients, but must mention that the hardy British seadog used "a swizzle stick" in mixing the beverage which he styled a West African cocktail. The good feeling thus established between these erstwhile foes may supply an explanation for the extensive bar bills run up by the Ford party; and, too, it is a valuable hint to Colonel Bryan, who may be able to press the swizzle stick into service for future outpourings of grape-juice. With all the to-do over alleged atrocities on land and sea, there is something highly comforting in the spectacle of two gallant sailor men, captor and captured, pledging each other in a social glass, in itself a pretty fair barometer of the actual state of feelings between the fighters on both sides when once they come into personal contact.

Pretty soon cats will be able to number their friends on the claws of one foot. Bird-lovers and other humans seeking undisturbed repose have long been united in an effort to put the ban on felines in the land of the living but it has remained for science to condemn Pussy even after the ninth life has expired. The Bureau of Industrial Hygiene of the State Labor Department has found that in the fur of cats lurk the deadly anthrax germs which survive the partial sterilization that is a part of the skinning process. Results of three months' investigation by the Bureau make the proof positive against this disease carrier, especially serious now because of the general use of cat's fur for children's wear in winter. So the case against the cats, living and dead, seems to be effectually closed for the prosecution. Outside of a sentimental attachment for them as pets, the usefulness of cats appears to be a thing of the past.

DO YOU WANT FARM HELP?

Cornell Students Will Soon be Seeking Farm Positions.

When the winter course closes at the New York state college of agriculture by February 12, it is said that there will be a number of young men seeking positions on farms. These winter course students are men who have grown up on farms and are therefore, according to statements from Cornell, thoroughly familiar with farm practice. They are usually from the better class of farms. Their age, education and experience, however, vary greatly.

It is not claimed that the three months spent in studying agriculture at the college gives them any great amount of agricultural education, but some of them bring such good training and experience with them that they are able to accomplish much more than might be expected in so short a time. The best of these men usually receive from $40 to $60 a month, while others with less experience may work for $30 or less. These men are available at the present time.

The regular agricultural students and the special students are usually not available until after graduation in June. A few complete their work in February. These men usually command higher salaries, and the best ones last year received about $1,200 in addition to their living expenses. From this the figure ranges down to ordinary farm wages for the man who has had little experience.

Anyone wishing to look into the question of securing Cornell men for agricultural work should address the department of farm practice, New York state college of agriculture, Ithaca, New York.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, Feb. 7.—An entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of this place for the benefit of the church will be given in the school house on Friday evening, February 18, at 7:30 sharp. Much time and effort is being spent on this entertainment to make it successful. Our young people are practicing early and late in order to perfect themselves in their parts. Several plays will be given entitled, "What Happened to Hannah," "Mrs. Stebbens's Book Agent," "Lucinda's Mistake," "Sire's Beau to Dinner," and "Advice Wanted." These are all fine up-to-date plays and can't fail to please. Three of the plays contain darky characters, which always are funny. Two monologues are to be given by two charming young ladies of the place which will also be much enjoyed as they contain many "hits." Those who have charge of the singing for the evening promise to please the audience. This will be worth seeing. Don't miss it. Bring all your friends and come yourself. Remember the date, February 18, Friday evening, at 7:30 sharp. A fine supper will be served at the end of the play and plenty of good home-made ice cream.

Mrs. W. H. Markle and Mrs. F. Zeaman were county seat visitors on Friday. A pleasant day was spent.

No meeting was held on Wednesday evening owing to the storm.

Miss Bessie Wood spent Friday with Miss Edna Markle.

Mrs. Jacob Baker has been suffering from a severe gathering in her head, which has caused her a great deal of pain.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Miller the past week, a son.

Oscar Mackey will leave for steady employment about March 1. He will be employed by Jerome Enderly at Whitfield.

CHICHESTER.

Chichester, Feb. 7.—Edward Schmeidel was in Kingston Tuesday.

Miss Jessie Satterlee of Branch has been visiting Mrs. John Wright of this place.

Watson Moon purchased a team of horses of William McGrath of Phoenicia recently.

Edwin L. Bennett of Tarrytown spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Emma Bennett during the week.

S. B. Schwarzwaelder made a trip to Kingston Tuesday.

The Maccabees held an oyster supper at the club house in this village last week. There were some present from Lanesville and Phoenicia.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanel, formerly of Shandaken have moved in one of William Schwarzwaelder's houses in this village.

Mrs. R. R. Bennett and Miss Emma Bruckner spent Thursday with Mrs. H. Lee Breithaupt of Phoenicia.

Charles Longyear of Jewett was in this place on business Wednesday.

Miss Lillis Schwarzwaelder, who has been sick, is recovering.

A number of the young boys met at the home of Laughran Colvin Thursday night to organize a Boy Scout troop. Henry Kohler was elected scout master.

G. W. Schwarzwelder has been spending several days in New York.

Mrs. John Wright has gone to Randall to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. Cook.

Mrs. Estella O. Keefe is spending some time in New York city.

Elmer Bush is getting out timber, which he is having sawed into bridge plank and rails for the town.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"How is it I didn't see you at the charity meeting last night?" "It was I who passed the plate around!"—Judge.

"Seems to me the air in this car is very bad," suggested the passenger. "Fresh this morning, ma'am," retorted the nearside despot.—Buffalo Express.

The world was exactly as God made it until man got ripping mad because the plans hadn't been submitted to him, and went to war about it.—Atlanta Constitution.

Little Boy (reading aloud)—"'And David said in his haste, all men are liars.' Say, father, why didn't the mention women also?" "He didn't consider it necessary, my son."—Life.

The Military Reports—"I see the reports say the enemy is lying to the east of Cernay——" "It looks to me as if all sides were lying in all directions."—Baltimore American.

Wife (complainingly)—"You never praise me up to any one." Husband—"I don't, eh! You should hear me describe you at the employment office when I'm trying to hire a cook."—Boston Transcript.

"You say that man has no conscience?" "Well," replied Farmer Corntossel, "mebbe I oughtn't to say that. But if he has one, it can't be much use to him. They say conscience is a still small voice, an' the way he talks would keep it drowned out all the time."—Washington Star.

Beginning Early.

Jack disliked being kissed, and, being a handsome little chap, sometimes had a good deal to put up with. One day he had been kissed a lot. Then, to make matters worse, on going to the picture palace in the evening, instead of his favorite cowboy and Indian pictures, there was nothing but a lot more hugging and kissing.

He returned home completely out of patience with the whole tribe of women.

After he had been tucked into bed mother came in to kiss him goodnight.

He refused to be kissed.

Mother begged and begged, till in disgust he turned to his father, who was standing at the doorway looking on, and said:

"Daddy, for the love of Heaven, give this women a kiss!"—Tit-Bits.

Score, Nothing But Love.

At last the assembled guests began to grow impatient.

For the bridegroom was now a full hour late!

"Perhaps he won't come," they said among themselves. "Perhaps he got chilled feet, as the Americans say, at the last moment."

And they fidgeted and fidgeted. The church was beautifully decorated with brick blossoms and cross-eyed Bedelias.

Still the bridegroom failed to show up.

The best man, to relieve the tension, showed the bridesmaids a new step in the fox trot.

And now the bridegroom was two hours late!

The ushers started to match nickels and the minister filled his pipe again.

But at last there was nothing to do but declare the ceremony off, and everybody wandered disconsolately home.

"Oh, well," said one philosophical guest, "what's the odds? The bride wasn't there anyway."—Detroit Free Press.

His Only Right.

J. Pierpont Morgan, condemning an argument at a dinner in New York, said:

"These arguments are only striking because they are unfair. I once said to a Socialist, apropos of a tax of 70 per cent that he proposed on all incomes over $5,000:

" 'Has a rich taxpayer, then, no rights?'

" 'Certainly,' the Socialist answered. 'He has the right to pay taxes.' "—New York Sun.

WILLOW.

Willow, Feb. 7.—R. E. Wilber is hauling logs for John H. Humphrey to Shady.

Herbert Lane is replenishing the wood pile of Mrs. Martha Simons, who has been sick for some time, but we are happy to state that she is improving at present.

Benson Eighmey, who has been boarding for some time at the residence of Mrs. Bell Lane, has secured a position in Delaware county and left for that place on Wednesday.

M. F. Hoyt has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Chase Nurserys Company of Rochester, N. Y. We wish him success in his new enterprise.

The friends of Miss Elizabeth DeVall tendered her a birthday party on Tuesday evening, February 1. Everybody reports a fine time.

The Rev. Mr. Fife preached a very interesting sermon in the M. E. Church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen DeVall's dog, Fido, had the misfortune to get caught in a fox trap and will lose one of his feet. She has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

We understand that Berton Berger will make his last trip through DeVall Hollow on Sunday next for some time. He has also given up carrying the mail to Wittenberg. We understand Bert is going to leave in a few days for the season.

PATAUKUNK.

Pataukunk, Feb. 7.—Mrs. May Christian left for Kingston on Monday, where she has a position.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith made a business trip to Ellenville Monday, also William Simpson.

Mrs. Joseph Christian spent a day last week out of town.

Miss Flora Burger spent Saturday and Sunday last with Mrs. Wilklow.

Miss Sadie Simpson, who has been confined to her home with a severe cold, is able to be about and resumed her duties at Mettacahonts.

Miss Myrtle Osterhoudt of Kerhonkson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith on Sunday.

Miss Edith M. Dunn spent the week end at her home here.

Joachim Deyo of this place took a sleigh load of people up to Mr. and Mrs. Asa Gray's of Wawarsing for surprise party on Thursday evening. Those who went were: Mrs. Lottie Burger and daughter, Beatrice, Mrs. C. Terwilliger, Miss Della Osterhoudt, Jerry Quick, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Simpson and daughter, Eula, and Mrs. Joachim Deyo. The evening was spent playing games, after which bountiful refreshments were served, which were enjoyed by all. Mr. Deyo said the turkey was fine. The load returned home in the wee small hours of the morning, proclaiming the Grays as fine entertainers.

That Card of Thanks.

To the readers of The Freeman: In regard to the card of thanks in The Freeman of February 2 for the poisoning of cats, we have never heard of a card of thanks for such a deed. A card of thanks is given out in case of sickness or death to neighbors who stand by and help. This card of thanks is an insult to his neighbors, accusing them of poisoning his cats. We all have cats of our own and I don't believe any of his neighbors would stoop so low as to do such a dirty deed. I, for one, wish to do to my neighbors as I would have them do to me.

are as important to be looked after as are the older people's—perhaps more so. Their teeth may not ache nor be decayed—they should not be allowed to get so. A tooth in time, as well as a stich in time, saves nine. Bring the little folks into our office, and their teeth will be carefully looked after. First-class work at moderate prices.

Selling Articles Below Cost

is an expression in advertising which the general public puts down as a fake. Nevertheless it is true that to move slow selling goods, or to stimulate business, or to attract particular attention to their store at some specific time merchants do actualy sell articles below, and at prices so near cost that the purchaser has the opportunity at that time to buy a much desired article at a price far below the price usually charged for that article.

I have gone through my stock and picking out articles here and there, have marked them at prices which if needed by you, it is to your advantage to buy these articles now.

It is a rule with me to keep my prices low, but these articles have been marked from 25 per cent to 66 per cent below the regular retail value. They are too numerous to list. Come and see for yourself. You will be well repaid for your time and trouble.

Crockery and Glassware

Visitors to this store this week will find a multitude of articles displayed on the first floor that will prove of considerably more than ordinary interest. We have gone over our Glassware and Crockery stocks and gathered together all the odd pieces and left-overs in decorated goods and plain and white hotel ware. These have been placed upon special tables and marked at prices below original cost. In fact some of the pieces could not be obtained at double the sale prices ordinarily, and to say that women are greatly pleased with these splendid bargain opportunities is stating the truth without embellishment. To illustrate how eagerly the goods on the tables are snapped up by thrifty shoppers we mention the fact that one day last week we delivered twelve clothes baskets filled with such purchases.

This Crockery and Glassware clean-up is an annunl event with us. Those who have attended former similar sales come again each succeeding year, for they have learned that it pays them to do so.

Why Falsehoods Live.

Some men relate what they think, as what they know; some men of confused memories, and habitual inaccuracy, ascribe to one man what belongs to another; and some talk on without thought or care. A few men are sufficient to broach falsehoods, which are afterwards innocently diffused by successive relaters.—Johnson.

Remarkable Balanced Rock.

In Acushnet, Me., are two rocks peculiarly situated on a ledge and apparently placed there by glacial action. The larger rock weighs probably several hundred tons, and years ago it is said this could be tilted by pushing against it. There are evidences that at some time smaller rocks were placed as wedges to keep the great rock motionless.

CARPENTERS' UNION HOLDS A BANQUET

Twenty-ninth Anniversary of Organization Celebrated at The Stuyvesant with Dinner and Speeches—History and Membership of the Union.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the signing of their charter was fittingly celebrated by the carpenters of this city when Kingston Local, No. 251, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, held a banquet at the Stuyvesant Hotel on Saturday evening, February 5, 1916. Over one hundred members and their guests were present and partook of the splendid menu which was faultlessly served. The menu:

Oyster Cocktail.
Tomato Bisque.
Celery. Queen Olives.
Radishes. Salted Almonds.
Planked Roe Shad, ala Tubby,
Maitre d'Hotel.
Salade Concombres.
Pommes de Terre' Duchess.
Croquettes of Sweetbreads aux Petit Pois.
Sherbet ala Snow.
Ulster County Turkey, Dressing ala Sawdust.
Rotis aus Cannaberge.
Puree Pommes de Terre,
Asparagus Tips an Beuree.
Salad ala Gerhardt.
Glace Fantassie au Oak and Mahogany.
Gateau Assorted Nails and Screws.
Coffee.

After the good things had been stowed away, Harry F. Gerhardt, secretary of local, as toastmaster, introduced Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., who gave a very pleasing address on the evolution of the carpenter trade from the time of the first carpenter nineteen hundred years ago and up to the present time. He also stated that employers and employes were getting to understand each other better and that as a consequence mostly all grievances between capital and labor were settled by arbitration first instead of strike first and arbitrate after. The mayor's remarks were greatly appreciated by all of the members present, and he was given a vote of thanks for his very able address.

Toastmaster Gerhardt then introduced Daniel F. Featherstone, one of the general organizers from headquarters, who spoke on what the word brotherhood meant to organized labor. He gave a history of the labor movement and of the brotherhood since its institution on August 1, 1881, when there were only about twenty members in the organization, whereas today there are 261,000 members on the roll or in other words, the second largest labor organization in the world. He spoke on the amount of money paid in sick and death benefits, which amounts to $40,000 per month. During his remarks he stated that the prospects for work for the coming spring were the best that they have been for the past ten years and in closing he extended to the members the best wishes for the continued growth and prosperity of the organization, both from himself and for the general officers. Telegrams were received from William L. Hutcheson, general president, and Theo. W. Guerin, member of the general executive board, from the first district, stating their inability to be present owing to pressing business matters pertaining to the brotherhood, but extending to the members their kindest and best wishes for the success of the banquet. Too much credit cannot be given the management of the Stuyvesant Hotel for the excellent manner in which the banquet was served and the program carried out. The affair will be remembered for many a year by all the members who were privileged to be present.

History of the Local.

Twenty-nine years ago on February 5th, 1887, the first meeting to organize a Local of Carpenters in Kingston was called to order in the city hall by Henry B. Gerhardt, organizer of the local. There were nine men who signed their names to a petition asking the general office to grant them a charter. The charter was granted on March 15, 1887, and was signed by the following men: Henry B. Gerhardt, Charles Weiss, Joseph J. Tubby, William D. Costello, Joseph J. Schepmoes, Philip Hyman, Joseph Weiss, Simon S. Middah and George Dufner and was signed by W. J. Sheilds, general president and F. J. McCuire, general secretary. Charles Kohler became a member on March 15, 1887, but his name was not on the petition and therefore does not appear on the charter, but as he joined before the charter was closed he is considered a charter member. After meeting in the city hall for a number of years the local moved to Lutz's Hall on Broadway, but only remained there a short time removing to Cooney's Hall on Railroad avenue where their stay was of short duration. When Peter Measter built what is known as Odd Fellows' Hall, No. 635 Broadway, the local moved into the new building and has made it its headquarters ever since. In 1909 Local No. 1,560, composed of the millmen of this city decided that for the best interests of both Locals, 1,560 and 251, it would be a wise move to consolidate and the same was accomplished during the latter part of the year, and since then the local has been in a very good condition both numerically and financially.

The officers for the present term are: Joseph J. Tubby, president; Adolph Knapp, vice-president; Edward N. Snow, recording secretary; Harry F. Gerhardt, financial secretary; Jacob L. Messinger, treasurer; Augustus J. Kohler, warden; John M. Marks, conductor; John M. Marks, John H. Berger, Joel J. Christiana, trustees

Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes.

Scott's is pleasant to take.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 7.—The services in the Methodist Church Sunday morning were very impressive. Preceding the sermon a class of seven young men united with the church on probation, five of whom received the rite of baptism. The pastor, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, delivered a very helpful and powerful sermon from these words: "Come Thou With Us and We Will Do Thee Good." Num. 10:29. The pastor is very much in earnest and is so encouraged by the manifestations of the prevailing spirit that so many are inquiring the way of salvation and are linking themselves with the great chain—the church. A letter of transfer was also read.

The Teachers' Bible Training Class will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church. The class is in charge of the pastor, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout. Everyone interested in the systematic study of the Bible is urged to join.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hutchings on Broadway Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All interested in this line of church work are invited to be present.

Mrs. Martha Neal and daughter, Mary, of Salem street, spent Thursday with relatives in Kingston.

Thursday evening will be Port Ewen night at the meetings being held at St. James's Methodist Church and all who anticipate going must be present at St. James's Church promptly at 7 o'clock. The pastor desires a large representation. Let every one make an effort to be present.

Wednesday evening Division No. 3 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will repeat the play called "The Rag Social." In connection with the play they will hold a bazaar. No admission to the entertainment, but a free will offering will be taken. Ice cream on sale by the plate or cone. Everyone invited.

The coming event is the leap year supper to be prepared and served by the young men of the Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday, February 29, 1916. Further details regarding this super will be announced later in these items. Watch out.

A. E. Neal of Phoenicia spent the week end with Mrs. Martha Neal and family on Salem street.

Mrs. Harry Secor and Mrs. Otis Terwilliger, who have been the guests of friends in Sloatsburgh, N. Y., have returned home.

Miss Mildred Short and Mrs. Ernest Hutchings of Broadway spent Sunday with Mrs. Eva Wood and the Misses Ola and Bessie Short in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rodman and son, Andred J. Jr., and daughter, Jennie, of Hasbrouck street were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rodman at the "Restmore," on South Broadway on Sunday.

The Ever Ready Club will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of Miss Mary F. Bishop. A full attendance is desired.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, Feb. 7.—Harvey Short made a business trip to Haines Falls on Tuesday.

Miss Hazel Myers, who is attending school at Spencer's, Kingston, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Anna Eltinge is ill.

R. Ingersoll of Munnsville, N. Y., who represents the Munnsville Plow Company, passed through this place on Wednesday.

The topic for Epworth League on February 13, is "Mystery of a Minority's Might." Leader, F. B. Happy.

A. P. Barclay of Kingston spent Sunday in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Winnie of Beechford spent Sunday with friends in this place.

Prayer meeting will be held on Thursday night at 7:30.

Miss Ethel M. Short, who is employed at Kingston, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Short.

Burgher Brothers, who carried the mail from Mt. Tremper to Wittenberg, have sub-let it to Mrs. George Mass.

Felix Shultis is ill at present. Dr. Downer is in attendance.

Mrs. Sidney Terpening is visiting her son, E. Terpening, of Kingston.

Mrs. P. Whittaker and daughter, Mildred, of Kingston spent Sunday with Mrs. I. D. Churchwell.

The leader of the Christian Endeavor next Sunday night will be Mrs. H. V. Story. Topic, "The Consecration of Influence." Heb. 10; 19-25.

The prayer meeting will be held at the home of H. V. Story Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noble of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Eckert.

L. Hermance and two children, Dorothy and Lewis, of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday at his farm here.

Mrs. E. Schryver of Kingston spent the week end with her son, W. Schryver, of this place.

Made Slight Mistake.

This may be old enough to raise whiskers, but a newspaper friend relates it as a recent happening. A teacher in one of the New York schools instructed her class of boys to write an essay on "judicious." One youngster, a Jewish lad, raised his hand first. The teacher instructed him to read his essay on judicious. "On our holidays," he began, "we have matzos and other Jew dishes."

Farmer's Debt to the Silo.

The Wall Street Journal calls the period between 1910 and 1920 the "era of the silo" in American agriculture, adding: "The silo is the fortress by which the American farm restores and develops the fertility of the farm acres to pristine productiveness."

Gift's Greatest Grace.

The greatest grace of a gift, perhaps, is that it anticipates and educates the return.—Longfellow.

VIRGINIA MOHR WAITING FOR HER MOTHER.

Miss Virginia Mohr, nine year old daughter of Mrs. C. Franklin Mohr, waiting with open arms for her mother at the door of the Mohr home in Providence.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr was acquitted of the murder of her husband by the Superior Court Jury at Providence Saturday night while the two negroes she was accused of hiring to commit the crime were convicted and will be sentenced to life imprisonment. The jury was out a little more than seven hours. Mrs. Mohr at once returned to her home and children and there, with her dead husband's brother, Gustavus Mohr, and his sister, Mrs. Eliza Hogan, she received congratulatory messages from all over the country.

SHRINERS TO AID INDUSTRIAL HOME

Benefit Dance to be Given in the Armory on Wednesday Evening, February 23, by Local Shriners.

A benefit dance, the proceeds of which will be for the Industrial Home, will be given by the Kingston Shriners' Association at the armory on Wednesday evening, February 23. A year ago a similar ball was held, which was one of the most successful ever given in Kingston, and there is every reason to anticipate that this year's dance will be fully up to any social function ever given here, as Shriners never do things by halves.

Two orchestras will be engaged for music, and both the old dances and new dances will be danced. The armory will be beautifully decorated for the occasion and a number of Shriners from Cyprus Temple of Albany will be present. All the Shriners will wear their red fez. During the evening refreshments will be served.

Tickets will be $1 each, and every member of the Shriners' Association has been made a member of the ticket committee, of which Charles B. Everett is chairman. Tickets will also be on sale at the office of Ward B. Everett, Fair street; and the stores of Matthew H. Herzog, Wall street; S. Cohen's Sons, Wall street; W. F. Dedrick, Wall street; William S. Elting and E. Winter's Sons, John street; W. H. Rider, Wall street; M. C. Crosby, William O'Reilly and Rufus Carle, Broadway; Connelly Drug Company and Benjamin Johnston, Strand, and Sam Stern, Broadway.

The officers of the Shriners' Association are: Ward B. Everett, president; Aaron Cohen, vice president; Matthew H. Herzog, secretary; William F. Brodock, treasurer; William H. Van Etten, Addison E. Dederick, William G. Johnston, executive committee.

The Health Alarm

often sounds first in the doctor's office when some healthy looking specimen of humanity, undergoing examination for life insurance, is told that his blood pressure is too high.

Increased blood pressure is no longer confined to old age; it is frequently found in men in their 40's who are otherwise healthy. In such cases it points to approaching degeneration of the arteries—a condition which in turn indicates those errors of diet that often end in various diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver, nerves and heart.

Among these errors of diet is coffee drinking, because of the drug, caffeine, in coffee, the constant use of which weakens the walls of the arteries. Medical authorities now insist that in all cases of high blood pressure there must be total abstinence from coffee, tea and other harmful beverages.

Hard to give up coffee? Not at all, when one uses instead the pure food-drink—

Instant Postum

This delicious beverage is made of wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses. It is then reduced to a soluble powder, a level teaspoonful of which with hot water makes a perfect cup instantly.

Instant Postum tastes much like mild Java coffee, but is absolutely free from the drug, caffeine, or any harmful ingredient. It does contain those vitalizing elements of the grain which make for normal balance of the system.

"There's a Reason"

STATE FRUIT GROWERS MEET.

Armory at Poughkeepsie Scene of Gathering on February 16-18th.

The annual convention of the New York State Fruit Growers' Association will be held at the State Armory in Poughkeepsie on February 16, 17 and 18. There will be morning and afternoon sessions each day. There will also be a banquet in connection with the convention.

The exhibit of apples in connection with the convention is a great feature and attracts great attention from the throngs of visitors.

Another feature of the convention is the display of sprayers and other mechanical devices used in the growing of the highest grade of fruits.

Fruit growers from all parts of the eastern portion of the state will be in attendance at the sessions of the convention and addresses will be made on technical subjects by a number of experts along the several lines to be considered.

Successful Supper.

The chicken-pie supper which the members of the Federation of Women's Clubs gave at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening last, was indeed a big success, thanks to the many friends of the Federation who assisted them. The supper was most delicious and ample, and all present enjoyed the charming music played by Messrs. Thomas Crosby, pianist; Jacob Mollott, violinist; and B. Riccobono, 'celist; members of the Kingston Symphony Society. A large number of those who attended the supper also attended the initial performance of the moving pictures which will hereafter be a daily feature at Association Hall, when there are not other attractions there. The films were all very attractive, and the new venture of "movies," promises to be a great success.

"Canada Blackie" at Library.

Through the courtesy of the author, Mrs. Anne P. L. Field, a copy of the "Story of Canada Blackie," has been placed at the Kingston City Library. In connection with this matter of Prison Reform, there will also be found at the library "Sing Sing from the Inside," by Lewis Wood of the "New York Tribune." From now, on, "The Bulletin," the weekly publication of the Mutual Welfare League of Sing Sing will also be ready for those interested.

Chicken Supper and Magic.

Wednesday evening, February 16, the Ladies' of the Y. M. C. A. will give a chicken pie supper at the association the proceeds of which will be used to purchase a Diamond disc machine for the boys. The date of the last number of the Star Course has been also changed to that evening and those who attend the supper will have time to attend the entertainment. The last number of the course is the Laurant Company in mystery and magic.

Pay Taxes Monday Evenings.

For the convenience of the taxpayers who are unable to visit the treasurer's office during the day City Treasurer Doremus has announced that the office at the city hall will be open every Monday evening this month starting tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock. The receipts so far are in excess of those of last year.

At the Hospital.

Mrs. Elmira Ronk of No. 611 Abeel street was conveyed in the city ambulance to the Kingston City Hospital on Sunday.

Poughkeepsie Rector Ordained.

Rev. William L. Cadman was ordained Sunday at St. Andrew's Church in Arlington, and the services were largely attended.

STATE GRANGE IN ANNUAL SESSION

Sherman J. Lowell Elected Master —Next Meeting May Be in Oneonta—Reports of Committees and Action Taken.

Discussion of a wide variety of subjects and action upon nearly all of them featured the 43d annual meeting of the New York State Grange at Jamestown the past week. Many important recommendations were made covering legislation, rural health and agricultural subjects, while the biennial election of officers was also held. Nearly al of 585 subordinate granges in the state were represented and the total membership was reported as 118,699.

Under the Australian system of balloting socalled, the election of officers does not require the immense amount of time as in former years. Results of the election the second day of the session, February 2d, are as follows:

Master—Sherman J. Lowell, Fredonia.
Lecturer—George Watson, Clyde.
Steward—Frank J. Riley, Sennett.
Asst. Steward—Fred Hecker, Webster.
Chaplain—Rev. E. E. Grosh, Seneca Castle.
Treasurer—W. L. Bean, McGraw.
Secretary—W. N. Giles, Skaneateles.

One member of the Executive Committee—Ira Sharp, Lowville.

Invitations for the next session of the State Grange were presented by Oneonta, Ithaca and Syracuse. A public meeting followed under the auspices of Chautauqua County Pomona at which Dean Beverly C. Galloway of the State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, and State Grange Master John A. McSparran of Pennsylvania were among the speakers.

W. F. Pratt, as trustee to Cornell University, presented a report showing that of the 611 instructors in that institution, 196 were in the agricultural college and of the total students, 6,891, there are 937 short term students. Summer sessions were attended by 1,500 persons and degrees conferred on 1,073. Last year the veterinary college graduated 346. The sum of $7,500 was expended for apparatus in this department last year.

The committee on co-operation recommended that the State Grange endorse, approve and encourage all reasonable activities for the establishment of local co-operative associations throughout the state, both for purchasing and selling.

The standing committees on Cornell University and the Geneva experiment station submitted favorable reports with recommendations for adequate state appropriations.

State Grange Treasurer W. L. Bean of McGraw, reported the total receipts of the year at $64,568.51, which included a balance on hand January 1, 1915, of $29,219.80 and accrued interest $1,011.25. His total disbursements were $50,377.-31, leaving a balance on hand January 1, 1915, of $34,190.68. The approximate cost of the 1915 session of the state grange at Oswego was given as $11,059.21.

An effective part in health legislation the past year was reported by the committee on rural health, which recited the benefits of co-operation with other organizations for the prevention and control of tuberculosis. Work of the rural district nurses was highly commended. "We are losing 200,000 people yearly in the United States," said the committee, "from tuberculosis, of which 50,000 are children." The committee recommended that a public health committee be appointed in each subordinate grange and that the lecturer give a place to the health subject and farm sanitation on their program. It also recommended that the State Grange approve the request for an appropriation for the tuberculosis division of the state department of health. This department is asking for $24,-000 for its tuberculosis work.

To carry out the intent and purpose of the Grange scholarships, the committee on that subject favored getting the age limit of candidates at 25 years, that the examinations be held later and that more publicity be given them and that the questions deal more with the practical side of farm life.

More laws protecting birds and better enforcement of game laws was urged by the committee on forestry and preservation of bird life. A study of birds and their value to agriculture was also recommended.

Taxation of real estate at full value, excepting property of state, county, religious and benevolent societies was recommended by the taxation committee, which further favored making the mortage tax an annual tax.

Extension of the maximum weight limit on parcels post packages from 50 to 60 pounds was recommended. Extending of present routes of rural carriers and letting of delivery contracts to lowest bidders was opposed as subversive of efficient service.

The committee on good roads urged that concrete roads already built be resurfaced with not less than two inches of crushed stone and tar to avoid smooth surfaces. The committee approved a plan for the state to assume the cost of bridges more than $3,000. It turned down a resolution restoring to towns highway fees collected therefrom by the state.

Under Good of the Order, a committee urged the holding of lecturers' conferences earlier in the season; deemed any change in the name "granger" to "patron" as unwise at this time; and urged using Grange influence toward promoting temperance.

The Department of Foods and Markets was approved by the Committee on Agriculture and government regulation of public utilities was favored rather than government ownership. Stencilling of guarantees upon all measuring and weighing devices by the manufacturers was also urged.

Grange purchasing agencies were commended. As to the mounted police for rural sections and alleged discrimination against farmers by railroads, the Grange took no action except to ask for investigations and reports at the next session.

Farm laborers would be exempted from the provisions of a law to make hunters and trappers secure permission from owners before trespassing on land. Highway repairs by county superintendents of highways rather than by the state was favored; opposition was recorded to compulsory pasteurization of skim milk and they although an educational campaign on the subject was favored. Revision of laws on personal property taxation was favored. Committees of subordinate granges were requested to investigate and report at the next session on the township session of schools.

Adjournment sine die followed Friday afternoon after disposition of the most comprehensive programs that has faced the annual meeting of the State Grange in years.

ULSTER PARK.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Feb. 7.—The M. E. Church has purchased a new Estey organ of E. E. Matthews of Kingston. Their old one is for sale.

The donation for the Reformed Church will be held in the basement of the church Tuesday evening, February 8. If stormy, it will be held the next fair evening.

There will be an entertainment in the M. E. Hall on Wednesday, evening, February 9th. Miss Eunice Smith of Catskill will recite. Miss Myra Lasher will render several selections of music, there will also be some selections from a Victrola. The proceeds are for the Epworth League. Admission 10 cents.

E. E. Matthews of Kingston will give a Victrola concert in the M. E. Church hall on Tuesday evening, February 15. The proceeds are for the church. Admission 10 cents.

Marshall Hasbrouck is spending a short vacation with friends in town before going to his work at Esopus next week.

There are several sick in town and the doctors are very busy.

Rev. I. M. Price of Walden supplied the work on the Woodstock charge Sunday last and preached most acceptably.

Charles Lasher has avertised his property for sale. The rumor is that he proposes to sell his property and move across the river where he has relatives.

Finger Marks.

Furniture has a bad habit of getting finger marked. And it is a good thing to know that sweet oil will remove all signs of them if the furniture is of the varnished variety. But kerosene is better for furniture which is oiled or waxed.

Getting It Right.

"I understand, Cuddyhump, that your wife is convalescent?" said kindly Mrs. White. "No, ma'm, Ah'm glad to say she ain't. Stid o' dat, she's gittin' bettah ev'ry day."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Thomas Hillis wishes to express his gratitude to all those who so kindly remembered him in his late bereavement. He feels especially grateful for the many floral offerings.
Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1916.

FIRST WOMAN PROSECUTOR IN U. S.

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Miss Lita Belle Hibben, recently appointed Deputy District Attorney, under District Attorney Woolwine, is the first woman prosecutor in the United States, it is believed.

Miss Hibben is 29 years old, pretty and has been practicing law for two and a half years, being associated with a prominent law firm in this city. She first demonstrated her legal ability at the University of Southern California Law School, where she led a class of 53 men, taking the medal for highest scholarship when she was graduated in June 1913. Besides practicing law she has held a position as instructress at her alma mater and has been a special lecturer on medical jurisprudence at Loma Linda University.

Her duties in her new office will be to talk to the women who come to the district attorney's office, particularly those women who have a story to tell and would hesitate to tell it to a man.

Miss Hibben was born in Illinois and came to California nine years ago. She taught in the public schools at Tropico for five years. During the last few years of her teaching she attended the law school at the same time. She is prominent in local club life.

PARLIAMENT HOUSE.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT BUILDING SWEPT BY FIRE.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Canada's handsome Parliament House, the most magnificent structure in the Dominion, is now lying in ruins, swept by a fire which some attribute to a bomb or infernal machine.

Six lives were lost in the conflagration.

Once before the structure was threatened with destruction by fire. On April 26, 1900, a fire swept Ottawa, but Parliament House escaped the flames.

The parliament building included a central building with two wings, in all 470 feet in length, with a tower 220 feet high and library building in the rear. Many valuable sculptures, paintings and decorations adorned its rooms and corridors. It was erected in 1865 of cream-colored sandstone on a bluff rising 150 feet above the Ottawa River.

To Save Umbrellas.

When you come in from the rain put the umbrella in the rack with the handle downward, because when the handle is upward the water runs down inside to the place where the ribs are joined to the handle and cannot get out, but stays, rotting the cloth and rusting the metal until slowly dried away. The wire fastening the ribs soon rusts and breaks. If placed the other way the water readily runs off and the umbrella dries almost immediately.

Helpfulness.

"We should always try to be helpful and sympathetic," said Professor Pate. "As ships meet at sea a moment, when greetings are exchanged, and then go away on the deep, so men meet in this world." Then pause in your passing long enough to tell the other fellow about your rheumatism or show him how idiotic his pet theory it, and then go on your way before he can give you the details of his dyspepsia or refute your imbecile arguments.—Kansas City Star.

Must Have Albuminous Food.

The fact that mosquitoes so continually harass rich-blooded creatures is due to the fact that they cannot lay eggs without the albuminous food which is thus secured. In tropical countries the greatest enemy of the malaria-bearing mosquito is a species of bat which is protected from the insect's bite by its strangely shaped hairs. The bat is very swift of flight and the mosquitoes, especially those which have already made a supper of blood are their ideal food.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 7, 1916.

There has been such a long series of howls about the so-called "hayseed control" of New York City, coupled with demands for "genuine home rule," that the public mind is hardly prepared for the report of the Brown Legislative Committee, which points out the fact that all the mandatory legislation fixing the salaries of the teachers, firemen, police and other employes of the metropolis has been passed by the votes of New York City legislators. The Committee in its majority report recommends a referendum to the voters of the big town for the purpose of determining whether they want to run their own affairs or not. The Democratic minority of the Committee does not oppose the proposition. Evidently, there is a strong belief that the people of New York are, on the whole, better satisfied with upstate control than they think they would be with home rule. We are not sure that a referendum in Kingston would not result in favor of retaining State control over our entire charter. Sometimes our municipal Government finds itself hampered, but if it were made too easy to remove restrictions we might be sorry.

A situation embarrassing to President Wilson's retiring disposition has arisen in Ohio, where it is now likely that the chief executive must declare himself as an out-and-out candidate in order to have a place on the official primary ballot of his party. A ruling by the Ohio Secretary of State holds that all would-be delegates to the Democratic national convention must first name their first and second choice for the presidential nomination. Unless the presidential candidates, so named, file acceptance before February 15th, the names of such delegates will be barred from the primary ballot. The effect of this ruling is to force the President into the open with his candidacy, a contingency which he has held to be incompatible with the dignity of the place. Every person who reads and thinks knows the President is most anxious for renomination. But the directness of the direct primary in Ohio is such as to prevent its coming to him, apparently unsought, from the hands of the Democratic national convention.

Neither pacifist nor preparedness advocate can interpose sound objection to the children's campaign to start a fund for a battleship with dime contributions. Naturally, brethren in the first-named camp will hold up their hands at the prospect of innocent children calling into being another death-dealing dreadnought. On the other hand, the dime subscription idea may tend to popularize the battleship, which is to be named the America, and show conclusively the genuine sentiment of the country for a greater navy. A belief in American institutions and traditions has its inevitable corrollary in a belief in a greater navy for their protection.

Not only was Captain Harrison of the captured steamship Appam a good sailor who protected the lives of innocent passengers by surrendering his ship to a German raider, but he also appears to have been a "good mixer." This is no snap judgment, but literal, being borne out by the captain's own story of how each night of his sixteen days' captivity, he mixed a cocktail in his own cabin for Lieutenant Berg, who seemed to like the drink. We will pass up the ingredients, but must mention that the hardy British seadog used "a swizzle stick" in mixing the beverage which he styled a West African cocktail. The good feeling thus established between these erstwhile foes may supply an explanation for the extensive bar bills run up by the Ford party; and, too, it is a valuable hint to Colonel Bryan, who may be able to press the swizzle stick into service for future outpourings of grape-juice. With all the to-do over alleged atrocities on land and sea, there is something highly comforting in the spectacle of two gallant sailormen, captor and captured, pledging each other in a social glass, in itself a pretty fair barometer of the actual state of feelings between the fighters on both sides when once they come into personal contact.

Hardly soon cats will be able to number their friends on the claws of one foot. Bird-lovers and other humans seeking undisturbed repose have long been united in an effort to put the ban on felines in the land of the living but it has remained for science to condemn Pussy even after the ninth life has expired. The Bureau of Industrial Hygiene of the State Labor Department has found that in the fur of cats lurk the deadly anthrax germs which survive the partial sterilization that is a part of the skinning process. Results of three months' investigation by the Bureau make the proof positive against this disease carrier, especially serious now because of the general use of cat's fur for children's wear in winter. So the case against the cats, living and dead, seems to be effectually closed for the prosecution. Outside of a sentimental attachment for them as pets, the usefulness of cats appears to be a thing of the past.

DO YOU WANT FARM HELP?

Cornell Students Will Soon be Seeking Farm Positions.

When the winter course closes at the New York state college of agriculture by February 12, it is said that there will be a number of young men seeking positions on farms. These winter course students are men who have grown up on farms and are therefore, according to statements from Cornell, thoroughly familiar with farm practice. They are usually from the better class of farms. Their age, education and experience, however, vary greatly.

It is not claimed that the three months spent in studying agriculture at the college gives them any great amount of agricultural education, but some of them bring such good training and experience with them that they are able to accomplish much more than might be expected in so short a time. The best of these men usually receive from $40 to $60 a month, while others with less experience may work for $30 or less. These men are available at the present time.

The regular agricultural students and the special students are usually not available until after graduation in June. A few complete their work in February. These men usually command higher salaries, and the best ones last year received about $1,200 in addition to their living expenses. From this the figure ranges down to ordinary farm wages for the man who has had little experience.

Anyone wishing to look into the question of securing Cornell men for agricultural work should address the department of farm practice, New York state college of agriculture, Ithaca, New York.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, Feb. 7.—An entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of this place for the benefit of the church will be given in the school house on Friday evening, February 18, at 7:30 sharp. Much time and effort is being put on this entertainment to make it successful. Our young people are practicing early and late in order to perfect themselves in their parts. Several plays will be given entitled, "What Happened to Hannah," "Mrs. Stebbens's Book Agent," "Lucinda's Mistake," "Sire's Beau to Dinner," and "Advice Wanted." These are all fine up-to-date plays and can't fail to please. Three of the plays contain darky characters, which always are funny. Two monologues are to be given by two charming young ladies of the place which will also be much enjoyed as they contain many "hits." Those who have charge of the singing for the evening promise to please the audience. This will be worth seeing. Don't miss it. Bring all your friends and come yourself. Remember the date, February 18, Friday evening, at 7:30 sharp. A fine supper will be served at the end of the play and plenty of good home-made ice cream.

Mrs. W. H. Markle and Mrs. F. Zeaman were county seat visitors on Friday. A pleasant day was spent.

No meeting was held on Wednesday evening owing to the storm.

Miss Bessie Wood spent Friday with Miss Edna Markle.

Mrs. Jacob Baker has been suffering from a severe gathering in her head, which has caused her a great deal of pain.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Miller the past week, a son.

Oscar Mackey will leave for steady employment about March 1. He will be employed by Jerome Enderly at Whitfield.

CHICHESTER.

Chichester, Feb. 7.—Edward Schmeidel was in Kingston Tuesday.

Miss Jessie Satterlee of Branch has been visiting Mrs. John Wright of this place.

Watson Moon purchased a team of horses of William McGrath of Phoenicia recently.

Edwin L. Bennett of Tarrytown spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Emma Bennett during the week.

S. B. Schwarzwaelder made a trip to Kingston Tuesday.

The Maccabees held an oyster supper at the club house in this village last week. There were some present from Lanesville and Phoenicia.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanel, formerly of Shandaken have moved in one of William Schwarzwaelder's houses in this village.

Mrs. R. R. Bennett and Miss Emma Bruckner spent Thursday with Mrs. H. Lee Breitkaupt of Phoenicia.

Charles Lounsbar of Jewett was in this place on business Wednesday.

Miss Lillis Schwarzwaelder, who has been sick, is recovering.

A number of the young boys met at the home of Lansbran Colvin Thursday night to organize a Boy Scout troop. Henry Kohler was elected scout master.

G. W. Schwarzwaelder has been spending several days in New York.

Mrs. John Wright has gone to Randall to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. Cook.

Mrs. Estella O. Keefe is spending some time in New York city.

Elmer Bush is getting out timber, which he is having sawed into bridge plank and rails for the town.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"How is it I didn't see you at the charity meeting last night?" "It was I who passed the plate around!"—Judge.

"You say that man has no conscience?" "Well," replied Farmer Corntossel, "mebbe I oughtn't to say that. But if he has one, it can't be much use to him. They say conscience is a still small voice, an' the way he talks would keep it drowned out all the time."—Washington Star.

Beginning Early.

Jack disliked being kissed, and, being a handsome little chap, sometimes had a good deal to put up with. One day he had been kissed a lot. Then, to make matters worse, on going to the picture palace in the evening, instead of his favorite cowboy and Indian pictures, there was nothing but a lot more hugging and kissing.

He returned home completely out of patience with the whole tribe of women.

After he had been tucked into bed mother came in to kiss him goodnight.

He refused to be kissed.

Mother begged and begged, till in disgust he turned to his father, who was standing at the doorway looking on, and said:

"Daddy, for the love of Heaven, give this women a kiss!"—Tit-Bits.

Score, Nothing But Love.

At last the assembled guests began to grow impatient.

For the bridegroom was now a full hour late!

"Perhaps he won't come," they said among themselves. "Perhaps he got chilled feet, as the Americans say, at the last moment."

And they fidgeted and fidgeted. The church was beautifully decorated with brick blossoms and cross-eyed Bedelias.

Still the bridegroom failed to show up.

The best man, to relieve the tension, showed the bridesmaids a new step in the fox trot.

And now the bridegroom was two hours late!

The ushers started to match nickels and the minister filled his pipe again.

But at last there was nothing to do but declare the ceremony off, and everybody wandered disconsolately home.

"Oh, well," said one philosophical guest, "what's the odds? The bride wasn't there anyway."—Detroit Free Press.

His Only Right.

J. Pierpont Morgan, condemning an argument at a dinner in New York, said:

"These arguments are only striking because they are unfair. I once said to a Socialist, apropos of a tax of 70 per cent that he proposed on all incomes over $5,000:

" 'Has a rich taxpayer, then, no rights?'

" 'Certainly,' the Socialist answered. 'He has the right to pay taxes.' "—New York Sun.

WILLOW.

Willow, Feb. 7.—R. E. Wilber is hauling logs for John H. Humphrey to Shady.

Herbert Lane is replenishing the wood pile of Mrs. Martha Simons, who has been sick for some time, but we are happy to state that she is improving at present.

Benson Eighmey, who has been boarding for some time at the residence of Mrs. Bell Lane, has secured a position in Delaware county and left for that place on Wednesday.

M. F. Hoyt has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Chase Nurserys Company of Rochester, N. Y. We wish him success in his new enterprise.

The friends of Miss Elizabeth DeVall tendered her a birthday party on Tuesday evening, February 1. Everybody reports a fine time.

The Rev. Mr. Fife preached a very interesting sermon in the M. E. Church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen DeVall's dog, Fido, had the misfortune to get caught in a fox trap and will lose one of his feet. She has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

We understand that Berton Berger will make his last trip through DeVall Hollow on Sunday next for some time. He has also given up carrying the mail to Wittenberg. We understand Bert is going to leave in a few days for the season.

PATAUKUNK.

Pataukunk, Feb. 7.—Mrs. May Christian left for Kingston on Monday, where she has a position.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith made a business trip to Ellenville Monday, also William Simpson.

Mrs. Joseph Christian spent a day last week out of town.

Miss Flora Burger spent Saturday and Sunday last with Mrs. Wilklow.

Miss Sadie Simpson, who has been confined to her home with a severe cold, is able to be about and resumed her duties at Mettacahonts.

Miss Myrtle Osterhoudt of Kerhonkson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith on Sunday.

Miss Edith M. Dorn spent the week end at her home here.

Joachim Deyo of this place took a sleigh load of people up to Mr. and Mrs. Asa Gray's of Wawarsing for surprise party on Thursday evening. Those who went were: Mrs. Lottie Burger and daughter, Beatrice, Mrs. C. Terwilliger, Miss Della Osterhoudt, Jerry Quick, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Simpson and daughter, Eula, and Mrs. Joachim Deyo. The evening was spent playing games, after which bountiful refreshments were served, which were enjoyed by all. Mr. Deyo said the turkey was fine. The load returned home in the wee small hours of the morning, proclaiming the Grays as fine entertainers.

That Card of Thanks.

To the readers of The Freeman: In regard to the card of thanks in The Freeman of February 2 for the poisoning of cats, we have never heard of a card of thanks for such a deed. A card of thanks is given out in case of sickness or death to neighbors who stand by and help. This card of thanks is an insult to his neighbors, accusing them of poisoning his cats. We all have cats of our own and I don't believe any of his neighbors would stoop so low as to do such a dirty deed. I, for one, wish to do to my neighbors as I would have them do to me.

Selling Articles Below Cost

is an expression in advertising which the general public puts down as a fake. Nevertheless it is true that to move slow selling goods, or to stimulate business, or to attract particular attention to their store at some specific time merchants do actualy sell articles below, and at prices so near cost that the purchaser has the opportunity at that time to buy a much desired article at a price far below the price usually charged for that article.

I have gone through my stock and picking out articles here and there, have marked them at prices which if needed by you, it is to your advantage to buy these articles now.

It is a rule with me to keep my prices low, but these articles have been marked from 25 per cent to 65 per cent below the regular retail value. They are too numerous to list. Come and see for yourself. You will be well repaid for your time and trouble.

MORE REASONS FOR AN EMBARGO

Editor The Kingston Freeman.

Sir:—Additional reasons why the members of the Kingston Branch of the American Independence Union regard it as their moral duty as American citizens to insist that an embargo be placed by the American government on munitions of war are herewith submitted.

1. Because by our vast and unprecedented shipments of war supplies we are helping to prolong war and bloodshed, and to fill all Europe with widows and orphans and with men crippled and maimed for life. The war would end very soon and peace would be restored to a world longing for peace if we refused to feed the flames of war. By helping to prolong the war we are harming the legitimate interests of our own country.

2. Because the argument; this trade is a matter of business; it yields big profits; American trade and commerce must not be interfered with; some of our industries are prospering as a result of this export—is an argument so contemptible and sordid that it seems difficult to descend to a level where it can be dealt with, and that it seems increditable that it should ever be advanced by men endowed with the faculty of weighing moral issues and of distinguishing between right and wrong. It is the argument of the professional gunman who kills for hire. Where are the moral forces in our land! Where are the moral forces in our land? Where are the Christian churches? Where are the preachers of the Gospel? Where are the ambassadors of God? Why are their voices hushed? Why do they not cry out against this infamous traffic? Why do they not demand that America shall not profit from the shedding of human blood and from the slaying of our near relatives and friends?

3. Because even the Allies whom we are serving, whilst they applaud and encourage us, do not honor and respect us for our willingness to profit from the fratricidal traffic. How can they honor and respect us for it? John L. Stoddard, an American of English descent, wrote, "The John Bull you adore despises you." We have lost that which money can not buy back, which only an embargo can restore.

4. Because the neutral nations of Europe on account of this nefarious traffic are holding us up to the scorn of the world. We adduce only one example from many that could be cited. The "St. Galler Tagebiatt," one of the leading daily papers of Switzerland, in an editorial explaining the action taken by the Swiss national assembly when it laid an embargo on the export of arms and ammunition, and defending it against the contention of our present administration that an embargo laid during the progress of the war would constitute an un-neutral act against England, sarcastically said:

"In the eyes of all unprejudiced witnesses, the Swiss national assembly through its action conserved the principle of neutrality at least as well as the Government of the United States, which calls for peace prayers on Sunday, and on week-days permits its ammunition factories to work over-time, in order to prolong the human slaughter in Europe."

Unfortunately the pro-aliy press of our country does not print what the leading journals of the neutral nations are saying about our exportation of war material.

A golden opportunity to raise our country to a new and high standard of humanity and international morality was lost when at the begining of the war our administration refused to "follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality," to employ President Wilson's own words, by laying an embargo against all belligerents as we twice did against Mexico. We are making ourselves an object of derision by lecturing other nations on the subject of "humanity" and then failing to practice what we preach.

Yours truly,
The Publicity Committee of the American Independence Union.

Famous Trout Is Missed.

Sunbeam, the famous trout of Estes park, Colorado, who was trained so that when a glass tube was lowered into the water he would swim through it, and who had been admired by more than 500,000 tourists, has disappeared, leaving guides and other interested persons plunged into gloom in inverse ratio to his illumination.

Devilfish.

In Japan devilfish weighing 200 pounds are sometimes caught. These fish are amphibious; they are often seen wabbling on their tentacles like giant spiders in search of patches of sweet potatoes. The natives kill them with clubs. In the water they are caught in jars lowered to the bottom, which the octopus enters, thinking them a good retreat from which to catch his food.

Discouraging.

After a mother has taught her son not to keep his hands in his pockets, to turn his toes out and not to sniff his nose or smack his lips when he eats, it must be discouraging to hear people remark a month after his marriage that his wife made him.—Wichita Eagle.

Sand In Holland.

In Holland sand is plentiful and inexpensive and is used instead of hay and straw as beds for cows. It keeps the animals perfectly clean, requiring only a slight raking in the morning to soften and freshen it.—London Telegraph.

Perfectly Tame.

To say of a man that he will make a good husband is much the same sort of compliment as to say of a horse that he is perfectly safe for a woman to drive.—Puck.

HARVESTING ICE AT BINNEWATER

The creek front presented a busy scene this morning with a force of men at work unloading ice from box cars on the Ulster & Delaware tracks into ice barges moored at the dock. The ice being loaded is being harvested at Binnewater by the Foster Scott Ice Company and loaded into box cars and brought to Kingston over the Wallkill Valley railroad and switched on to the Ulster & Delaware lines and brought to Rondout. The ice runs about 11 inches in thickness.

Icemen have practically given up all hope of securing an ice crop from the Hudson river. The river is open to navigation and boats have no trouble in making the trip between Rondout and New York. On Sunday the Cornell tugs Hercules and Rose came up with a tow of light ice barges and on Sunday they left for New York with a tow of loaded ice barges. The barges being loaded in the creek today will also be towed to New York.

IKE DORGAN.

MORAN'S MANAGER A REAL FINANCIAL MANAGER.

New York, Feb. 7.—Ike Dorgan, a former newspaper man, who is now managing the destinies of Frank Moran, heavyweight aspirant for the championship has shown an uncanny genius for finance since his management of the Fittsburgher. Dorgan took Moran under his wing four months ago. Up until that time Moran had been a failure as far as making any money out of the pugilistic game was concerned.

Until his first fight with Coffey on October 19 last year, Moran had engaged in 40 fiights, 22 of which were knockouts. These included his bouts with Luther McCarthy and Jack Johnson in Paris. For his fight with Coffey Moran received $6,900 which, he says is more than he made out of all his fights previous to this. His share of the money from the second Coffey bought was $9,994. His share of the bout with Willard in New York on March 17, will be $20,000 and 30 per cent of the moving picture rights. Altogether under Dorgan's management Moran will have made close on to $50,000 from October last year to the end of March, this year.

TALISMAN OF THE CELTS.

Romance of the Lia Fail, a Curious Piece of Stone.

In every strongly Irish newspaper, either in America or in Ireland, there is the oft repeated threat: "Wait until we recover the Lia Fail. Then Ireland will become a republic." And the readers have asked again and again: "What is the Lia Fail? Where is it, and what is its magic power?" Those who remember the Fenian fiasco some years ago, will recall the battlecry of the troops, "Ho, for the Lia Fail!" The recovery of this Celtic talisman, however, would involve something more than a victory over some outlying province of Great Britain, for it is a part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is a curious piece of stone, a little more than two feet long, and is said to be the identical stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had his marvelous dream. It was taken to Ireland, according to tradition, before the Christian era, and its removal from that island meant the death of liberty and independence to the Celt.

After a century of possession it was conveyed to the Ionian islands, to be used in a coronation ceremony, and was never recovered. The kings of Scotland seized and held it as their mascot. By Edward I. it was carried to London among the spoils of war when the Scottish kingdom began to totter. The son of Edward attempted to restore the stone to the Scotch, but already it had taken such hold on the superstition of the English that they feared for their country, and a mob prevented its restoration.—Exchange.

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1916.—

GOVERNOR COMING TO OPEN EXHIBIT

Kingston Automobile Show to Include Good Points of Newburgh and Poughkeepsie Affairs and Then Some.

Plans for the Kingston automobile show were disucssed at a meeting Saturday afternoon of committees from the Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Club of Ulster county with representatives of all the automobile dealers in the city. Upon the latter will fall the burden of securing exhibits and judging from the enthusiasm and interest manifested, the Kingston show will have all of the good points of the Newburgh and Poughkeepsie exhibitions with a few more added.

Everett Fowler was chosen as chairman of the executive committee in charge of the show and Captain Frank L. Meagher was also added to the general committee. While the names of the Chamber of Commerce and Automobile Club representatives have been published, the complete list of the committees will be announced later.

Governor Whitman has promised to attend and make an address and may be secured to open the big exhibition once the date is set. The latter part of March is favored. Special trade inducements may be inaugurated by merchants in connection with the show.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Wesley Ellis announces the marriage of her daughter, Grace Lillian, to Roy Chauncey Bailey of Rhinebeck on February 4th, at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Milan, N. Y.

Owing to the Federation supper which was held last Saturday afternoon, the Coterie postponed its meeting until the next regular date, February 19th, when the Club will meet with Miss Burhans.

Westminster Guild Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Westminster Guild of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be held on Friday evening of this week, at 8:45 o'clock, in the chapel of the church.

Cleasw^ater-Edden.

Miss Mabel A. Edden of Irvington and Victor H. Clearwater of Highland were quietly married January 25 at Yonkers. After a short trip south the happy couple returned to Highland, going shortly to Lake Mohonk.

Bruner-Williams.

The marriage of Mrs. Melissa Williams of German street, this city, to Walter Bruner of Esopus township, was solemnized Sunday, February 6, at the parsonage of Trinity M. E. Church, the Rev. George E. Barber, the pastor, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Bruner will make their home in New Salem.

Van Demark-Rhodes.

Miss Blanche Rhodes of Tucker's Corner and Walter Van Demark of Bailey's Gap were married on Wednesday afternoon at the Friends' parsonage at Clintondale, by Rev. J. D. Piper. The bride was accompanied by a sister of the groom as bridesmaid, and Floyd Rhodes, a brother of the bride, asted as best man.

BYRON'S UNHAPPINESS.

His Icy, Frozen Mannered Wife and His Cruel Parents.

Marie Corelli, the English novelist, says poets do not really love. If they did they could not write about it. They imagine they love. And their imagination embraces many fair objects.

"Byron," she says, "was an unhappy man. But he was not as unhappy as he imagined himself to be. He found pleasure, even inspiration, in dwelling on his own troubles. Many poets do."

She tells us that Byron's mother had been a Miss Gordon before she married the shiftless and dissolute Captain Byron, the poet's father, and that amid constant quarrelings, thrashings and unjust abuse and the most coarse and intemperate language poor Byron began his career.

"With such a father and such a mother," says Miss Corelli, "the wonder is that he managed to store his mind with so many impressions of beauty and grandeur and that he was able to lift his soul above his surroundings to such a height of intellectual power. His mother's furious temper and her cruel mockeries stung him, not into a reply, but into silent and lonely brooding on his wrongs.

"He himself describes the sense of horror and humiliation which came over him when, in a fit of passion, she called him 'a lame brat.' When Sir Walter Scott met him he said he should scarcely have noticed it. In fact, the great novelist was as lame as the great poet, only Byron's brilliant personality made him, more than Scott, an object of comment. His marriage was a failure. It was a fortunate thing for literature that his wife left him after one year of matrimony.

"Had she remained with him his genius might have perished under the freezing influence of such a paragon of propriety and dullness. William Howitt tells us that Lady Byron had 'frozen moments.'

"'I have seen her,' he says, 'come down in the morning as if she had lain all night on a glacier, frozen, as it were, to the very soul, and no efforts on the part of those around her could restore her for the day to any genial social warmth.'"

What Puzzles Office Holder.

It's always hard for a man holding office to realize that the place used to be run without help and that it's going to be again.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Abram Kunst is in New York city today on business.

Miss Frances Oniker spent Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beadle, in Arkville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Galvin are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at their home, No. 27 Cedar street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marsh of Maryland are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Frank Thompson, of West Chestnut street.

Miss Dorothy Miller of Levan street graduated last week from the School of Certified Nurses at Albany with highest honor.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Spear and Miss Eva NyKamp of Euclid Heights, Cleveland, O., are visiting their sister, Mrs. George C. Dangremond.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason E. Carle, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Carle in Saugerties, have returned to their home in this city.

Hyman Avnet of Avnet Brothers is in New York city purchasing stock for the store in the Cordts building on the Strand, which they will shortly occupy as a clothing store.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Devries of Poughkeepsie returned to their home Saturday after a week's visit with Mrs. Elizabeth Gildersleeve of John street.

Mrs. J. I. Boice, who has been ill at Mrs. C. A. DuBois's on Oak street, has recovered and has gone to her home on Johnston avenue. She was attended by Dr. Norwood.

Miss Genevieve Roosa, who has been visiting Mrs. Frank Roosa of Rogers street, returned to her home in New York city today. She will attend the Wadreich high school of that city.

Mrs. Frank Roosa of Rogers street left this afternoon for New York city, where she will visit friends a few days, after which she will visit her sister, Mrs. Samuel Tell, of Lakewood, N. J.

Miss C. Burke of 67 Manor avenue is recovering from a very severe attack of pneumonia under the care of her sister, E. Burke, and Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen, who attended her twice a day.

Miss Harriet Church of High Falls was the guest on Sunday of Miss Hazel Byers of East Chester street. Both left today for Albany where they are students in the Albany State College for Teachers.

Commodore John Hermann, of the Kingston Yacht Club, and wife have left town for New York, and while there will attend the motor boat show at the Grand Central Palace. Mr. Hermann is the local agent for the Mianus Motor Works of Stamford, Conn.

Miss Eleanor Cooper of Broadway and Miss Laura Gildersleeve of East Chester street are studying in the library school of New York city. Miss Cooper has been assigned to the Eleventh Street Library, while Miss Gildersleeve is studying at the Washington Heights Library. Both were members of the 1915 Ulster Academy graduating class.

DAVID I. WALSH.

FORMER MASSACHUSETTS GOVERNOR NOW VICE PRESIDENT OF BRAVES.

Boston, Feb. 5.—Executive training in running a state seems to be a prelude to executive work in baseball. The first great example is, of course, John K. Tener, president of the National League, who was elected to that office while still governor of Pennsylvania. Now it is announced that David I. Walsh, former governor of Massachusetts, is vice president of the Braves under the new organization. Walsh owns a large share of the stock in the club.

Beauty and Ideals.

Browning makes Fra Lippo Lippi say: "If you get simple beauty and naught else you get about the best thing God invents, and you'll find the rest within yourself when you return him thanks." It seems to me that if we substitute for beauty, true ideals, the quotation applies most aptly to our view of the purpose of education. 'If you get true ideals and naught else, you get about the best thing God invents.'—Exchange.

To Remove Ink.

Cyanide of potassium will remove all indelible inks the base of which is nitrate of silver. Turpentine or alcohol rubbed in hot removes the new inks, using soda and soap freely in hot water afterward.

Raisins.

Of all the dried fruits none perhaps equals the raisin in food value and ease of digestion.

MASTERS OF CAPTURED SHIPS. ©INT. FILM SERVICE.

BRITISH CAPTAINS HELD AS PRISONERS ON APPAM.

Here are six capains of British trading vessels captured at sea by the German cruiser commanded by Lieutenant Berge. These sailing masters were taken on board the Appam by the Germans and brought to Newport News where they were subsequently released on demand of the United States authorities.

The captains and the ships they commanded, are:

TESTS FOR HEARING.

Rigid Ordeals For Candidates For Our Army and Navy.

The physical requirements of American soldiers and sailors are of a high standard as compared with those of other countries. The test for hearing, for example, in our navy and army is more severe than of any other country.

One of these tests for admission to our Naval academy may be taken as a typical example of the thoroughness with which the candidates' faculties are tested. In this test the ticking of a watch must be heard at forty inches in quiet surrounding, and this ticking must be heard at that distance by each ear separately. In addition to this, the candidate will be rejected if there is the slightest suggestion of any diseased condition about any portion of the ear.

In all the foreign navies, as well as in our own, the severest tests of hearing are imposed upon the men who are to undertake submarine service. In this service even an officer will not be accepted if the surgeon is able to find any evidence that he has ever been afflicted with ear trouble at any time. Thus a slight inflammation of the ear which occurred in childhood may disqualify the officer for submarine service, though his hearing may be so good that he would be readily accepted in any other branch of military service.—Los Angeles Times.

A Delicate, Tasteful Breakfast.

Apropos of monotonous unimaginative breakfasts, Thomas Love Peacock once drew up the menu for breakfast "for a man of taste." "Coffee, tea, cream, eggs, ham, tongue, cold fowl," he wrote, "all these are good and bespeak good knowledge in him who sets them forth. But the touchstone is fish. Anchovy is the first step, prawns and shrimps the second, potted char and lamprey the third, but lobster is, indeed, matter for a May morning and demands a rare combination of virtue and knowledge in him who sets it forth."—London Standard.

Scotch Judges' Frugality.

Scotland might safely be backed at least to rival England in the matter of frugality among her judges. There is Dean Ramsay's story of the dinner party given by Lord Polkemmet. When the covers were removed the guests were surprised to find that the dinner consisted of veal broth, a roast fillet of veal, veal cutlets, a florentine (an old Scottish dish composed of veal), a calf's head and calf's foot jelly. Observing the sensation, Lord Polkemmet explained: "Ou ay, it's a' cauf. When we kill a beast we just eat up ae side and down the tither."—London Chronicle.

Mammoth Cave.

"To me the Mammoth cave of Kentucky is simply a portion of the Grand Canyon of Colorado underground," says George Wharton James, the traveler and author, in "Our American Wonderlands." "Almost all the phenomena of the great cave are revealed in the Grand canyon region, and, given time enough, it is not inconceivable that the Mammoth cave might develop into a Grand canyon region of its own."

Kept Them Quiet.

"I went to a symphony concert yesterday afternoon."

"Did you enjoy it?"

"It was the most wonderful experience I ever had. Just think of sitting in the same room with 2,000 women and not one of them saying a word."—Melbourne Age.

Disappearing Cannon.

"Some of our cannon are disappearing," remarked the lieutenant.

"Well, things will disappear when you have careless help," responded the lady who was going over the fort. "I find that a great trouble about keeping house"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Saving.

Governess—Why don't you use your brains, Douglass?

"Because I want them to last."

Try this: When telling a piece of scandal, don't say "they say;" just say "I say."

OLDEST AMERICAN STATUE.

Found Near Vera Cruz, It Was Made Over Twenty Centuries Ago.

A small stone statue found near Vera Cruz, Mexico, which has been in the possession of the United States National museum since 1903, has been identified as the oldest known dated antiquity in America. Its ancient Mayan glyphic inscriptions show that it was made 100 years before Christ, which is the oldest date authenticated in the new world.

This unique image was found in 1902 near the gulf of Mexico, 100 miles southeast of Vera Cruz, and came to the museum through R. E. Uibricht the next year. It is of hard grayish green stone, carved into a rounded conical form, six and one-half inches high and three and three-fourths inches in diameter.

The upper part represents a human head with well defined features. The lower part of the face is covered with a mask, resembling the bill of a duck, carved in relief and extending down over the chest like a beard. The bird-like form is further emphasized by the wings, covering the sides of the figure. Beneath the wings the outlines of a bird's feet and legs are engraved.—New York Times.

Ancient Use of a Kiss.

A Roman woman in the ancient time was not allowed to drink wine except it were simple raisin wine, and, however she might relish strong drinks, she could not indulge even by stealth—first, because she was never intrusted with the key of the wine cellar and, second, because she was obliged daily to greet with a kiss all her own as well as her husband's male representatives, down even to second cousins, and as she knew not when or where she might meet them she was forced to be wary and abstain altogether, for had she tasted but a drop the smell would have betrayed her. So strict were the old Romans in this respect that a certain Ignatius Mercurius is said to have slain his wife because he caught her at the wine cask—a punishment which was not deemed excessive by Romulus, who absolved the husband of the crime of murder.

The Nice of Austria.

"The Nice of Austria" is the name by which Gorizia, or Goritz, is known among its habitues, owing to its mild climate. Curiously enough, the city furnishes a link with the French Bourbons, for in a Franciscan convent there lie the remains of Charles X. of France, the last of the Bourbons; of the Duke of Angouleme, his son, and of the Duc de Chambord, who died as recently as 1883. Gorizia, under Austrian rule, was the capital of the crown land of Gorz Gradisca and first appears in history toward the close of the tenth century, when it was bestowed on the church. It is still the seat of an archbishop, and its special industry, significantly, perhaps, has long been the printing of Hebrew books for the east.—London Spectator.

Ingenious Rimes.

Sir Owen Seaman is to be congratulated on his ingenuity in riming "Bagdad" with "swag, dad," but the palm for audacity in riming must remain with Browning, who matched "ranunculus" with "Tommy make room for your uncle us," or the seventeenth century bard who wrote:

The Duke of York a daughter had.
He gave the Prince of Orange her;
So now your majesty will see
I've found a rime for poringer.
—London Standard.

Welcome at Times.

"I wish a doormat," announced Mrs. De Style.

"Here is a very nice pattern," said the salesman, "with the word 'Welcome' woven into the fiber."

"I see. I suppose that will do if you can add the words 'Tuesdays and Fridays.'"—Pittsburgh Post.

Preparedness.

"Darling, won't you marry me? I would die for you!"

"How sweet of you! How much are you insured for?"—Baltimore American.

'Tis far better to love and be poor than be rich with an empty heart.—Lewis Morris.

Cost of His Salt.

A Hoosier, who has moved to southern California, writes to friends North, complaining of the "skinning of the 'natives' and tourists." "I always had believed," he wrote, "that the Pacific ocean was salty, yet we pay ten cents a pound for the same salt out here that we used to buy for three cents a pound in Indianapolis—and I never heard of any 'native' salt being discovered in White river, Fall creek, Pogues and Pleasant runs."

To Tighten Loose Machine Belt.

Instead of stopping your work when the sewing machine belt gets loose and taking time then to cut it off and fasten it, simply slip a few large rubber bands over the small wheel. They will hold the belt firmly until time for permanent repairs can be taken.—Good Housekeeping.

Self Confidence

The advertisements in this newspaper testify to the faith of the advertisers in themselves and their goods.

The advertisers believe in their ability to please you; to make good in every respect or else they would not invite your patronage.

Self confidence usually has something substantial to back it up.

It is a factor that should at least help in determining your favor toward advertisers.

They come to you frankly with their message and at the very least the latter is worth your reading.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Helen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dutcher of Allaben, died at the family home on Tuesday, February 1. A little over a year ago they lost their only son.

The funeral of William Palen, who died of tuberculosis Thursday afternoon at Walden, was held Sunday in Brooklyn under Masonic auspices. Deceased was a native of Lincolnshire, England, and was 32 years old. A widow and a daughter survive.

Cornelius Eckert aged 17 years, died this morning at the home of his father, Henry Eckert, of 27 Franklin street. Beside his parents he is survived by four brothers, Jacob, Harry and Grant of Oneonta and Cleveland of Woodstock. The funeral will be held from the family home on Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock with interment in Shokan Cemetery.

Christina H. Finger, widow of the late Phineas R. Finger, died at her home on Liberty street this morning. Mr. Finger died about a year ago. Mrs. Finger had a large circle of friends and acquaintances to whom she endeared herself by her high character. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Charles H. Deyo, Mrs. Thomas Wilson and Mrs. Josiah Doughty, all of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Magee, of West Camp. The funeral will take place from the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the interment will be in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Philip H. Cramer, a widely known and highly respected resident of Flatbush, died at his home there Sunday night at 9 o'clock in his 85th year. Deceased had been ill several weeks. He was a native of Flatbush and a farmer practically all his life. For many years Mr. Cramer had been a member of the Flatbush Reformed Church. He leaves a son, Charles Cramer, who resides with him, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Clarence J. Babcock of Kingston. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the late home, with interment in Trinity Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McMullen of Allen street, Saugerties, who celebrated the 61st anniversary of their marriage on Janary 7, died at their home, Mr. McMullen, passing away Saturday afternoon and Mrs. McMullen Sunday morning. Their entire married life had been spent in Saugerties. The husband was one of the few of the old employes of the Ulster Iron Works living. He was born in County Longford, Ireland and came to America with his parents in 1835. His wife, Martha Burnett, was born in Saugerties in 1837. They were married January 7, 1855. They were the oldest members of Trinity Episcopal Church, of which for fifty years he had been sexton. He was a member of Ulster Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F., and Thomas Wildy Encampment, No. 39. Of thirteen children born to them, six survive, James E., William, and Mrs. Viola Jack of Saugerties, John, and Mrs. William Wolven, of Newark, N. J., and Martha, wife of Albert Whitney of Malden, N. Y. The funeral will be held Thursday, February 10, from the late residence at 2 o'clock, and Trinity Episcopal Church at 2:30. The interment will be in Trinity Cemetery.

Value of Good Intentions.

ADVERTISEMENT WRITING.

"DIED of Slip-Shod Advertising Methods" could be written over the grave of many a dead business. "Oh, that's good enough," is the siren song that has lured store after store onto the shoals of bankruptcy or financial disaster. Advertising pays if judiciously written; careless methods are extravagance. My advertisement, booklet and circular building weaves itself into the woof and warp of the fabric that binds trade together. Write me for terms. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

He replied, "Why Jedge, its from the Scripture." I said "From the scripture, what part of the scripture?," and he said, "Don't you know that part where it says Hallowed be thy name?" During the past week in a negligence case which I had at Middletown a woman was being questioned by one of the attorneys. These questions became embarrassing and finally she said "I can't answer that, its something I can't repeat to any gentleman.", The attorney told her softly "Well you don't have to say it out loud, whisper it to the judge."

My friends, I wonder do we appreciate fully the charm of our town? We admit its setting, and its surroundings to be serenely majestic and beautiful, but we think of them most rarely. We have to be reminded of them by strangers in our midst. We have here a material equality which is almost socialistic in its perfection and its idealism. We have no very rich, we have no very poor. We have a body of contented, cultured, virile Americans, industrious and happy and the fortunes of all so nearly equal as to admit of small distinction. The most valuable ingredient in American life is democracy. Its symptoms are most patent in the village life of the republic and the predominant characteristic of this good town in which we dwell, and its predominant quality is democracy.

The people of our village will tolerate all as equal, but none as superior. Its climate and spirit are benign, but there is one ailment and frailty which is fatal here and it is "'cranial elephantitis," some times known as "big head."

My friends, to this good village I owe all. To me in boyhood it gave educational facilities unsurpassed. As a youth with no experience and meagre abilities it gave me professional help and assistance and in my participation in our public affairs it has scorned the fetters of party fealty. In its charity it has overlooked my faults, and it has found in the words, "He is from home," a final answer to the most meritorious objections. My friends, my measure of success has been small; my accomplishment has been modest, but all I have and all I am, I owe to you. You have given me all.

The French say, that gratitude is the least of virtues, but that ingratitude is the worst of vices, and so I say tonight in this presence, "Old town, I salute thee. To thee, Fostering Mother, am I indeed grateful. To thee who have looked upon me with benign and loving eye, to thee who have showered me with thy gifts and thy favors and thy good will, I dedicate feeble talents and limited abilities. For thy renown and thy glory is our renown and our glory; for, dear old town, thou art home—the spot of earth supremely blest, a dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest."

Religion in Daily Life.

Inasmuch as there is an old saying that "the law and the gospel go hand in hand," Toastmaster DeVany introduced as the next speaker, the Rev. Father Dougherty, who spoke of the judge's religious fidelity. Knowing something of Judge Cunningham's character from long association, he knew he was not mistaken in saying that whether the judge was Baptist or Presbyterian, Dutch Reformed or Catholic, or whatever denomination he might have belonged to, he would live faithfully in his daily life to the obligations of the church to which he belonged. There is a growing feeling that men in public life can excuse themselves from their religious duties, but we know from observation and from the study of history that this is not true, because civilization and all its benefits are founded on religious principles, whose application in daily life make for the advancement of character and the amelioration of conditions which we deplore. It is the active practice of religious principles in daily life that result in benefit to the human race.

Father Dougherty reviewed the advancement of civilization from the days when Athens was the center of the world's civilization, until the present day. Whenever barbarism threatened to wipe out civilization, religion intervened and forced it not only to return to its former high stand but to advance further, so that religion in public life has been no small matter in the world's history. In his every day life Judge Cunningham had proved himself faithful to his religious principles, and his private life had been an incentive to others, to whom his faithfulness to the principles of religion and to his God must be a stimulus to better personal effort. He hoped the future held higher honors in store for him, but should he go down to old age without further honor, he would be able finally to close his eyes in peace, resting in the knowledge that he had been faithful to his country, to God and to his religion.

Rev. Dr. Mosher's Tribute.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Mosher, pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Episcopal Church, was the next speaker, and said that although he had been a resident of Ellenville for only three years he had taken an active interest in Judge Cunningham since twelve years ago, when he had been stationed at Marlborough, and the judge had been a candidate for assemblyman. He had followed his career with so much interest as soon as he realized his own duties kept him busy elsewhere, that he could do no better than to place the judge under the care of his own small boy. (Laughter.) It had been said of one of our presidents that the reason for his success was the fact that he loved his mother, and from personal experience he knew that Judge Cunningham's love for his mother had contributed in no small measure to his success. The personal life of Judge Cunningham had been above reproach or criticism and such lives were an incentive to every young man. Dr. Mosher closed a glowing tribute to the manly conduct of the judge with an incident which occurred some time ago, after the judge had been signally honored. Turning to his mother, he had exploded in this fashion: "Mother, today is my birthday. Do you realize that thirty-five years ago today you started to become famous? Aren't you proud of me?"

"Of course she is," said Dr. Mosher feelingly, turning to the place where the judge's mother sat, and then turning to the banqueters he added, "And so are we."

Judge Beebe's Prediction.

The Hon. George M. Beebe, formerly of Middletown, was the next speaker. Judge Beebe for eighteen years was one of the judges of the Court of Claims, and when he retired from the bench and sought for the balance of his life a place where he would find all that made life most desirable, he had selected Ellenville, said Toastmaster DeVany, because of its salubrious climate and delightful water.

"Your toastmaster would have you believe that I am a chameleon, living on air and water," said Judge Beebe, "but if I hadn't found something more substantial, something like the good things I have found here tonight, I wouldn't be here to add my tribute to your guest of honor." (Laughter and applause.)

"A monument of laurels piled on a grave can be of no service or satisfaction to him who lies beneath them," said Judge Beebe, "and the time to show appreciation is while a man is alive." There was no man of his acquaintance more worthy of the respect shown to him in this outburst of enthusiasm than Judge Cunningham, and it was fortunate to have as a guest of honor one whom it was no flattery to extol. Though he had known Judge Cunningham but a few years, he esteemed his excellence and in addressing his comparatively recent neighbors on this occasion, he felt that the spirit of prophesy was on him. The past was but an indication of what the future would be, and what Judge Cunningham had achieved, he would achieve; coming events cast their shadow before, and not speaking as in a glass darkly, because light from the clergy present dispelled the darkness, but in a spirit of prophecy which he believed would be fulfilled, Judge Beebe said he saw the evening's guest of honor seated on the supreme court bench, then on the Court of Appeals of New York state and finally wrapped in the robe of a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. "I may not see it in my day, because I am growing old," said Judge Beebe, "but ere his hair has become mottled with gray many of you here tonight will say that the spirit of prophecy surely is on me tonight.

"I know that flattery to the face is not exactly the thing for anyone to say, but I know that he knows how to stand it because his head is level, and it is work and the fruits of labor he seeks and not flattery. It is said that a man is not without honor save in his own country, but there is an exception to the rule, and there sits the exception. I hope that all he has marked out for himself he will do, and I believe that his future accomplishments will far transcend all that he has accomplished in the past. Let him continue as he has done, and when old age overtakes him it is with the comforting thought when he lies down his head that he will realize that in all things he has served his country and his fellow men well. I hope to see him climb still higher the ladder of fame, and as he does climb it surely will be with honor to himself, to his country and to us."

Judge Jenkins Pays a Tribute.

Judge Jenkins was the last speaker of the evening, and on account of the lateness of the hour spoke briefly. Judge Cunningham's ability was not merely appreciated in the hazy distance, he said, but his neighbors and friends, who knew him best, by their action in paying honor to him while he was among them, paid the highest tribute which one man could pay to another. He was not only the product of environment, but by nature he had shown that he was able to co-ordinate his mind and all his abilities on his work, and that in addition to the influences which already had been mentioned had aided in the successful career to which with his fellow citizens he was glad to pay honor.

At the close of the banquet a flashlight picture of the banquet hall and everyone present was made by Photographer Wright of Ellenville.

Concert Tonight.

Tonight the first of the Symphony Orchestra Concerts for this season will be given at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. While the sale of patrons, and subscribers' tickets as well as single tickts, has been unusually large, still, owing to the size of the auditorium, there will be a goodly number of excellent seats to be had tonight. There will be additional trolley cars in waiting at the close of the concert, which judging from the last rehearsals will be the finest, from the point of artistic rendition, that the sociey has yet given.

Ladies' Auxiliary to Attend.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will attend the union evangelistic service in St. James's M. E. Church on Wednesday evening. The ladies will meet at the home of the Misses Forsyth, No. 41 Pearl street, at 7:30 o'clock. All those who expect to attend are requested to notify the president of the organization not later than Tuesday evening so that seats may be reserved at the church.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 7.—A more cheerful outlook in regard to the diplomatic situation and the maintenance of better relations with Germany was reflected in brisk buying of stocks and many issues made substantial gains during the first fifteen minutes. Steel Common which was regarded as the key to the general market situation, advanced 1¼ to 84. American Smelting rose 1⅛ to 100¾, and the railway issues made gains ranging from fractions to a point with New Haven in good demand in response to the anouncement of President Elliott that no new securities will be issued by the company but that its maturing notes will be provided for by extension. American Beet Sugar advanced 2 points to 67. Mexican Petroleum rose 2¾ to 109¼, Studebaker 2⅛ to 152, Industrial Alcohol 1¾ to 154, and National Lead a point to 69½. Lackawanna Steel was the only important exception to the general display of strength. That stock was placed for sale at concessions because of the announcement of the abandonment of the merger scheme. It sold at the opening at 77¾ and 76, followed by a rally to 79.

Stocks continued in good demand throughout the late forenoon, and many issues made brisk advances. There was persistent accummulation of steel common which after receding to 83½, rallied to 84. Baldwin Locomotive rose 4⅞ to 117, Mexican Petroleum 4⅛ to 110⅝, and Marine preferred 4 points to 77⅞. Pressed Steel Car and Great Northern Ore both made gains of around a point. Southern Pacific advanced ¾ to 100⅝, Union Pacific ¼ to 134, and fractional upturns were made in Erie and St. Paul. Crucible Steel was actively traded in, and after advancing to 83½ dropped to 81⅝ followed by a rally to 82⅞. Money lending at 1¾ per cent.

Trading diminished in the late afternon and many of the leading issues, including Steel Common, reacted slightly under moderate pressure. The specialties however continued strong. International Nickel advanced to 212, a gain of 8 points in all, Baldwin to 118¼, a gain of 6 points, Studebaker to 154, a gain of 4⅛ points, Texas Company to 209½, a gain of 4 points and Willys-Overland to 229, a gain of 4 points. The railway issues were inactive and the copper stocks showed only trifling changes.

Had All He Wanted.

The worthy old sportsman had asked, out of the kindness of his heart, a few subalterns to shoot his birds He passed a wearing afternoon. When evening came the old man examined himself carefully to make sure he really had escaped peppering. "Temporary officers," said he, "are all right in their way; temporary gentlemen we have to put up with, but heaven save me from any more temporary sportsmen."

First and Second Wives.

The second wife is usually happier than the first because by that time a man has got all his bachelor theories about "how to rule a woman" and "how to make over a wife" out of his system.—Exchange.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Policeman Reardon while patroling his beat at an early hour this morning found a stray horse on the streets which he stabled in Grove Webster's livery on Mill street.

The Women's Work Society of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will hold a regular monthly meeting in the chapel on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Dutch Arms entertainment, the Lowry, Lawrence Company, will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Wednesday evening, February 16, instead of February 8, as previously announced.

A regular monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church will be held this evening in the lecture room of the church at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Friday afternoon Miss Davis and the director of the Industrial Art Department, Robert J. Service, took twenty-five girls from the domestic science class in the high school to Stock & Cordts's to study period furniture. All were shown every courtesy by the management and highly appreciated the opportunity which proved so instructive.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The following lodges hold regular meetings this evening:

Kingston Encampment, No. 125, I. O. O. F., in Odd Fellows' Hall, 635 Broadway.

Central Trade and Labor Council, at 635 Broadway.

Bricklayers and Masons' Union, No. 14, at the city hall.

Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, in Pythian Hall, corner of Wall and John streets.

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, at K. of C. Club.

St. Peter's Commandery, No. 317, Knights of St. John, in St. Peter's Hall.

Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., in Masonic Hall, Strand.

Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, in Mechanics' Hall, Henry street.

Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Free and Accepted Masons, has accepted the invitation of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, Free and Accepted Masons, to be present at the latter's session this evening, when District Deputy Grand Master Alfred D. Van Buren will make his official visit. Trolley cars will leave in front of Masonic Hall, Wall street, at 7 o'clock, and the officers request a large attendance of members.

On Tuesday evening C. S. Clay Lodge, No. 528, I.O.O.F., will confer the third degree on two candidates. This is the last degree on these candidates and it is very much desired that old members of the degree team may be present so that the degree team may be perfectly exemplified. A large attendance of members would be a great help to the degree team as well as the candidates. Any Odd Fellows who are visiting in the city are cordially invited to meet with the lodge at its hall over John and Wall streets.

Final arrangements have been made for the big union meeting of the various tribes of Red Men throughout Ulster County which is to be held in the wigwam of Minnewaska Tribe, No. 130, Improved Order of Red Men, in their rooms 635 Broadway, Thursday evening. Sachem Leo V. Grogan has heard from several tribes throughout the county and they promise him their hearty support in making this meeting one of the biggest nights of Redmanship that has ever been held in Kingston. Charles H. Smith, great sachem of the state of New York, and Great Prophet William B. Cheney of this state will be present and deliver addresses. It is expected that many Red Men in Ulster county will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear two of the best speaker in the order.

For Polishing Glass.

Calcined magnesia, rubbed down with pure benzine, makes an excellent preparation for cleaning and polishing the surfaces of fine glass, such as costly mirrors, etc. The mass formed must be sufficiently soft to allow drops of the liquid to be squeezed out of it. The mixture should be kept in closely stoppered bottles, and, in use, a little of it is placed on a bit of cotton or a soft rag with which the glass is rubbed.

Remarkable Echo.

There is an extraordinary echo in the cathedral at Pisa. If you sing two notes there is no reverberation, but if you sing three they are taken up, swelled and prolonged into a beautiful harmony.

Crockery and Glassware

Visitors to this store this week will find a multitude of articles displayed on the first floor that will prove of considerably more than ordinary interest. We have gone over our Glassware and Crockery stocks and gathered together all the odd pieces and left-overs in decorated goods and plain and white hotel ware. These have been placed upon special tables and marked at prices below original cost. In fact some of the pieces could not be obtained at double the sale prices ordinarily, and to say that women are greatly pleased with these splendid bargain opportunities is stating the truth without embellishment. To illustrate how eagerly the goods on the tables are snapped up by thrifty shoppers we mention the fact that one day last week we delivered twelve clothes baskets filled with such purchases.

This Crockery and Glassware clean-up is an annual event with us. Those who have attended former similar sales come again each succeeding year, for they have learned that it pays them to do so.

Why Falsehoods Live.

Some men relate what they think, as what they know; some men of sanguine memories, and habitual inaccuracy, ascribe to one man what belongs to another; and some talk on without thought or care. A few hints are sufficient to broach falsehoods which are afterwards innocently adopted by successive relaters.—Johnson.

Remarkable Balanced Rock.

In Acushnet, Me., are two rocks peculiarly situated on a ledge and apparently placed there by glacial action. The larger rock weighs probably several hundred tons, and years ago it is said this could be tilted by pushing against it. There are evidences that at some time smaller rocks were placed as wedges to keep the great rock motionless.

CARPENTERS' UNION HOLDS A BANQUET

Twenty-ninth Anniversary of Organization Celebrated at The Stuyvesant with Dinner and Speeches—History and Membership of the Union.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the signing of their charter was fittingly celebrated by the carpenters of this city when Kingston Local, No. 251, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, held a banquet at the Stuyvesant Hotel on Saturday evening, February 5, 1916. Over one hundred members and their guests were present and partook of the splendid menu which was faultlessly served. The menu:

Oyster Cocktail.
Tomato Bisque.
Celery. Queen Olives.
Radishes. Salted Almonds.
Planked Roe Shad, ala Tubby, Maitre d'Hotel.
Salade Concombres.
Pommes de Terre' Duchess.
Croquettes of Sweetbreads aux Petit Pois.
Sherbet ala Snow.
Ulster County Turkey, Dressing ala Sawdust.
Rotis aus Cannaberge.
Puree Pommes de Terre,
Asparagus Tips an Beurree.
Salad ala Gerhardt.
Glace Fantassie au Oak and Mahogany.
Gateau Assorted Nuts and Screws.
Coffee.

After the good things had been stowed away, Harry F. Gerhardt, secretary of local, as toastmaster, introduced Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., who gave a very pleasing address on the evolution of the carpenter trade from the time of the first carpenter nineteen hundred years ago and up to the present time. He also stated that employers and employes were getting to understand each other better and that as a consequence mostly all grievances between capital and labor were settled by arbitration first instead of strike first and arbitrate after. The mayor's remarks were greatly appreciated by all of the members present, and he was given a vote of thanks for his very able address.

Toastmaster Gerhardt then introduced Daniel F. Featherstone, one of the general organizers from headquarters, who spoke on what the word brotherhood meant to organized labor. He gave a history of the labor movement and of the brotherhood since its institution on August 1, 1881, when there were only about twenty members in the organization, whereas today there are 261,000 members on the roll or in other words, the second largest labor organization in the world. He spoke on the amount of money paid in sick and death benefits, which amounts to $40,000 per month. During his remarks he stated that the prospects for work for the coming spring were the best that they have been for the past ten years and in closing he extended to the members the best wishes for the continued growth and prosperity of the organization, both from himself and for the general officers. Telegrams were received from William L. Hutcheson, general president, and Theo. W. Guerin, member of the general executive board, from the first district, stating their inability to be present owing to pressing business matters pertaining to the brotherhood, but extending to the members their kindest and best wishes for the success of the banquet. Too much credit cannot be given the management of the Stuyvesant Hotel for the excellent manner in which the banquet was served and the program carried out. The affair will be remembered for many a year by all the members who were privileged to be present.

History of the Local.

Twenty-nine years ago on February 5th, 1887, the first meeting to organize a Local of Carpenters in Kingston was called to order in the city hall by Henry B. Gerhardt, organizer of the local. There were nine men who signed their names to a petition asking the general office to grant them a charter. The charter was granted on March 15, 1887, and was signed by the following men: Henry B. Gerhardt, Charles Weiss, Joseph J. Tubby, William D. Costello, Joseph J. Schepmoes, Philip Hyman, Joseph Weiss, Simon S. Middah and George Dufner and was signed by W. J. Shields, general president and F. J. McGuire, general secretary. Charles Kohler became a member on March 15, 1887, but his name was not on the petition and therefore does not appear on the charter, but as he joined before the charter was closed he is considered a charter member. After meeting in the city hall for a number of years the local moved to Lutz's Hall on Broadway, but only remained there a short time removing to Cooney's Hall on Railroad avenue where their stay was of short duration. When Peter Measter built what is known as Odd Fellows' Hall, No. 635 Broadway, the local moved into the new building and has made it its headquarters ever since. In 1909 Local No. 1,560, composed of the millmen of this city decided that for the best interests of both Locals, 1,560 and 251, it would be a wise move to consolidate and the same was accomplished during the latter part of the year, and since then the local has been in a very good condition both numerically and financially.

The officers for the present term are: Joseph J. Tubby, president; Adolph Knapp, vice-president; Edward N. Snow, recording secretary; Harry F. Gerhardt, financial secretary; Jacob L. Messinger, treasurer; Augustus J. Kohler, warden; John M. Marks, conductor; John M. Marks, John H. Berger, Joel J. Christiana, trustees.

The roll of membership is as follows:

Willard C. Ackert, Joseph Atkins, John H. Berger, Alfred Barley, Harvey H. Buckley, Henry J. Bartsch, Herman P. Bartsch, Lewis Breitkaupt, Henry Brandow, Charles A. Burroughs, Lester Brauchle, Raymond J. Brink, Charles A. Brown, John Brown, Augustus Burnette, Cilbert Barley, William H. Burhans, James Beatty, Willis Brower, Charles J. Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes.

Scott's is pleasant to take.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 7.—The services in the Methodist Church Sunday morning were very impressive. Preceding the sermon a class of seven young men united with the church on probation, five of whom received the rite of baptism. The pastor, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, delivered a very helpful and powerful sermon from these words: "Come Thou With Us and We Will Do Thee Good." Num. 10:29. The pastor is very much in earnest and is so encouraged by the manifestations of the prevailing spirit that so many are inquiring the way of salvation and are linking themselves with the great chain—the church. A letter of transfer was also read.

The Teachers' Bible Training Class will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church. The class is in charge of the pastor, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout. Everyone interested in the systematic study of the Bible is urged to join.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hutchings on Broadway Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All interested in this line of church work are invited to be present.

Mrs. Martha Neal and daughter, Mary, of Salem street, spent Thursday with relatives in Kingston.

Thursday evening will be Port Ewen night at the meetings being held at St. James's Methodist Church and all who anticipate going must be present at St. James's Church promptly at 7 o'clock. The pastor desires a large representation. Let every one make an effort to be present.

Wednesday evening Division No. 3 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will repeat the play called "The Raz Social." In connection with the play they will hold a bazaar. No admission to the entertainment, but a free will offering will be taken. Ice cream on sale by the plate or cone. Everyone invited.

The coming event is the leap year supper to be prepared and served by the young men of the Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday, February 29, 1916. Further details regarding this super will be announced later in these items. Watch out.

A. E. Neal of Phoenicia spent the week end with Mrs. Martha Neal and family on Salem street.

Mrs. Harry Secor and Mrs. Otis Terwilliger, who have been the guests of friends in Sloatsburgh, N. Y., have returned home.

Miss Mildred Short and Mrs. Ernest Hutchings of Broadway spent Sunday with Mrs. Era Wood and the Misses Ola and Bessie Short in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rodman and son, Andred J. Jr., and daughter, Jennie, of Hasbrouck street were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rodman at the "Restmore," on South Broadway on Sunday.

The Ever Ready Club will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of Miss Mary F. Bishop. A full attendance is desired.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, Feb. 7.—Harvey Short made a business trip to Haines Falls on Tuesday.

Miss Hazel Myers, who is attending school at Spencer's, Kingston, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Anna Eltinge is ill.

R. Ingersoll of Munnsville, N. Y., who represents the Munnsville Plow Company, passed through this place on Wednesday.

The topic for Epworth League on February 13, is "Mystery of a Minority's Might." Leader, F. B. Happy.

A. P. Barclay of Kingston spent Sunday in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Winnie of Beechford spent Sunday with friends in this place.

Prayer meeting will be held on Thursday night at 7:30.

Miss Ethel M. Short, who is employed at Kingston, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Short.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES WIN

Saturday afternoon the Midgets piled up a score of 70 to 9 while playing the Rhinebeck Juniors. When the Midgets, who are well named, came out on the floor, and shook hands with the five from over the river each little Midget had to look up in the air about 6 or 8 inches at the least to look into the eyes of his opponent. This did not discourage the Kingston players in the least for they set to work, and during the first half compiled the somewhat uneven score of 30 to 6. The maroon and white had scarcely an opportunity to score that she did not make the best of, and such excellent passwork was done by the original five that Coach Schumaker thought he would give the visitors a chance so he took out of the game all the Midgets who had been scoring.

It must be said for the Rhinebeck, Juniors that they were a pick-up team, and were not all juniors, but this should detract little from the glory of the victory if it is considered that the Midgets are for the most part freshmen. The summary:

High School Girls, 22; Rhinebeck Girls, 9.

While the Rhinebeck Juniors were on their way to the Colonial City to meet their doom at the hands of the Midgets, they met the G. A. A. team going in the opposite direction to try their luck with the Rhinebeck girls. The local girls, unlike their little brothers, did not pile up an unheard of score, and either from kindness or necessity retired from the field of battle with the quite customary score of 22 to 9.

The teams were well balanced in regard to bodily weight and it was only by great agility and skill that the Kingston girls were able to get away from the close guarding of their opponents.

Our girls have heretofore been accumtomed to play with the girls basketball rules, that allow only the forwards to make baskets. However, last Saturday they departed from this custom and so in the following we find that one of the guards helped build the score:

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Feb. 6, 1896—H. A. Duryea of Brooklyn in town seeking site for cork factory.

Police Constable White said to be best revolver shot on police force.

Reported that Harry T. Howard and Charles A. Weireter had watches stolen at Academy of Music while attending Rondout Social Mannerchor's ball.

Excelsior Hose Company incorporated.

Feb. 7, 1896—Exciting freshet in Rondout creek caused by unprecedented fall of rains; shipping swept out of creek, canal boats sunk and people driven from their homes.

The Hon. Charles A. Fowler died at Sahler's sanitarium.

Catherine Gallagher and Margaret Kerr sued Kingston Water Company for $7,500 damages claiming Sawkill creek diverted to their injury.

Feb. 6, 1906—Coldest day of winter, thermometers registered 8 degrees below zero.

The Rev. Richard Lewis Shurter died at Newburgh.

Senator Cordts's bill amending city charter not opposed.

Ferry Riverside laid up on account of ice in creek, and people walked across.

Feb. 7, 1906—Judge Betts granted non-suit in suit of Arthur Bailey against Steep Rocks Ice Company to recover $10,000.

Arthur E. Fronefield had narrow escape from drowning when he stepped in hole in ice in creek.

Anniversary of Rosendale Scouts.

The fifth anniversary of the Rosendale Troop of Boy Scouts will be observed on Tuesday evening, February 8, by a reception at All Saints' parish house, Rosendale, and a play given by members of the troop, a sketch "The Holy Terror." Music by Mattman's orchestra.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

"Peace has come in the baseball world,"
The news dispatches said.
"Everything will be lovely now,
"The Federals are dead."
Yet when we con the daily sheets,
And absorb what they say,
It seems to us that peace talk's bunk,
That war is here to stay.

The verbal battle between Charles Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Ed. G. Barrow, president of the International League, for a purse of $74,000.

A bout involving the Yankee, Senator and Phillie owners for the possession of Second Baseman Joe Gedeon:

Dave Fultz's broadside attack upon the National Commission:

Ban Johnson's fight to bring about the death of the commission in its present form.

Fred Toney's tussle to shake down the Reds for more salary; Harold Janvrin's ditto act with the Red Sox.

Peace? Who said peace?

Welsh Being Disregarded.

Pugilistic fandom just now is witnessing a spectacle without parallel—the casting of a divisional champion into the discard. Freddie Welsh is the party under discussion. He has been beaten so often and so badly in his bouts in this country the past year that he remains a champion in name only.

He no longer is a drawing card. No longer do the fight club promoters seek out Welsh when they want to frame an all-star lightweight card. They sign up other fighters, men who have made better records than has Welsh during the past year.

Baseball Salaries Slump.

The era of high salaried ball players is over. Garry Herrman "tipped the mitt" of the baseball moguls in Cincinnati recently, when he said, answering Fred Toney's demands for $6,000 per year:

"The offer of $3,200 per year made to Toney is the top-notch price that will be paid to ball players in the future. Of course, the men whose contracts now call for higher figures will be paid according to the contract figures. But when those agreements expire there will be reductions all along the line."

Fulton's "Doctored" Record.

The press agent for Fred Fulton, sometimes called "The Pugilistic Lemon" surely is a wonder at covering up the flivvers made by Fulton.

On the huge sheet, in which is told of Fulton's greatness, there are two lines which read as follows:

"Fulton has had 32 fights—31 of which have been knockouts—a record unsurpassed by any other boxer in the history of pugilism."

The innocent bystander concludes, upon reading those lines, that Fulton has won 31 fights via the knockout route. But such is not the case. Thirty one of the fights that Fulton engaged in may have ended in knockouts—but not all of them were in favor of Fulton. The big blacksmith suffered two or three knockouts himself—but the press agent doesn't say so.

The press agent does ont deny that Fulton has been knocked out. He admits it—but in such a way as to give the impression that it was Fulton who scored the knockout—not Fulton who suffered them.

How Ban Was Fooled.

Stony McLinn, who acquired hugh gobs of fame as a sporting writer in Philadelphia, has taken unto himself the editorship of The American Shooter, a new magazine devoted to trap-shooting. Among McLinn's first compositions is the following story concerning Ban Johnson, the American League chieftain:

"Some years ago, it seems, Ban Johnson and Charles Comiskey started on a hunt. The game they sought was quail. Now, the league chieftain is a good shot, but on this occasion it was intended that he should not hit anything. Therefore, somebody carefully extracted the shot from Ban's shells and replaced it with sand.

Under the circumstances, nobody objected when Johnson took the first shot every time a covey of quail was flushed. But Ban hit nothing. Comiskey shot next, and invariably a dead bird was the result. Johnson said sulphurous words and blamed it on his gun, his shells, and about everything he could think of. But not once did the great Ban drop a bird.

That evening when camp was reached Ban noticed that mention of his failure to bag birds caused eyes to twinkle and coughs to cover what might have been laughter. He decided upon an investigation. The first shell showed him why he had not hit the quail."

Poughkeepsie Auto Show Closed.

More than 3,000 persons paid admissions at Poughkeepsie's automobile show. "Dutchess County Day" marked Saturday and the wind-up of the show came with a dance.

Watch the Cat.

Cats are said to wash right over their ears when rain is approaching.

A HUNGRY MAN, NOT A FAKER.

Business Man Conducts Personal Investigation at Some Small Cost.

In lieu of change, a Rondout business man sent a panhandler to a popular Strand lunch room the other day, the donor telephoning the proprietor to give the man a free hand and jaw. The object of bounty, and he was a forlorn object, asked hesitatingly if he could have a sandwich and when he found the way paved to a square meal, he proceeded to lay to and added sundry sandwiches and coffee to his menu.

"An' a piece o' pie!"

"Sure," said the man behind the counter and the outer man finally shuffled out with his inner man obviously appeased for once. When the business man came in and got his bill, he whistled:

"Well," he said philosophically, "It was worth it to know the man was hungry and not bluffing."

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, Feb. 7.—A valentine social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snyder Saturday evening, February 12. Good supper will be served at a reasonable price and all are welcome. Proceeds for the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Miller are receiving congratulations over a young son, born February 1.

The Misses Georgia Hornbeck and Leona Mertine were guests of Mrs. W. J. Brown for supper Friday evening.

Preaching service will be held on Sunday afternoon at the usual hour by Rev. Mr. Heroy.

Miss Emily Quick is assisting with the house work at the nome of Mrs. Simon Miller.

Mrs. Agnes Brown and W. J. Brown were in Kingston Saturday.

A number of the young men from this place went on Saturday to meet Mr. Smiley at Kerhonkson to engage work for the coming season at Lake Mohonk.

Leroy Quick returned to his home at Mombaccus on Saturday after enjoying a week's visit with his former friends in this place. Mr. Quick contemplates going to Lake Mohonk about April 1st for the season.

Fine sleighing is being enjoyed again.

Mrs. J. C. Snyder and granddaughter, Miss Leana Mertine, pleasantly entertained at their home Thursday evening the Misses Louella Brown, Georgia Hornbeck, Mrs. L. E. Lawrence, Arlington D. Brown, Ernest Brown, Leroy Quick and Lawrence Davis. A very pleasant evening was spent with games and fine refreshments of cake, coffee and fruit was served by Mrs. Snyder.

Friends in this place were shocked when the word was received of the sudden death of Mrs. Margaret Palen, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Boynton, at New York on Wednesday, February 2. She was beloved by all who knew her in this place, where she had a host of friends, who express their sympathy to the sister and brother in their loss of a loving mother.

SHRINERS TO AID INDUSTRIAL HOME

Benefit Dance to be Given in the Armory on Wednesday Evening, February 23, by Local Shriners.

A benefit dance, the proceeds of which will be for the Industrial Home, will be given by the Kingston Shriners' Association at the armory on Wednesday evening, February 23. A year ago a similar ball was held, which was one of the most successful ever given in Kingston, and there is every reason to anticipate that this year's dance will be fully up to any social function ever given here, as Shriners never do things by halves

Two orchestras will be engaged for music, and both the old dances and new dances will be danced. The armory will be beautifully decorated for the occasion and a number of Shriners from Cyprus Temple of Albany will be present. All the Shriners will wear their red fez During the evening refreshments will be served

Tickets will be $1 each and every member of the Shriners' Association has been made a member of the ticket committee, of which Charles B Everett is chairman Tickets will also be on sale at the office of Ward B Everett, Fair street; and the stores of Matthew H Herzog, Wall street, S Cohen's Sons, Wall street, W F Dodrick Wall street; William S Elting and E Winter's Sons, John street; W H Rider, Wall street, M C Crosby William O'Reilly and Rufus Carle, Broadway, Connells Drug Company and Benjamin Johnston Strand, and Sam Stern, Broadway.

The Health Alarm

often sounds first in the doctor's office when some healthy looking specimen of humanity, undergoing examination for life insurance, is told that his blood pressure is too high.

Increased blood pressure is no longer confined to old age: it is frequently found in men in their 40's who are otherwise healthy. In such cases it points to approaching degeneration of the arteries—a condition which in turn indicates those errors of diet that often end in various diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver, nerves and heart.

Among these errors of diet is coffee drinking, because of the drug, caffeine, in coffee, the constant use of which weakens the walls of the arteries. Medical authorities now insist that in all cases of high blood pressure there must be total abstinence from coffee, tea and other harmful beverages.

Hard to give up coffee? Not at all, when one uses instead the pure food-drink—

Instant Postum

This delicious beverage is made of wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses. It is then reduced to a soluble powder, a level teaspoonful of which with hot water makes a perfect cup instantly.

Instant Postum tastes much like mild Java coffee, but is absolutely free from the drug, caffeine, or any harmful ingredient. It does contain those vitalizing elements of the grain which make for normal balance of the system.

"There's a Reason"

PLAN FOURTEEN DAY WORLD BELTING AIR TOUR.

San Francisco, Feb 7—Donald Douglas of New York and Porter H Adams of Boston are now in California planning a world tour by aeroplane They expect to girdle the globe in fourteen days of flying. Their route, according to tentative plans, starts at San Pedro, then goes to Honolulu, Wake Island, Guam, Manila, Saigon, Madras, Aden, Port Said, Crete, Gibraltar, the Azores and New York in the order named.

Successful Supper.

The chicken-pie supper which the members of the Federation of Women's Clubs gave at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening last, was indeed a big success, thanks to the many friends of the Federation who assisted them. The supper was most delicious and ample, and all present enjoyed the charming music played by Messrs Thomas Crosby, pianist; Jacob Mollott, violinist; and B Riccobono, 'celist; members of the Kingston Symphony Society. A large number of those who attended the supper also attended the initial performance of the moving pictures which will hereafter be a daily feature at Association Hall, when there are not other attractions there. The films were all very attractive, and the new venture of "movies," promises to be a great success.

"Canada Blackie" at Library.

Chicken Supper and Magic.

Wednesday evening, February 16, the Ladies' of the Y. M. C. A. will give a chicken pie supper at the association the proceeds of which will be used to purchase a Diamond disc machine for the boys The date of the last number of the Star Course has been also changed to that evening and those who attend the supper will have time to attend the entertainment. The last number of the course is the Laurant Company in mystery and magic.

Pay Taxes Monday Evenings.

For the convenience of the taxpayers who are unable to visit the treasurer's office during the day City Treasurer Doremus has announced that the office at the city hall will be open every Monday evening this month starting tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock. STATE GRANGE IN ANNUAL SESSION

Sherman J. Lowell Elected Master —Next Meeting May Be in Oneonta—Reports of Committees and Action Taken.

Discussion of a wide variety of subjects and action upon nearly all of them featured the 43d annual meeting of the New York State Grange at Jamestown the past week. Many important recommendations were made covering legislation, rural health and agricultural subjects, while the biennial election of officers was also held. Nearly al of 585 subordinate granges in the state were represented and the total membership was reported as 118,-689.

Under the Australian system of balloting socalled, the election of officers does not require the immense amount of time as in former years. Results of the election the second day of the session, February 3, are as follows:

Master—Sherman J. Lowell, Fredonia.

Lecturer—George Watson, Clyde.

Steward—Frank J. Riley, Sennett.

Asst. Steward—Fred Hecker, Webster.

Chaplain—Rev. E. E. Grosh, Seneca Castle.

Treasurer—W. L. Bean, McGraw.

One member of the Executive Committee—Ira Sharp, Lowville.

Invitations for the next session of the State Grange were presented by Oneonta, Ithaca and Syracuse. A public meeting followed under the auspices of Chautauqua County Pomona at which Dean Beverly C. Galloway of the State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, and State Grange Master John A. McSparran of Pennsylvania were among the speakers.

W. F. Pratt, as trustee to Cornell University, presented a report showing that of the 611 instructors in that institution, 196 were in the agricultural college and of the total students, 6,891, there are 937 short term students. Summer sessions were attended by 1,500 persons and degrees conferred on 1,973. Last year the veterinary college graduated 316. The sum of $7,500 was expended for apparatus in this department last year.

The committee on co-operation recommended that the State Grange indorse, approve and encourage all reasonable activities for the establishment of local co-operative associations throughout the state, both for purchasing and selling.

The standing committees on Cornell University and the Geneva experiment station submitted favorable reports with recommendations for adequate state appropriations.

State Grange Treasurer W. L. Bean of McGraw, reported the total receipts of the year at $64,568.51, which included a balance on hand of $29,219.30 and accrued interest $1,011.25. His total disbursements were $50,377.-93, leaving a balance on hand, January 1, 1915, of $34,190 68. The approximate cost of the 1915 session of the state grange at Oswego was given as $11,059.21.

An effective part in health legislation the past year was reported by the committee on rural health, which recited the benefits of co-operation with other organizations for the prevention and control of [illegible] Work of the rural dis[illegible] highly commended. [illegible] 100,000 people [illegible] United States," said [illegible] "are tuberculosis, [illegible] children." The [illegible] that a pub[illegible] appointed [illegible] grange and that [illegible] a place to the [illegible] farm sanitation [illegible] program. It also recom[illegible] the State Grange ap[illegible] for an appropri[illegible] for the tuberculosis division [illegible] the state department of health. The department is asking for $24,-000 for its tuberculosis work.

To carry out the intent and purpose of the Grange scholarships, the committee on that subject favored setting the age limit of candidates at 25 years, that the examinations be held later and that more publicity be given them and that the questions deal more with the practical side of farm life.

More laws protecting birds and better enforcement of game laws was urged by the committee on forestry and preservation of bird life. A study of birds and their value to agriculture was also recommended.

Taxation of real estate at full value, excepting property of state, county, religious and benevolent societies was recommended by the taxation committee, which further favored making the mortage tax an annual tax.

Extension of the maximum weight limit on parcels post packages from 50 to 60 pounds was recommended. Extending of present routes of rural carriers and letting of delivery contracts to lowest bidders was opposed as subversive of efficient service.

The committee on good roads urged that concrete roads already built be resurfaced with not less than two inches of crushed stone and tar to avoid smooth surfaces. The committee approved a plan for the state to assume the cost of bridges more than $3,000. It turned down a resolution restoring to the highway fees collected thereon by the state.

Under Good of the Order, a committee urged the holding of lecturers' conferences earlier in the season, deemed any change in the name "granger" to "patron" as unwise at this time; and urged using every influence toward promoting temperance.

The Department of Foods and Markets was approved by the Committee on Agriculture and government regulation of public utilities was favored rather than government ownership. Stenciling of measures upon all measuring and weighing devices by the manufacturers was also urged.

Grange purchasing agencies were recommended. As to the mounted police for rural sections and alleged discrimination against farmers by railroads, the Grange took no action except to ask for investigations and reports at the next session.

Farm laborers would be exempted from the provisions of a law to make hunters and trappers secure permission from owners before trespassing on land. Highway repairs by county superintendents of highways rather than by the state was favored; opposition was recorded to compulsory pasteurization of skim milk and they although an educational campaign on the subject was favored. Revision of laws on personal property taxation was favored. Committees of subordinate granges were requested to investigate and report at the next session on the township session of schools.

Adjournment sine die followed Friday afternoon after disposition of the most comprehensive programs that has faced the annual meeting of the State Grange in years.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Feb. 7.—The M. E. Church has purchased a new Estey organ of E. E Matthews of Kingston. Their old one is for sale.

The donation for the Reformed Church will be held in the basement of the church Tuesday evening, February 8. If stormy, it will be held the next fair evening.

There will be an entertainment in the M. E. Hall on Wednesday, evening, February 9th. Miss Eunice Smith of Catskill will recite. Miss Myra Lasher will render several selections of music, there will also be some selections from a Victrola. The proceeds are for the Epworth League. Admission 10 cents.

E. E. Matthews of Kingston will give a Victrola concert in the M. E. Church hall on Tuesday evening, February 15. The proceeds are for the church. Admission 10 cents.

Marshall Hasbrouck is spending a short vacation with friends in town before going to his work at Esopus next week.

There are several sick in town and the doctors are very busy.

Rev. I. M. Price of Walden supplied the work on the Woodstock charge Sunday last and preached most acceptably.

Charles Lasher has avertised his property for sale. The rumor is that he proposes to sell his property and move across the river where he has relatives.

Finger Marks.

Furniture has a bad habit of getting finger marked. And it is a good thing to know that sweet oil will remove all signs of them if the furniture is of the varnished variety. But kerosene is better for furniture which is oiled or waxed.

Getting It Right.

"I understand, Cuddyhump, that your wife is convalescent?" said kindly Mrs. White. "No, ma'm, Ah'm glad to say she ain't. Sick or dat, she's gittin' bettah ev'ry day."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Thomas Hillis wishes to express his gratitude to all those who so kindly remembered him in his late bereavement. He feels especially grateful for the many floral offerings.

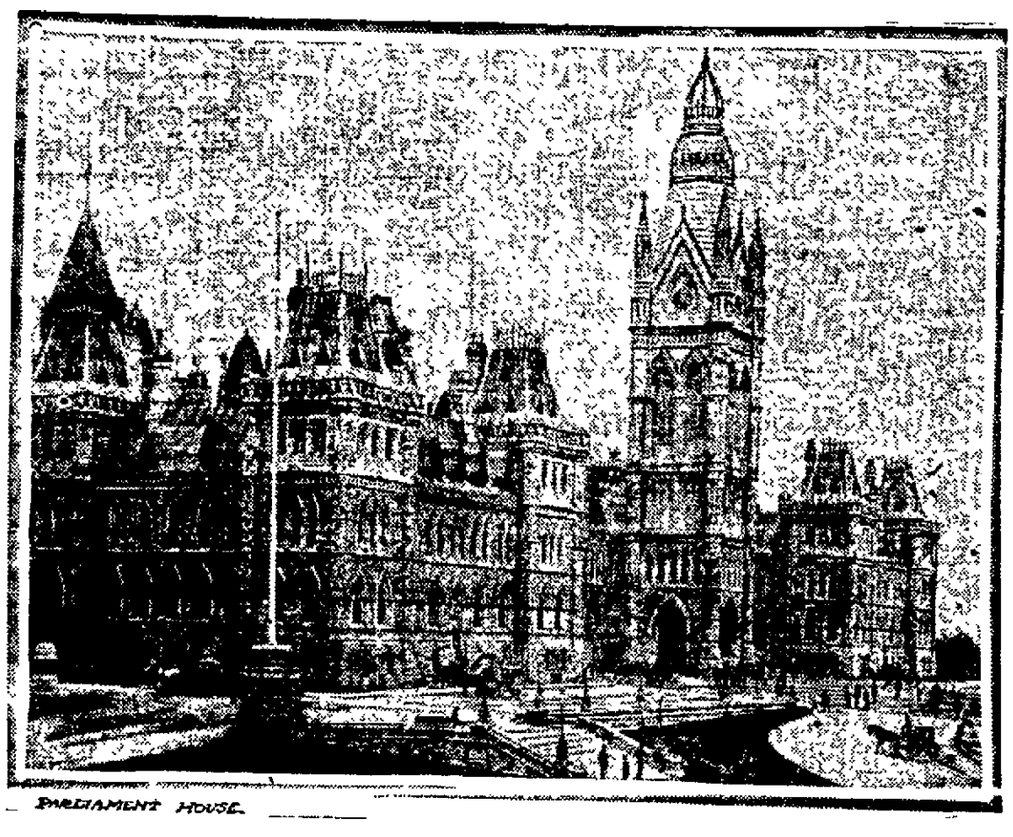
FIRST WOMAN PROSECUTOR IN U. S.

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Miss Lita Belle Hibben, recently appointed Deputy District Attorney, under District Attorney Woolwine, is the first woman prosecutor in the United States, it is believed.

Miss Hibben is 29 years old, pretty and has been practicing law for two and a half years, being associated with a prominent law firm in this city. She first demonstrated her legal ability at the University of Southern California Law School, where she led a class of 53 men, taking the medal for highest scholarship when she was graduated in June 1913. Besides practicing law she has held a position as instructress at her alma mater and has been a special lecturer on medical jurisprudence at Loma Linda University.

Her duties in her new office will be to talk to the women who come to the district attorney's office, particularly those women who have a story to tell and would hesitate to tell it to a man.

Miss Hibben was born in Illinois and came to California nine years ago. She taught in the public schools at Tropico for five years. During the last few years of her teaching she attended the law school at the same time. She is prominent in local club life.



PARLIAMENT HOUSE.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT BUILDING SWEPT BY FIRE.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Canada's handsome Parliament House, the most magnificent structure in the Dominion, is now lying in ruins, swept by a fire which some attribute to a bomb or infernal machine.

Six lives were lost in the conflagration.

Once before the structure was threatened with destruction by fire. On April 26, 1900, a fire swept Ottawa, but Parliament House escaped the flames.

The parliament building included a central building with two wings, in all 470 feet in length, with a tower 220 feet high and library building in the rear. Many valuable sculptures, paintings and decorations adorned its rooms and corridors. It was erected in 1865 of cream-colored sandstone on a bluff rising 150 feet above the Ottawa River.

To Save Umbrellas.

When you come in from the rain put the umbrella in the rack with the handle downward, because when the handle is upward the water runs down inside to the place where the ribs are joined to the handle and cannot get out, but stays, rotting the cloth and rusting the metal until slowly dried away. The wire fastening the ribs soon rusts and breaks. If placed the other way the water readily runs off and the umbrella dries almost immediately.

Helpfulness.

"We should always try to be helpful and sympathetic," said Professor Pate. "As ships meet at sea a moment, when greetings are exchanged, and then go away on the deep, so men meet in this world." Then pause in your passing long enough to tell the other fellow about your rheumatism or show him how idiotic his pet theory it, and then go on your way before he can give you the details of his dyspepsia or refute your imbecile arguments.—Kansas City Star.

Must Have Albuminous Food.

The fact that mosquitoes so continually harass rich-blooded creatures is due to the fact that they cannot lay eggs without the albuminous food which is thus secured. In tropical countries the greatest enemy of the malaria-bearing mosquito is a species of bat which is protected from the insect's bite by its strangely shaped hairs. The bat is very swift of flight and the mosquitoes, especially those which have already made a supper of blood are their ideal food.

MORE REASONS FOR AN EMBARGO

Editor The Kingston Freeman.

Sir —Additional reasons why the members of the Kingston Branch of the American Independence Union regard it as their moral duty as American citizens to insist that an embargo be placed by the American government on munitions of war are herewith submitted

1 Because by our vast and unprecedented shipments of war supplies we are helping to prolong war and bloodshed, and to fill all Europe with widows and orphans and with men crippled and maimed for life. The war would end very soon and peace would be restored to a world longing for peace if we refused to feed the flames of war. By helping to prolong the war we are harming the legitimate interests of our own country.

2. Because the argument; this trade is a matter of business, it yields big profits. American trade and commerce must not be interfered with, some of our industries are prospering as a result of this export—is an argument so contemptible and sordid that it seems difficult to descend to a level where it can be dealt with, and that it seems incredible that it should ever be advanced by men endowed with the faculty of weighing moral issues and of distinguishing between right and wrong. It is the argument of the professional gunman who kills for hire. Where are the moral forces in our land? Where are the moral forces in our land? Where are the Christian churches? Where are the preachers of the Gospel? Where are the ambassadors of God? Why are their voices hushed? Why do they not cry out against this infamous traffic? Why do they not demand that America shall not profit from the shedding of human blood and from the slaying of our near relatives and friends?

3 Because even the Allies whom we are serving, whilst they applaud and encourage us, do not honor and respect us for our willingness to profit from the fratricidal traffic. How can they honor and respect us for it? John L. Stoddard, an American of English descent, wrote, "The John Bull you adore despises you." We have lost that which money cannot buy back, which only an embargo can restore

4 Because the neutral nations of Europe on account of this nefarious traffic are holding us up to the scorn of the world. We adduce only one example from many that could be cited. The "St Galler Tageblatt," one of the leading daily papers of Switzerland in an editorial explaining the action taken by the Swiss national assembly when it laid an embargo on the export of arms and ammunition, and defending it against the contention of our present administration that an embargo laid during the progress of the war would constitute an un-neutral act against England sarcastically said,

"In the eyes of all unprejudiced witnesses, the Swiss national assembly through its action conserved the principle of neutrality at least as well as the Government of the United States, which calls for peace prayers on Sunday, and on week-days permits its ammunition factories to work over-time, in order to prolong the human slaughter in Europe."

Unfortunately the pro-ally press of our country does not print what the leading journals of the neutral nations are saying about our exportation of war material.

A golden opportunity to raise our country to a new and high standard of humanity and international morality was lost when at the beginning of the war our administration refused to "follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality," to employ President Wilson's own words by laying an embargo against all belligerents as we twice did against Mexico. We are making ourselves an object of derision by lecturing other nations on the subject of "humanity and then failing to practice what we preach.

Yours truly,

The Publicity Committee of the American Independence Union.

Famous Trout Is Missed.

Sunbeam, the famous trout of Estes park, Colorado, who was trained so that when a glass tube was lowered into the water he would swim through it, and who had been admired by more than 500,000 tourists, has disappeared, leaving guides and other interested persons plunged into gloom in inverse ratio to his illumination

Devilfish.

In Japan devilfish weighing 200 pounds are sometimes caught. These fish are amphibious; they are often seen wabbling on their tentacles like giant spiders in search of patches of sweet potatoes. The natives kill them with clubs. In the water they are caught in jars lowered to the bottom, which the octopus enters, thinking them a good retreat from which to catch his food.

Discouraging.

After a mother has taught her son not to keep his hands in his pockets, to turn his toes out and not to sniff his nose or smack his lips when he eats, it must be discouraging to hear people remark a month after his marriage that his wife made him.—Wichita Eagle.

Sand in Holland.

In Holland sand is plentiful and inexpensive and is used instead of hay and straw as beds for cows. It keeps the animals perfectly clean, requiring only a slight raking in the morning to soften and freshen it.—London Telegraph.

Perfectly Tame.

To say of a man that he will make a good husband is much the same sort of compliment as to say of a horse that he is perfectly safe for a woman to drive.—Puck.

HARVESTING ICE AT BINNEWATER

The creek front presented a busy scene this morning with a force of men at work unloading ice from box cars on the Ulster & Delaware tracks into ice barges moored at the dock. The ice being loaded is being harvested at Binnewater by the Foster Scott Ice Company and loaded into box cars and brought to Kingston over the Wallkill Valley railroad and switched on to the Ulster & Delaware lines and brought to Kondout. The ice runs about 11 inches in thickness

Icemen have practically given up all hope of securing an ice crop from the Hudson river. The river is open to navigation and boats have no trouble in making the trip between Kondout and New York. On Sunday the Cornell tugs Hercules and Rose came up with a tow of light ice barges and on Sunday they left for New York with a tow of loaded ice barges. The barges being loaded in the creek today will also be towed to New York.

IKE DORGAN.

MORAN'S MANAGER A REAL FINANCIAL MANAGER.

New York, Feb. 7.—Ike Dorgan, a former newspaper man, who is now managing the destinies of Frank Moran, heavyweight aspirant for the championship has shown an uncanny genius for finance since his management of the Pittsburgher. Dorgan took Moran under his wing four months ago. Up until that time Moran had been a failure as far as making any money out of the pugilistic game was concerned.

Until his first fight with Coffey on October 19 last year, Moran had engaged in 10 fights, 22 of which were knockouts. These included his bouts with Luther McCarthy and Jack Johnson in Paris. For his fight with Coffey Moran received $6,000 which, he says is more than he made out of all his fights previous to this. His share of the money from the second Coffey bought was $9,994. His share of the bout with Willard on New York on March 17, will be $20,000 and 30 per cent of the moving picture rights. Altogether under Dorgan's management Moran will have made close on to $50,000 from October last year to the end of March this year.

TALISMAN OF THE CELTS.

Romance of the Lia Fail, a Curious Piece of Stone.

In every strongly Irish newspaper, either in America or in Ireland, there is the oft repeated threat, "Wait until we recover the Lia Fail. Then Ireland will become a republic." And the readers have asked again and again: "What is the Lia Fail? Where is it, and what is its magic power?" Those who remember the Fenian fiasco some years ago, will recall the battle cry of the troops "Up for the Lia Fail!" The recovery of this Celtic talisman, however, would involve something more than a victory over some outlying province of Great Britain for it is a part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is a curious piece of stone, a little more than two feet long, and is said to be the identical stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had his marvelous dream. It was taken to Ireland, according to tradition, before the Christian era, and its removal from that island meant the death of liberty and independence to the Celt

After a century of possession it was conveyed to the Ionian islands, to be used in a coronation ceremony, and was never recovered. The kings of Scotland seized and held it as their mascot. By Edward I. it was carried to London among the spoils of war when the Scottish kingdom began to totter. The son of Edward attempted to restore the stone to the Scotch, but already it had taken such hold on the superstition of the English that they feared for their country, and a mob prevented its restoration.—Exchange

GOVERNOR COMING TO OPEN EXHIBIT

Kingston Automobile Show to Include Good Points of Newburgh and Poughkeepsie Affairs and Then Some.

Plans for the Kingston automobile show were discussed at a meeting Saturday afternoon of committees from the Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Club of Ulster county, with representatives of all the automobile dealers in the city. Upon the latter will fall the burden of securing exhibits and judging from the enthusiasm and interest manifested, the Kingston show will have all of the good points of the Newburgh and Poughkeepsie exhibitions with a few more added.

Everett Fowler was chosen as chairman of the executive committee in charge of the show and Captain Frank L. Meagher was also added to the general committee. While the names of the Chamber of Commerce and Automobile Club representatives have been published, the complete list of the committees will be announced later

Governor Whitman has promised to attend and make an address and may be secured to open the big exhibition once the date is set. The latter part of March is favored. Special trade inducements may be inaugurated by merchants in connection with the show.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs Wesley Ellis announces the marriage of her daughter, Grace Lillian, to Roy Chauncey Bailey of Rhinebeck on February 4th, at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Milan, N. Y.

Clean-Edden.

Miss Mabel A Edden of Irvington and Victor H. Clearwater of Highland were quietly married January 25 at Yonkers. After a short trip south the happy couple returned to Highland, going shortly to Lake Mohonk.

Bruner-Williams.

The marriage of Mrs. Melissa Williams of German street, this city, to Walter Bruner of Esopus township, was solemnized Sunday, February 5, at the parsonage of Trinity M. E. Church the Rev. George E. Barber, the pastor, officiating. Mr and Mrs Bruner will make their home in New Salem.

Van Demark-Rhodes.

Miss Blanche Rhodes of Tucker's Corner and Walter Van Demark of Bailey's Gap were married on Wednesday afternoon at the Friends' parsonage at Clintondale, by Rev. J. D Piper. The bride was accompanied by a sister of the groom as bridesmaid, and Floyd Rhodes a brother of the bride, acted as best man.

BYRON'S UNHAPPINESS.

His Icy, Frozen Mannered Wife and His Cruel Parents

Marie Corelli, the English novelist, says poets do not really love. If they did they could not write about it. They imagine they love. And their imagination embraces many fair objects

"Byron," she says, "was an unhappy man. But he was not as unhappy as he imagined himself to be. He found pleasure, even inspiration, in dwelling on his own troubles. Many poets do."

She tells us that Byron's mother had been a Miss Gordon before she married the shiftless and dissolute Captain Byron, the poet's father, and that amid constant quarrelings, thrashings and unjust abuse and the most coarse and intemperate language poor Byron began his career.

"With such a father and such a mother," says Miss Corelli, "the wonder is that he managed to store his mind with so many impressions of beauty and grandeur and that he was able to lift his soul above his surroundings to such a height of intellectual power. His mother's furious temper and her cruel mockeries stung him, not into a reply, but into silent and lonely brooding on his wrongs.

"He himself describes the sense of horror and humiliation which came over him when, in a fit of passion, she called him 'a lame brat.' When Sir Walter Scott met him he said he should scarcely have noticed it. In fact, the great novelist was as lame as the great poet, only Byron's brilliant personality made him, more than Scott, an object of comment. His marriage was a failure. It was a fortunate thing for literature that his wife left him after one year of matrimony.

"Had she remained with him his genius might have perished under the freezing influence of such a paragon of propriety and dullness. William Howitt tells us that Lady Byron had 'frozen moments

"'I have seen her,' he says, 'come down in the morning as if she had lain all night on a glacier, frozen, as it were, to the very soul, and no efforts on the part of those around her could restore her for the day to any genial social warmth.'"

What Puzzles Office Holder.

It's always hard for a man holding office to realize that the place used to be run without help and that it's going to be again.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Abram Kunst is in New York city today on business.

Miss Frances Onilker spent Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beadle, in Arkville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Galvin are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at their home, No. 27 Cedar street.

Miss Cooper has been assigned to the Eleventh Street Library, while Miss Gildersleeve is studying at the Washington Heights Library. Both were members of the 1915 Ulster Academy graduating class

DAVID I. WALSH.

FORMER MASSACHUSETTS GOVERNOR NOW VICE PRESIDENT OF BRAVES.

Boston, Feb. 5.—Executive training of baseball a state seems to be a prelude to executive work in baseball. The first great example is, of course, John K. Tener, president of the National League, who was elected to that office while still governor of Pennsylvania. Now it is announced that David I. Walsh, former governor of Massachusetts, is vice president of the Braves under the new organization. Walsh owns a large share of the stock in the club.

Beauty and Ideals.

Browning makes Fra Lippo Lippi say: "If you get simple beauty and naught else you get about the best thing God invents, and you'll find the rest within yourself when you return him thanks." It seems to me that if we substitute for beauty, true ideals, the quotation applies most aptly to our view of the purpose of education. "If you get true ideals and naught else, you get about the best thing God invents.—Exchange.

To Remove Ink.

Cyanide of potassium will remove all indelible inks the base of which is nitrate of silver. Turpentine or alcohol rubbed in hot removes the new inks, using soda and soap freely in hot water afterward.

Raisins.

Of all the dried fruits none perhaps equals the raisin in food value and ease of digestion.

MASTERS OF CAPTURED SHIPS. ©1915 by INTL. FILM SERVICE.

BRITISH CAPTAINS HELD AS PRISONERS ON APPAM.

Here are six capains of British trading vessels captured at sea by the German cruiser commanded by Lieutenant Berge. These sailing masters were taken on board the Appam by the Germans and brought to Newport News where they were subsequently released on demand of the United States authorities.

The captains and the ships they commanded, are:

TESTS FOR HEARING.

Rigid Ordeals For Candidates For Our Army and Navy.

The physical requirements of American soldiers and sailors are of a high standard as compared with those of other countries. The test for hearing, for example, in our navy and army is more severe than of any other country.

One of these tests for admission to our Naval academy may be taken as a typical example of the thoroughness with which the candidates' faculties are tested. In this test the ticking of a watch must be heard at forty inches in quiet surrounding, and this ticking must be heard at that distance by each ear separately. In addition to this, the candidate will be rejected if there is the slightest suggestion of any diseased condition about any portion of the ear.

In all the foreign navies, as well as in our own, the severest tests of hearing are imposed upon the men who are to undertake submarine service. In this service even an officer will not be accepted if the surgeon is able to find any evidence that he has ever been afflicted with ear trouble at any time. Thus a slight inflammation of the ear which occurred in childhood may disqualify the officer for submarine service, though his hearing may be so good that he would be readily accepted in any other branch of military service.—Los Angeles Times.

A Delicate, Tasteful Breakfast.

Apropos of monotonous unimaginative breakfasts, Thomas Love Peacock once drew up the menu for breakfast "for a man of taste." "Coffee, tea, cream, eggs, ham tongue, cold fowl," he wrote, "all these are good and bespeak good knowledge in him who sets them forth. But the touchstone is fish. Anchovy is the first step, prawns and shrimps the second, potted char and lamprey the third, but lobster is, indeed, matter for a May morning and demands a rare combination of virtue and knowledge in him who sets it forth."—London Standard.

Scotch Judges' Frugality.

Scotland might safely be backed at least to rival England in the matter of frugality among her judges. There is Dean Ramsay's story of the dinner party given by Lord Polkemmet. When the covers were removed the guests were surprised to find that the dinner consisted of veal broth, a roast fillet of veal, veal cutlets, a florentine (an old Scottish dish composed of veal), a calf's head and calf's foot jelly. Observing the sensation, Lord Polkemmet explained: "Ou ay, it's a' couf. When we kill a beast we just eat up ae side and down the tither."—London Chronicle.

Mammoth Cave.

"To me the Mammoth cave of Kentucky is simply a portion of the Grand Canyon of Colorado underground," says George Wharton James, the traveler and author, in "Our American Wonderlands." "Almost all the phenomena of the great cave are revealed in the Grand canyon region, and, given time enough, it is not inconceivable that the Mammoth cave might develop into a Grand canyon region of its own."

Kept Them Quiet.

"I went to a symphony concert yesterday afternoon."

"Did you enjoy it?"

"It was the most wonderful experience I ever had. Just think of sitting in the same room with 2,000 women and not one of them saying a word."—Melbourne Age.

Disappearing Cannon.

"Some of our cannon are disappearing," remarked the lieutenant.

"Well, things will disappear when you have careless help," responded the lady who was doing over the fort. "I find that a great trouble about keeping house."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Saving.

Governess—Why don't you use your brains, Douglass?

"Because I want them to last."

Try this: When telling a piece of scandal, don't say "they say;" just say "I say."

OLDEST AMERICAN STATUE.

Found Near Vera Cruz, It Was Made Over Twenty Centuries Ago.

A small stone statue found near Vera Cruz, Mexico, which has been in the possession of the United States National museum since 1903, has been identified as the oldest known dated antiquity in America. Its ancient Mayan glyphic inscriptions show that it was made 100 years before Christ, which is the oldest date authenticated in the new world.

This unique image was found in 1902 near the gulf of Mexico, 100 miles southeast of Vera Cruz, and came to the museum through R. E. Ulbricht the next year. It is of hard grayish green stone, carved into a rounded conical form, six and one-half inches high and three and three-fourths inches in diameter.

The upper part represents a human head with well defined features. The lower part of the face is covered with a mask, resembling the bill of a duck, carved in relief and extending down over the chest like a beard. The bird-like form is further emphasized by the wings, covering the sides of the face. Delicate the wings the outlines of a bird's feet and legs are engraved. —New York Times.

Ancient Use of a Kiss.

A Roman woman in the ancient time was not allowed to drink wine except it were simple raisin wine, and, however she might relish strong drinks, she could not indulge even by stealth —first, because she was never intrusted with the key of the wine cellar and, second, because she was obliged daily to greet with a kiss all her own as well as her husband's male representatives, down even to second cousins, and as she knew not when or where she might meet them she was forced to be wary and abstain altogether, for had she tasted but a drop the smell would have betrayed her. So strict were the old Romans in this respect that a certain Ignatius Mercurius is said to have slain his wife because he caught her at the wine cask—a punishment which was not deemed excessive by Romulus, who absolved the husband of the crime of murder.

The Nice of Austria.

"The Nice of Austria" is the name by which Gorizia, or Goritz, is known among its habitues, owing to its mild climate. Curiously enough, the city furnishes a link with the French Bourbons, for in a Franciscan convent there lie the remains of Charles X. of France, the last of the Bourbons; of the Duke of Angouleme, his son, and of the Duc de Chambord, who died as recently as 1883. Gorizia, under Austrian rule, was the capital of the crown land of Gorz Gradisca and first appears in history toward the close of the tenth century, when it was bestowed on the church. It is still the seat of an archbishop, and its special industry, significantly, perhaps, has long been the printing of Hebrew books for the east.—London Spectator.

Ingenious Rimes.

Sir Owen Seaman is to be congratulated on his ingenuity in riming "Bagdad" with "swag, dad," but the palm for audacity in riming must remain with Browning, who matched "ranunculus" with "Tommy make room for your uncle us," or the seventeenth century bard who wrote:

The Duke of York a daughter had.
He gave the Prince of Orange her:
So now your majesty will see
I've found a rime for poringer.
—London Standard.

Welcome at Times.

"I wish a doormat," announced Mrs. De Style.

"Here is a very nice pattern," said the salesman, "with the word 'Welcome' woven into the fiber."

"I see. I suppose that will do if you can add the words 'Tuesdays and Fridays.'"—Pittsburgh Post.

Preparedness.

"Darling, won't you marry me? I would die for you."

"How sweet of you! How much are you insured for?"—Baltimore American.

'Tis far better to love and be poor than be rich with an empty heart.—Lewis Morris.

Cost of His Salt.

A Hoosier, who has moved to southern California, writes to friends North, complaining of the "skinning of the 'natives' and tourists." "I always had believed," he wrote, "that the Pacific ocean was salty, yet we pay ten cents a pound for the same salt out here that we used to buy for three cents a pound in Indianapolis—and I never heard of any 'native' salt being discovered in White river, Fall creek, Pogues and Pleasant runs."

To Tighten Loose Machine Belt.

Instead of stopping your work when the sewing machine belt gets loose and taking time then to cut it off and fasten it, simply slip a few large rubber bands over the small wheel. They will hold the belt firmly until time for permanent repairs can be taken.—Good Housekeeping.

Self Confidence

The advertisements in this newspaper testify to the faith of the advertisers in themselves and their goods.

The advertisers believe in their ability to please you; to make good in every respect or else they would not invite your patronage.

Self confidence usually has something substantial to back it up.

It is a factor that should at least help in determining your favor toward advertisers.

They come to you frankly with their message and at the very least the latter is worth your reading.

Rescued Quickly

If your domestic servants, or office, store, or factory help leave you unexpectedly, or suddenly, don't feel blue about it, for the vacant place can be quickly filled.

Lots of housewives and business men and women are quickly rescued every day from this fix by using the Want Ads.

The Want Ads can and will fill that vacant place, or those vacant places, for you within 24 hours, if you will let them.

Life and Character Reading

FEBRUARY 7.

The horoscope of this person reveals many contradictions of mind and character.

In many ways this person is an extremist.

Being under the last sign of the air triplicity, "Aquarius," he has both the strongest and the weakest characteristics.

This man will ask advice of others which he will never follow. He has a vivid imagination, is highly nervous and sensitive and needs to cultivate self-control.

Saturn, the ruling planet, gives many quick and unexpected changes in domestic life and business.

All those connected with electrical trades will prosper during the coming year and the Want Ads will always prove of profit in finding them work.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Helen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dutcher of Allaben, died at the family home on Tuesday, February 1. A little over a year ago they lost their only son.

The funeral of William Palen, who died of tuberculosis Thursday afternoon at Walden, was held Sunday in Brooklyn under Masonic auspices. Deceased was a native of Lincolnshire, England, and was 32 years old. A widow and a daughter survive.

Cornelius Eckert aged 17 years, died this morning at the home of his father, Henry Eckert, of 27 Franklin street. Beside his parents he is survived by four brothers, Jacob, Harry and Grant of Oneonta and Cleveland of Woodstock. The funeral will be held from the family home on Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock with interment in Shokan Cemetery.

Christina H. Finger, widow of the late Phineas R. Finger, died at her home on Liberty street this morning. Mr. Finger died about a year ago. Mrs. Finger had a large circle of friends and acquaintances to whom she endeared herself by her high character. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Charles H. Deyo, Mrs. Thomas Wilson and Mrs. Josiah Doughty, all of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Magee, of West Camp. The funeral will take place from the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the interment will be in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Philip H. Cramer, a widely known and highly respected resident of Flatbush, died at his home there Sunday night at 9 o'clock in his 85th year. Deceased had been ill several weeks. He was a native of Flatbush and a farmer practically all his life. For many years Mr. Cramer had been a member of the Flatbush Reformed Church. He leaves a son, Charles Cramer, who resides with him, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Clarence J. Babcock of Kingston. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the late home, with interment in Trinity Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McMullen of Allen street, Saugerties, who celebrated the 61st anniversary of their marriage on January 7, died at their home, Mr. McMullen, passing away Saturday afternoon and Mrs. McMullen Sunday morning. Their entire married life had been spent in Saugerties. The husband was one of the few of the old employes of the Ulster Iron Works living. He was born in County Longford, Ireland and came to America with his parents in 1835. His wife, Martha Burnett, was born in Saugerties in 1837. They were married January 7, 1855. They were the oldest members of Trinity Episcopal Church, of which for fifty years he had been sexton. He was a member of Ulster Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F., and Thomas Wildy Encampment, No. 39. Of thirteen children born to them, six survive, James E., William, and Mrs. Viola Jack of Saugerties, John, and Mrs. William Wolven, of Newark, N. J., and Martha, wife of Albert Whitney of Malden, N. Y. The funeral will be held Thursday, February 10, from the late residence at 2 o'clock, and Trinity Episcopal Church at 2:30. The interment will be in Trinity Cemetery.

Value of Good Intentions.

To a certain extent, one can be as good as he resolves to be, for a good intention clothes itself with power.

ADVERTISEMENT WRITING.

"DIED of Slip-Shod Advertising Methods" could be written over the grave of many a dead business. "Oh, that's good enough," is the siren song that has lured store after store onto the shoals of bankruptcy or financial disaster. Advertising pays if judiciously written; careless methods are extravagance. My advertisement, booklet and circular building weaves itself into the woof and warp of the fabric that binds trade together. Write me for terms. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

He replied, "Why Jedge, its from the Scripture." I said "From the scripture, what part of the scripture?," and he said, "Don't you know that part where it says Hallowed be thy name?" During the past week in a negligence case which I had at Middletown a woman was being questioned by one of the attorneys. These questions became embarrassing and finally she said "I can't answer that, its something I can't repeat to any gentleman.". The attorney told her softly "Well you don't have to say it out loud, whisper it to the judge."

My friends, I wonder do we appreciate fully the charm of our town? We admit its setting, and its surroundings to be serenely majestic and beautiful, but we think of them most rarely. We have to be reminded of them by strangers in our midst. We have here a material equality which is almost socialistic in its perfection and its idealism. We have no very rich, we have no very poor. We have a body of contented, cultured, virile Americans, industrious and happy and the fortunes of all so nearly equal as to admit of small distinction. The most valuable ingredient in American life is democracy. Its symptoms are most patent in the village life of the republic and the predominant characteristic of this good town in which we dwell, and its predominant quality is democracy.

The people of our village will tolerate all as equal, but none as superior. Its climate and spirit are benign, but there is one ailment and frailty which is fatal here and it is "cranial elephantitis," some times known as "big head."

My friends, to this good village I owe all. To me in boyhood it gave educational facilities unsurpassed. As a youth with no experience and meagre abilities it gave me professional help and assistance and in my participation in our public affairs it has scorned the fetters of party fealty. In its charity it has overlooked my faults, and it has found in the words, "He is from home," a final answer to the most meritorious objections. My friends, my measure of success has been small; my accomplishment has been modest, but all I have and all I am, I owe to you. You have given me all.

The French say, that gratitude is the least of virtues, but that ingratitude is the worst of vices, and so I say tonight in this presence, "Old town, I salute thee. To thee, Fostering Mother, am I indeed grateful. To thee who have looked upon me with benign and loving eye, to thee who have showered me with thy gifts and thy favors and thy good will, I dedicate feeble talents and limited abilities. For thy renown and thy glory is our renown and our glory; for, dear old town, thou art home—the spot of earth supremely blest, a dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest."

Religion in Daily Life.

Inasmuch as there is an old saying that "the law and the gospel go hand in hand." Toastmaster DeVany introduced as the next speaker, the Rev. Father Dougherty, who spoke of the judge's religious fidelity. Knowing something of Judge Cunningham's character from long association, he knew he was not mistaken in saying that whether the judge was Baptist or Presbyterian, Dutch Reformed or Catholic, or whatever denomination he might have belonged to, he would live faithfully in his daily life to the obligations of the church to which he belonged. There is a growing feeling that men in public life can excuse themselves from their religious duties, but we know from observation and from the study of history that this is not true, because civilization and all its benefits are founded on religious principles, whose application in daily life make for the advancement of character and the amelioration of conditions which we deplore. It is the active practice of religious principles in daily life that result in benefit to the human race.

Father Dougherty reviewed the advancement of civilization from the days when Athens was the center of the world's civilization, until the present day. Whenever barbarism threatened to wipe out civilization, religion intervened and forced it not only to return to its former high stand but to advance further, so that religion in public life has been no small matter in the world's history. In his every day life Judge Cunningham had proved himself faithful to his religious principles, and his private life had been an incentive to others, to whom his faithfulness to the principles of religion and to his God must be a stimulus to better personal effort. He hoped the future held higher honors in store for him, but should he go down to old age without further honor, he would be able finally to close his eyes in peace, resting in the knowledge that he had been faithful to his country, to God and to his religion.

Rev. Dr. Mosher's Tribute.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Mosher, pastor of the Ellenville Methodist Episcopal Church, was the next speaker, and said that although he had been a resident of Ellenville for only three years he had taken an active interest in Judge Cunningham since twelve years ago, when he had been stationed at Marlborough, and the judge had been a candidate for assemblyman. He had followed his career with so much interest as soon as he realized his own duties kept him busy elsewhere, that he could do no better than to place the judge under the care of his own small boy. (Laughter.) It had been said of one of our presidents that the reason for his success was the fact that he loved his mother, and from personal experience he knew that Judge Cunningham's love for his mother had contributed in no small measure to his success. The personal life of Judge Cunningham had been above reproach or criticism and such lives were an incentive to every young man. Dr. Mosher closed a glowing tribute to the manly conduct of the judge with an incident which occurred some time ago, after the judge had been signally honored. Turning to his mother, he had exploded in this fashion: "Mother, today is my birthday. Do you realize that thirty-five years ago today you started to become famous? Aren't you proud of me?"

"Of course she is," said Dr. Mosher feelingly, turning to the place where the judge's mother sat, and then turning to the banqueters he added, "And so are we."

Judge Beebe's Prediction.

The Hon. George M. Beebe, formerly of Middletown, was the next speaker. Judge Beebe for eighteen years was one of the judges of the Court of Claims, and when he retired from the bench and sought for the balance of his life a place where he would find all that made life most desirable, he had selected Ellenville, said Toastmaster DeVany, because of its salubrious climate and delightful water.

"Your toastmaster would have you believe that I am a chameleon, living on air and water," said Judge Beebe, "but if I hadn't found something more substantial, something like the good things I have found here tonight, I wouldn't be here to add my tribute to your guest of honor." (Laughter and applause.)

"A monument of laurels piled on a grave can be of no service or satisfaction to him who lies beneath them," said Judge Beebe, "and the time to show appreciation is while a man is alive." There was no man of his acquaintance more worthy of the respect shown to him in this outburst of enthusiasm than Judge Cunningham, and it was fortunate to have as a guest of honor one whom it was no flattery to extol. Though he had known Judge Cunningham but a few years, he esteemed his excellence and in addressing his comparatively recent neighbors on this occasion, he felt that the spirit of prophesy was on him. The past was but an indication of what the future would be, and what Judge Cunningham had achieved, he would achieve; coming events cast their shadow before, and not speaking as in a glass darkly, because light from the clergy present dispelled the darkness, but in a spirit of prophecy which he believed would be fulfilled, Judge Beebe said he saw the evening's guest of honor seated on the supreme court bench, then on the Court of Appeals of New York state and finally wrapped in the robe of a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. "I may not see it in my day, because I am growing old," said Judge Beebe, "but ere his hair has become mottled with gray many of you here tonight will say that the spirit of prophecy surely is on me tonight.

"I know that flattery to the face is not exactly the thing for anyone to say, but I know that he knows how to stand it because his head is level, and it is work and the fruits of labor he seeks and not flattery. It is said that a man is not without honor save in his own country, but there is an exception to the rule, and there sits the exception. I hope that all he has marked out for himself he will do, and I believe that his future accomplishments will far transcend all that he has accomplished in the past. Let him continue as he has done, and when old age overtakes him it is with the comforting thought when he lies down his head that he will realize that in all things he has served his country and his fellow men well. I hope to see him climb still higher the ladder of fame, and as he does climb it surely will be with honor to himself, to his country and to us."

Judge Jenkins Pays a Tribute.

Judge Jenkins was the last speaker of the evening, and on account of the lateness of the hour spoke briefly. Judge Cunningham's ability was not merely appreciated in the hazy distance, he said, but his neighbors and friends, who knew him best, by their action in paying honor to him while he was among them, paid the highest tribute which one man could pay to another. He was not only the product of environment, but by nature he had shown that he was able to co-ordinate his mind and all his abilities on his work, and that in addition to the influences which already had been mentioned had aided in the successful career to which with his fellow citizens he was glad to pay honor.

Concert Tonight.

Tonight the first of the Symphony Orchestra Concerts for this season will be given at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. While the sale of patrons, and subscribers' tickets as well as single tickets, has been unusually large, still, owing to the size of the auditorium, there will be a goodly number of excellent seats to be had tonight. There will be additional trolley cars in waiting at the close of the concert, which judging from the last rehearsals will be the finest, from the point of artistic rendition, that the society has yet given.

Ladies' Auxiliary to Attend.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will attend the union evangelistic service in St. James's M. E. Church on Wednesday evening. The ladies will meet at the home of the Misses Forsyth, No. 41 Pearl street, at 7:30 o'clock. All those who expect to attend are requested to notify the president of the organization not later than Tuesday evening so that seats may be reserved at the church.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 7.—A more cheerful outlook in regard to the diplomatic situation and the maintenance of better relations with Germany was reflected in brisk buying of stocks and many issues made substantial gains during the first fifteen minutes. Steel Common which was regarded as the key to the general market situation, advanced 1¼ to 84. American Smelting rose 1⅛ to 100¾, and the railway issues made gains ranging from fractions to a point with New Haven in good demand in response to the announcement of President Elliott that no new securities will be issued by the company but that its maturing notes will be provided for by extension. American Beet Sugar advanced 2 points to 67. Mexican Petroleum rose 2¾ to 109¼, Studebaker 2½ to 152, Industrial Alcohol 1¾ to 154, and National Lead a point to 69½. Lackawanna Steel was the only important exception to the general display of strength. That stock was placed for sale at concessions because of the announcement of the abandonment of the merger scheme. It sold at the opening at 77¼ and 76, followed by a rally to 79.

Stocks continued in good demand throughout the late forenoon, and many issues made brisk advances. There was persistent accummulation of steel common which after receding to 83½, rallied to 84. Baldwin Locomotive rose 4⅞ to 117, Mexican Petroleum 4⅛ to 110⅝, and Marine preferred 4 points to 77⅞. Pressed Steel Car and Great Northern Ore both made gains of around a point. Southern Pacific advanced ¾ to 100⅝, Union Pacific ½ to 134, and fractional upturns were made in Erie and St. Paul. Crucible Steel was actively traded in, and after advancing to 83½ dropped to 81⅝ followed by a rally to 82⅞. Money lending at 1¾ per cent.

Trading diminished in the late afternoon and many of the leading issues, including Steel Common, reacted slightly under moderate pressure. The specialties however continued strong. International Nickel advanced to 212, a gain of 8 points in all, Baldwin to 118¼, a gain of 6 points, Studebaker to 154, a gain of 4⅛ points, Texas Company to 209½, a gain of 4 points and Willys-Overland to 229, a gain of 4 points. The railway issues were inactive and the copper stocks showed only trifling changes.

Had All He Wanted.

The worthy old sportsman had asked, out of the kindness of his heart, a few subalterns to shoot his birds. He passed a wearing afternoon. When evening came the old man examined himself carefully to make sure he really had escaped peppering. "Temporary officers," said he, "are all right in their way; temporary gentlemen we have to put up with, but heaven save me from any more temporary sportsmen."

First and Second Wives.

The second wife is usually happier than the first because by that time a man has got all his bachelor theories about "how to rule a woman" and "how to make over a wife" out of his system.—Exchange.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Policeman Reardon while patroling his beat at an early hour this morning found a stray horse on the streets which he stabled in Grove Webster's livery on Mill street.

The Women's Work Society of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will hold a regular monthly meeting in the chapel on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Dutch Arms entertainment, the Lowry, Lawrence Company, will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Wednesday evening, February 16, instead of February 8, as previously announced.

A regular monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church will be held this evening in the lecture room of the church at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Friday afternoon Miss Davis and the director of the Industrial Art Department, Robert J. Service, took twenty-five girls from the domestic science class in the high school to Stock & Cordts's to study period furniture. All were shown every courtesy by the management and highly appreciated the opportunity which proved so instructive.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The following lodges hold regular meetings this evening:

Kingston Encampment, No. 125, I. O. O. F., in Odd Fellows' Hall, 635 Broadway.

Central Trade and Labor Council, at 635 Broadway.

Bricklayers and Masons' Union, No. 14, at the city hall.

Franklin Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, in Pythian Hall, corner of Wall and John streets.

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, at K. of C. Club.

St. Peter's Commandery, No. 317, Knights of St. John, in St. Peter's Hall.

Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., in Masonic Hall, Strand.

Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, in Mechanics' Hall, Henry street.

Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Free and Accepted Masons, has accepted the invitation of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, Free and Accepted Masons, to be present at the latter's session this evening, when District Deputy Grand Master Alfred D. Van Buren will make his official visit. Trolley cars will leave in front of Masonic Hall, Wall street, at 7 o'clock, and the officers request a large attendance of members.

On Tuesday evening C. S. Clay Lodge, No. 528, I. O. O. F., will confer the third degree on two candidates. This is the last degree on these candidates and it is very much desired that old members of the degree team may be present so that the degree team may be perfectly exemplified. A large attendance of members would be a great help to the degree team as well as the candidates. Any Odd Fellows who are visiting in the city are cordially invited to meet with the lodge at its hall over John and Wall streets.

Final arrangements have been made for the big union meeting of the various tribes of Red Men throughout Ulster County which is to be held in the wigwam of Minnewaska Tribe, No. 130, Improved Order of Red Men, in their rooms 635 Broadway, Thursday evening. Sachem Leo V. Grogan has heard from several tribes throughout the county and they promise him their hearty support in making this meeting one of the biggest nights of Redmanship that has ever been held in Kingston. Charles H. Smith, great sachem of the state of New York, and Great Prophet William B. Cheney of this state will be present and deliver addresses. It is expected that many Red Men in Ulster county will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear two of the best speaker in the order.

For Polishing Glass.

Calcined magnesia, rubbed down with pure benzine, makes an excellent preparation for cleaning and polishing the surfaces of fine glass, such as costly mirrors, etc. The mass formed must be sufficiently soft to allow drops of the liquid to be squeezed out of it. The mixture should be kept in closely stoppered bottles, and, in use, a little of it is placed on a bit of cotton or a soft rag with which the glass is rubbed.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES WIN

Saturday afternoon the Midgets piled up a score of 70 to 9 while playing the Rhinebeck Juniors. When the Midgets, who are well named, came out on the floor, and shook hands with the five from over the river each little Midget had to look up in the air about 6 or 8 inches at the least to look into the eyes of his opponent. This did not discourage the Kingston players in the least for they set to work, and during the first half compiled the somewhat uneven score of 30 to 6. The maroon and white had scarcely an opportunity to score that she did not make the best of, and such excellent passwork was done by the original five that Coach Schumaker thought he would give the visitors a chance so he took out of the game all the Midgets who had been scoring.

It must be said for the Rhinebeck Juniors that they were a pick-up team, and were not all juniors, but this should detract little from the glory of the victory if it is considered that the Midgets are for the most part freshmen. The summary:

High School Girls, 22; Rhinebeck Girls, 9.

While the Rhinebeck Juniors were on their way to the Colonial City to meet their doom at the hands of the Midgets, they met the G. A. A. team going in the opposite direction to try their luck with the Rhinebeck girls. The local girls, unlike their little brothers, did not pile up an unheard of score, and either from kindness or necessity retired from the field of battle with the quite customary score of 22 to 9.

The teams were well balanced in regard to bodily weight and it was only by great agility and skill that the Kingston girls were able to get away from the close guarding of their opponents.

Our girls have heretofore been accustomed to play with the girls basketball rules, that allow only the forwards to make baskets. However, last Saturday they departed from this custom and so in the following we find that one of the guards helped build the score:

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

"Peace has come in the baseball world,"
The news dispatches said.
"Everything will be lovely now,
"The Federals are dead."
Yet when we con the daily sheets,
And absorb what they say,
It seems to us that peace talk's bunk,
That war is here to stay.

Among the "peaceful" scenes being enacted just now are:

The verbal battle between Charles Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Ed. G. Barrow, president of the International League, for a purse of $74,000.

A bout involving the Yankee, Senator and Phillie owners for the possession of Second Baseman Joe Gedeon:

Dave Fultz's broadside attack upon the National Commission:

Ban Johnson's fight to bring about the death of the commission in its present form.

Fred Toney's tussle to shake down the Reds for more salary; Harold Janvrin's ditto act with the Red Sox.

Peace? Who said peace?

Welsh Being Disregarded.

Pugilistic fandom just now is witnessing a spectacle without parallel—the casting of a divisional champion into the discard. Freddie Welsh is the party under discussion. He has been beaten so often and so badly in his bouts in this country the past year that he remains a champion in name only.

He no longer is a drawing card. No longer do the fight club promoters seek out Welsh when they want to frame an all-star lightweight card. They sign up other fighters, men who have made better records than has Welsh during the past year.

Baseball Salaries Slump.

The era of high salaried ball players is over. Garry Herrman "tipped the mitt" of the baseball moguls in Cincinnati recently, when he said, answering Fred Toney's demands for $6,000 per year:

"The offer of $3,200 per year made to Toney is the top-notch price that will be paid to ball players in the future. Of course, the men whose contracts now call for higher figures will be paid according to the contract figures. But when those agreements expire there will be reductions all along the line."

Fulton's "Doctored" Record.

The press agent for Fred Fulton, sometimes called "The Pugilistic Lemon" surely is a wonder at covering up the flivvers made by Fulton.

On the huge sheet, in which is told of Fulton's greatness, there are two lines which read as follows:

"Fulton has had 32 fights—31 of which have been knockouts, a record unsurpassed by any other boxer in the history of pugilism."

The innocent bystander concludes, upon reading those lines, that Fulton has won 31 fights via the knockout route. But such is not the case. Thirty one of the fights that Fulton engaged in may have ended in knockouts—but not all of them were in favor of Fulton. The big blacksmith suffered two or three knockouts himself—but the press agent doesn't say so.

The press agent does ont deny that Fulton has been knocked out. He admits it—but in such a way as to give the impression that it was Fulton who scored the knockout—not Fulton who suffered them.

How Ban Was Fooled.

Stony McLinn, who acquired hugh gobs of fame as a sporting writer in Philadelphia, has taken unto himself the editorship of The American Shooter, a new magazine devoted to trap-shooting. Among McLinn's first compositions is the following story concerning Ban Johnson, the American League chieftain:

"Some years ago, it seems, Ban Johnson and Charles Comiskey started on a hunt. The game they sought was quail. Now, the league chieftain is a good shot, but on this occasion it was intended that he should not hit anything. Therefore, somebody carefully extracted the shot from Ban's shells and replaced it with sand.

Under the circumstances, nobody objected when Johnson took the first shot every time a covey of quail was flushed. But Ban hit nothing. Comiskey shot next, and invariably a dead bird was the result. Johnson said sulphurous words and blamed it on his gun, his shells, and about everything he could think of. But not once did the great Ban drop a bird.

That evening when camp was reached Ban noticed that mention of his failure to bag birds caused eyes to twinkle and coughs to cover what might have been laughter. He decided upon an investigation. The first shell showed him why he had not hit the quail."

A HUNGRY MAN, NOT A FAKER.

Business Man Conducts Personal Investigation at Some Small Cost.

In lieu of change, a Rondout business man sent a panhandler to a popular Strand lunch room the other day, the donor telephoning the proprietor to give the man a free hand and jaw. The object of bounty, and he was a forlorn object, asked hesitatingly if he could have a sandwich and when he found the way paved to a square meal, he proceeded to lay to and added sundry sandwiches and coffee to his menu.

Finally with eyes jarred from their customary hopeless outlook on life, he wound up with a mouth too full for utterance:

"An' a piece o' pie!"

"Sure," said the man behind the counter and the outer man finally shuffled out with his inner man obviously appeased for once. When his bill, he whistled:

"Well," he said philosophically, "It was worth it to know the man was hungry and not bluffing."

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, Feb. 7.—A valentine social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snyder Saturday evening, February 12. Good supper will be served at a reasonable price and all are welcome. Proceeds for the church.
